Cypress Bowl Inquiry More Urgent: Barrett

MASSACRES PROTESTED

SAIGON (UPI) — Hundreds of students stormed the Cambodian embassy building in Saigon today, protesting the massacres of Vietnamese civilians in Cambodia.

National police reported some windows smashed in the embassy on Le Van Dyet Street in the heart of the city but hastily erected barricades and a barrage of tear gas kept student reinforcements away.

Other students at Saigon University burned an effigy of Cambodian Premier Gen. Lon Nol after an open forum on "the massacre of Vietnamese in Cambodia."

Cambodia Arms Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Debate over a possible widening of United States military involvement in Southeast Asia was expected to emerge with new force today following government approval of a transfer of arms from South Vietnam to Cambodia.

Disclosure of indirect U.S. arms aid to Cambodia aroused immediate concern among anti-war senators.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, J. William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) complained that the administration was not consulting Congress about the Cambodian request for direct U.S. aid.

He also announced plans to send two committee staff members to Phnom Penh early next week to report on Cambodia's request and the general situation in the country.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) declined immediate comment on the White House disclosure but reiterated that the U.S. should refrain from arming Cambodia.

A White House spokesman confirmed Thursday that the Nixon administration had approved the transfer to Phnom Penh of several thousand Communist-made AK-47 rifles captured in the Vietnam war.

But he made it clear that the government still is withholding action on a Cambodian request for direct U.S. military aid.

ARMS NEEDED

U.S. military leaders have warned President Nixon that arms and military advisers are urgently needed to prevent collapse of Gen. Lon Nol's government, according to a briefing without attribution Thursday.

Nixon is scheduled to meet with the National Security Council today and observers predicted that the Cambodian situation will be under urgent consideration.

Fighting stepped up throughout Cambodia today as the Viet Cong severed vital road links east and south of the capital and surrounded two Cambodian battalions to the northeast.

Informed military observers said the Viet Cong, although posing no immediate threat to Phnom Penh, might be attempting a wide circling movement around the city.

TAX CHANGE TIME DEPENDS ON HEARINGS

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's announcement that it would introduce tax changes in 1971 is not necessarily binding, Finance Minister Edgar Benson said today in the Commons.

He added in reply to Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield that introduction of such legislation will depend on the speed with which Commons and Senate committees deal with the white paper on tax changes.

Drafting of the legislation is not under way, he said.

Stanfield asked when new proposals will be advanced concerning small business.

Benson said submissions are being studied and his department is looking at the financing problems of small business.

Alcan Holds Price Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The Aluminum Co. of Canada has agreed not to increase prices in Canada, the prices and incomes commission announced today.

That applies to ingots and semi-fabricated products.

The commission said the Alcan decision was taken following meetings with the commission.

U.S. producers have announced price increases recently and Alcan has raised its prices outside the country.

"In the course of discussions with representatives of Alcan, consideration was given to the impact which price increases for domestic sales of ingot and semi-fabricated products would have on the Canadian program of reducing the number and size of price increases," the commission announcement said.

"The commission strongly expressed the opinion that higher domestic aluminum prices would be harmful to the national program of price restraint and would therefore not be opportune."

The commission announced Thursday it will study the impact of higher prices on copper sold in Canada. The copper industry had sought a price increase but was "prevailed upon" earlier not to take such a step.

Copper, like aluminum, has higher world market prices than those now existing in Canada.

200 Men Hired

OTTAWA (CP) — Treasury Board President C. M. Drury told the Commons today that the post office in Montreal has hired close to 200 men so far to replace 457 mail truck drivers employed until March 31 by former postal contractor G. Lapalme Inc.

SPIT AND POLISH and a final crash of rifle fire will end 110 years of history and colorful tradition Saturday at 2 p.m. when the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles fires its final feu de joie. The ceremony will mark retirement of the battalion from the regular order of battle of the Canadian Forces. Monday the Queen's Own becomes the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The Queen's Own is Canada's oldest regiment; it fired its first feu de joie in 1860.

Bertrand Attacks PM In Bid for Mandate

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Thursday he would "put Trudeau in his place" if Quebecers give his governing Union Nationale party a clear mandate in next Wednesday's general election.

Bertrand said in a speech at Beauceville, 46 miles south of Quebec City, that a strong Union Nationale government would tell Prime Minister Trudeau that it is the "voice of Quebec" demanding the province's rights.

He said the Union Nationale would demand decentralization of administrative and taxation powers and oppose "Trudeau-style" centralized federalism.

THEIR OWN MASTERS

"We are going to take the time to agree among ourselves and we are going to ask Ottawa and the other provinces to understand better the aspirations of a Quebec which wants to be more the master in its own house."

Meanwhile, Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa criticized the Union Nationale and the separatist Parti Quebecois for contradicting themselves in their campaign statements and PQ chief Rene Levesque said an independent Quebec would have no federalist political parties.

Also, Roland Morin, leader of the Quebec New Democratic Party, said his party may go to the Supreme Court of Canada to contest a decision by the CBC and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission which denies it free-time political broadcasts.

Levesque said in Montreal that "any federalist party would be laughed out of the Quebec political picture" after Quebec left Confederation.

BIG BUSINESS

The existing established parties would be rejected as alternatives to the Parti Quebecois because they were dominated by big business, which provided their election campaign funds.

Released in Montreal today was a survey by political pollster Peter Regenstrief who predicted the Liberals would gain the most votes but would not gain a majority of votes.

He predicted the Parti Quebecois would place second with the Union Nationale a poor third.

Basing his poll on 820 telephone calls in the past week, Regenstrief gave 32 per cent of the vote to the Liberals, 23 per cent to the separatists, 16 per cent to the UN, 9 per cent to the newly-organized provincial Creditistes, 1 per cent to the NDP and 19 per cent undecided.

Bid to Slay Formosa Official Foiled by Fast-Moving Police

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The son of Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan today when a fast-thinking patrolman grabbed a gunman's arm just as a shot was fired.

Deputy Premier Chiang Ching-kuo of Formosa missed death by inches when the bullet smashed into a revolving door at the posh Plaza Hotel just as he was entering.

Police grabbed two men on the spot and took them away after a brief struggle. The men were identified as "ethnic Chinese" but authorities could not say immediately whether they are from Formosa.

Chiang, 60, had just stepped from his car when the assassination attempt was staged.

Patrolman Henry Suarez, posted near the hotel, spotted two men heading toward the hotel entrance.

"Look out, he's got a gun," he yelled at Patrolman James Czieda who leaped forward and grabbed the gunman's arm just as the shot was being fired.

Suarez then subdued the second man, who had a knife.

ARMY REBELS SURRENDER

Times News Services

PORT OF SPAIN — Trinidad authorities today announced that 79 Black Power rebels in the army have surrendered and are in police detention.

The insurrectionists mutinied early this week, during Black Power protests which swept the island, taking hostages and capturing the country's only armory. (See details on Page 2.)

Cyanide Recovered In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The last of five 250-pound drums of cyanide powder which dropped into Montreal's harbor's Bickerdike Basin Thursday night was recovered today.

Harbor police said "every thing seems to be normal and there is no danger at all."

The last drum was recovered at about 11 a.m., 19 hours after it and four others slipped from a cargo sling being used to load a Danish freighter.

The four other drums were recovered from the silt-covered floor of the murky 32-foot-deep basin late Thursday. The fifth slipped from its recovery sling as it was being hauled out and divers had to suspend their search until early today.

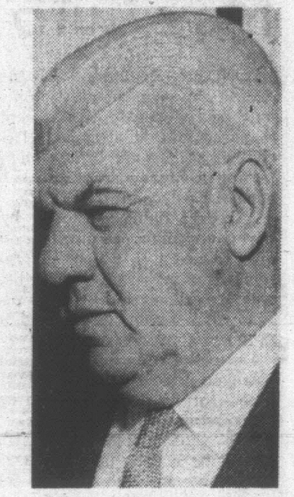
Benguet Partner Tied to Gunderson

By BRUCE YEMEN

Opposition Leader Dave Barrett has called "with a renewed sense of urgency" for a judicial inquiry into the Cypress Bowl affair.

At a press conference Thursday, he declared that a sister company of Benguet Consolidated Inc. has bought into two B.C. investment companies in which Social Credit Party fund raiser Einar Gunderson is a director.

Firm Still Talking Bowl Deal



GUNDERSON
. . . Socred fund raiser

He also said he has a letter showing that Benguet's lawyers say the controversial Bahamian company is still negotiating with the provincial government for development of the 6,000-acre West Vancouver bowl in spite of Attorney-General Peterson's statements that Benguet is "unacceptable" in British Columbia.

Neither Gunderson nor any members of the provincial cabinet could be reached this morning for comment on Barrett's allegations.

Development of the recreational area on leased public land was stopped by the government last fall under pressure after a storm of protest over Benguet's reputation. The corporation was involved in a Bahamian political scandal involving payoffs to government officials during setting up of casino operations in the country.

Barrett said last fall that if the "heat" became too much for Benguet it would make an attempt to stay in Cypress Bowl through a "front" company.

Gunderson Named As Director

He told a press conference in his Victoria office Thursday afternoon that Gunderson, B.C. finance minister for a brief period in the early 1960s and now a director of B.C. Hydro, is a director of NWL Financial Corporation Ltd. of Vancouver and of Federated Investments Ltd., of Vancouver and Calgary.

During the past several days, he said, a company called Residential Resort Development Ltd. of Freeport, Bahamas, had bought 38 per cent of the two B.C. companies.

"Residential is a Louis Chesler company and Louis Chesler is the partner of Wallace Groves of the Grand Bahamas Development and Benguet," Barrett said.

"Both Grand Bahamas and Benguet featured prominently in a royal commission on organized crime and gambling in the Bahamas.

"Chesler and Groves through their dealings, as stated by the royal commission, through front companies paid large sums of money to Bahama cabinet ministers and paid $10,000 per month to the Bahamian government's political party campaign funds.

"The B.C. companies — NWL and Federated Investments — have one prominent political figure as a director. That figure is Einar M. Gunderson, who is the publicly-acknowledged Social Credit Party fund raiser, and he is in a company that has a direct connection with Benguet."

A-G Stated Company Not Welcome

"This in itself would not be a matter of great concern if it were not for the fact that the attorney-general of B.C. has stated that the Benguet company is not welcome in this province and has, according to the attorney-general, been told they're not welcome."

Peter G. Ropchan, president of NWL Financial Corp. said in Vancouver that shares purchased by Residential Resort Development Ltd. do not constitute control of NWL.

He said control remains with the directors and long-time shareholders of NWL and North West Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

He said the shares acquired by exchange were not acquired from the treasury.

Barrett said he has written to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigations, asking for "specific information about the Benguet corporation and Mr. Chesler, and Mr. Chesler's relationship with Myer Lansky which forced the emigration of three Mafia employees of Mr. Chesler to the United States (from the Bahamas) . . ."

He said he also has written to Commissioner W. L. Higgett of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police asking for information about the Bahamas company.

'Public Has Not Been Told Truth'

"I asked him if he is aware that the Residential Resort Ltd. of the Bahamas, a sister company of the Benguet corporation, has bought a major share of the NWL Financial Corporation of B.C., and what is his opinion of this kind of money coming into Canada.

"What it really boils down to . . . the public of B.C. has not been told the truth about this government's dealings at arm's length with the Benguet corporation.

"The attorney-general's statement that Benguet is not welcome in B.C. has not been heard by anyone representing the Benguet corporation and, indeed, it has not been heard by his cabinet colleague, the minister of land and forests (Ray Williston).

Riot Follows Pope's Speech

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — Rioting between anarchists and police broke out today minutes after Pope Paul finished addressing 4,000 residents of Cagliari's Sant' Elia slum neighborhood.

A small group of Sardinian anarchists, charging police had stolen their megaphone, began chanting "Fascists, Fascists."

A scuffle began and shortly turned into a fight with rocks and fists.

One witness reported seeing rocks thrown at the crowd that had been listening to the Pope, just as his motorcade started to leave the area.

The Roman Catholic pontiff, on a flying visit to this Mediterranean island, had denounced poverty, revolution and rebels in the Roman Catholic Church.

SEVERAL INJURED

At least 10 persons were hurt in the fighting and about 15 were taken into custody as the number of demonstrators swelled from about 40 to more than 100. About an equal number of policemen moved in to subdue them.

The Pope received a tumultuous welcome from a half-million islanders, celebrated an outdoor mass before hundreds of thousands under a broiling sun and visited the sick and poor of Cagliari.

Addressing Sardinian priests and nuns before visiting the slum area, he complained about a spirit in the world "which questions everything, which expresses itself in harsh criticism of the church and of everythng the church . . . says or prescribes, does or proposes to do."

He said he had come as "the advocate of the poor . . . to raise your needs . . . to the level of rights: the rights to decent and sufficient housing, to bread and work."

DISPUTES CLAIMS

In what some took to be a direct reply to a group of anarchists on a hunger strike in the slum neighborhood to protest the Pope's visit, the pontiff said: "The Pope is not rich as so many people claim. We have difficulty in meeting the expenses of the Holy See."

The anarchists had put up signs charging the Pope lives among treasures and referring to him as "one of the treasurers."

Sardinians welcomed the Pope with clanging bells, showers of gardenias and roaring cheers after his arrival by plane.

Hormone Restrictions May Curb Pill Deaths

LONDON (Reuters) — Deaths caused by contraceptive pills may be reduced by 50 per cent thanks to the withdrawal in December of certain brands containing a high dose of the sex hormone estrogen.

A report published today by the government committee on drug safety, which recommended withdrawal of the pills, said it believes the decision already has saved the lives of a number of women.

Doctors are certain too much estrogen increases the danger of blood-clotting disorders such as thrombosis.

The report said there also should be a drop of at least 25 per cent in the number of women who suffer major non-fatal thrombosis because of the pill.

After the committee recommended late last year that oral contraceptives should contain no more than 50 micrograms of estrogen, manufacturers withdrew 19 makes of birth control pills from the market and introduced several "low-dosage" brands.

In today's report Sir George Godber, chief medical officer at the government health department, said a woman would have to take the lower-estrogen pills for 16 years to run the same risk of dying from blood-clotting disorders as from the normal risks of pregnancy and childbirth.

He said the danger of the "high-dose" pills was twice as great.

COUNCIL AGAINST EVENING MEET

Evening meetings of city council were shot down Thursday.

Only Ald. Hugh Ramsay favored a trial period of evening rather than daytime meetings, so working people could attend without having to take time off and lose money.

He said businessmen and retired people can attend council meetings but it is important to have evening meetings so more people can attend.

He said a trial period of evening meetings 20 years ago lasted for only three meetings so was irrelevant to 1970.

Ald. Ove Witt said aldermen were already busy and if there were evening meetings as well there would be little time left for family life.

Trinidadian Army Mutineers Surrender

PORT OF SPAIN (CP) — Black Power rebels in the army have surrendered and are being held in police detention, Trinidad authorities announced today.

Acting Police Commissioner Tony May said 79 rebel soldiers who mutinied during Black Power demonstrations which swept the Caribbean island had decided to give in and the situation now is "under control."

The soldiers mutinied at their headquarters at Tetron Bay, 12 miles from here, after a state of emergency was declared. They took a number of hostages, shot it out with loyal troops and captured Trinidad's only armory, forcing the government to appeal to overseas countries for arms. The U.S. and Venezuela sent arms.

Before their surrender, the mutinous soldiers released six hostages—a high-ranking officer and five women.

Col. Joffre Serrette, a former commander of Trinidad's 720-man army, obtained the releases Thursday in negotiations.

The mutiny began Tuesday after Prime Minister Eric Williams declared a state of emergency in an attempt to check increasingly violent demonstrations by Black Power advocates and unemployed youths and workers.

"We are interested in continuing with negotiations at present because we have no intention of seeing bloodshed as far as our brother soldiers and members of the public are concerned," a spokesman for the mutineers had said after the release of the five women and Maj. Henry Christopher, second in command of the army.

The mutineers were reported to have asked for amnesty for Black Power leaders arrested under the state of emergency.

Report Released

VANCOUVER (CP) — A federal government report on safety conditions on British Columbia tugboats was released Thursday to representatives of the tow-boat industry. It was ordered not make public. The report was tabled before a meeting of representatives of the Towboat Owners Association, the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, local 400.

PTA Council Asks More Library Funds

The Victoria District Parent-Teacher Council plans to petition city council for more funds for facilities at the library, specifically in the children's section.

Mrs. Vera Neilson, council president, said today she is not pleased with the situation, particularly in view of the fact the children's section had been moved up two flights to the third floor.

She said she is genuinely concerned about the safety of children climbing two flights of stairs or operating elevators from the main floor.

"One excellent alternative is to move the children's section down to the basement of the library where they would have their own floor and individual entrance."

She also said the budget cutbacks for the library will cause a serious shortage of staff in various departments.

"For example, the young adult's section has been combined with the children's sectionk which not only will cause embarrassment for the older teen-agers but will also mean that the young adults will lose their staff, which consisted of people their own age."

Money granted by city council or the provincial government would be "money well spent", according to Mrs. Neilson. She suggested that the Greater Victoria library board, which runs the library, put out a call for volunteer workers to help complement the diminished library staff.

SUGGESTION BACKED

She felt that the library board's suggestion that British Columbia's centennial in 1971 be celebrated by building a new library is an excellent idea that will probably meet with the approval of the Parent-Teacher Associations in the Victoria area.

She also said: "A library in a community is very essential, especially one with a downtown location. The present facilities are just not sufficient to cover the needs of the children and young adults of the Victoria area."

Judge Allows Witness Call

The trial of two Victoria men charged with indecent assault on a 15-year-old girl in an isolated dead-end road in the Colwood area has been adjourned until June 8.

Judge Montague Drake agreed to the adjournment in county court when one of the accused asked to be allowed to call two "surprise" witnesses.

Crown counsel Alan Bigelow said it was "rather late in the day" for such a move. Defence counsel John Goult argued it was justified in the circumstances.

Earlier, the girl testified that she submitted to the alleged indecent assault only because she was afraid the two men would kill her if she refused.

She said she and two girl friends joined the accused, Glenn Galbraith, 23, of 990 Bray, and Armand Theberge 24, of 2778 Kingswood, after a conversation in a Yates Street restaurant Nov. 19, 1969. She was 15 at the time.

THREATENED TO SCREAM

She said she ended up in a car with the accused in the Colwood-Langford area following a drinking bout.

When she realized they did not intend to take her home she threatened to scream, she said but was told that if she "tried anything" a gun would be at her head.

She said she took off all her clothes on demand because she was terrified and "I was afraid they would kill me."

The girl testified there were several assaults while she was naked.

The girl's physician, Dr. Donald Horton, said he examined the girl in the early hours of Nov 20. She was pale and dishevelled and there was dried blood on the left side of her chin and mid-back. Her chest was bruised and a blade of grass adhered to her back.

The Weather and You

There are still people around who have dandruff, in spite of all the stuff you can buy at drugstores that is supposed to get rid of it. Those people are glad when summer comes because dandruff is not so prevalent when sunlight and fresh air ventilate the head and scalp.

Sunlight kills germs. In winter and early spring the hair on your head, if you are lucky enought to have some, becomes relatively stiff. The scalp becomes dry. Too dry. Then scales appear and the shoulders of the unlucky person are sprinkled with dandruff.

People who are likely to get dandruff have been able to kick it, doctors say, simply because they get more sun, have more shampoos and use less hair oil when the weather gets warm.

Cypress Bowl Probe More Urgent Now—NDP

"I feel that as a responsible citizen in public life in B.C. it is my duty to bring these facts to the people of B.C. and insist on a complete judicial inquiry.

"There is no way as long as I am in public life that I will stand idly by and watch any group that has been told by the attorney-general 'stay out of B.C.', come into B.C.

"I want to know why it's happening."

Barrett said he wrote a letter April 16 to Russell & Du Moulin, Vancouver solicitors for Benguet, asking a number of questions and received the following reply in part:

"We acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 16th instant respecting Benguet Consolidated Inc. and the development in the Cypress Bowl area.

"As you are aware, the minister of lands, forests and water resources has suggested that our client should by May 31 provide the provincial government with a proposal regarding the future of the Cypress Bowl area and our client's interests therein.

CLIENT HOPEFUL

"Our client is hopeful that an acceptable proposal can be made within the time suggested and that such proposal will be acceptable to both the provincial government and the municipality of West Vancouver . . ."

Barrett said he doesn't like to see the "chief law enforcement officer (Peterson) being made a fool of."

Peterson said earlier this month, following an April 4 meeting in Vancouver between Williston and Benguet's solicitors, that a report by his department had found Benguet unacceptable in B.C.

There were reports last week that Benguet is demanding $1.2 million from the government to give up its claims in the bowl development which it acquired last November by taking over a B.C. company called Alpine Outdoor Recreation Resources Ltd.

CASH SHORTAGE

Alpine had run into a shortage of capital in the development which was originally planned as a ski facility but which was ultimately envisaged by Benguet as a huge residential development with skiing and other recreational facilities.

Cost to Benguet of taking over Alpine was reported in the $1 million range at the time.

Barrett read from a Bahamian royal commission report which described Louis Chesler as recruiting undesirable Americans to organize gambling casinos set up in the Bahamas by Benguet.

He said the Residential Resort company has Louis' son Allan Chesler of Toronto on its board of directors but is controlled by four other firms dominated by Louis Chesler.

Residential Resort Development Ltd. was listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange Feb. 2, 1970.

NWL Financial Corporation was incorporated in B.C. March 28, 1969, Barrett said. In addition to Gunderson it has 11 directors, of which P. G. Ropchan of Vancouver is president.

Other directors are Dr. E. A. Johnson, Alvin Libin and Nado Gallelli of Calgary; Saskatoon Mayor S. L. Buckwold; R. S. Bennett of Edmonton; R. J. Leonard of Lethbridge; H. J. C. Terry, Langley; G. A. Wilkinson, Vancouver; G. B. Nelson, Saskatoon and R. Haver of Vancouver.

'FRONT' COMPANY?

Directors of 10-year-old Federated Investments in addition to Gunderson are Ropchan, also the president, Libin, Wilkinson, Leonard, Johnson and W. G. Fergie of Vancouver.

NWL Financial Corporation holds 798,530 shares of Federated, Barrett said.

Asked if he was saying NWL might be the "front" company for Benguet, Barrett said:

"Last November I said . . . an attempt would be made to create a front company if the heat got too great on Benguet. You can interpret this move by Chesler, the partner of Wallace Groves, any way you like."

Cypress Bowl, located between Black and Strachan mountains almost entirely within the municipality of West Vancouver, has been a centre of controversy for the past five years.

SENSIBLE

Barrett first raised the question in the legislature charging that the government had dealt public parkland off to "friends of the government" for private development.

The government defended the arrangement as a sensible way to develop the land into badly-needed skiing facilities and denied that any favoritism had been shown to Alpine which sought the development rights with the help of Vancouver public relations man Bill Clancey, a public relations adviser of Premier Bennett during election campaigns.

The government also denied the land was parkland. It had been acquired for park purposes by the coalition government in the 1940s but had never been put to that use by the government.

In the next few years Barrett repeatedly charged that Alpine was logging the bowl to make money rather than to prepare ski hills. The government consistently denied this.

Some recreation groups in Vancouver became involved and expressed concern for the bowl area.

But the real fireworks started last fall after the Vancouver Sun disclosed that Alpine had been bought out by Benguet, a Bahamian company with a doubtful reputation.

The controversy raged for about a month with Williston and Premier Bennett announcing Nov. 26 that the project still in the logging stage, was being suspended because Benguet's gambling activities were unacceptable to the government.

The suspension followed disclosure that Benguet was planning a big residential subdivision in the bowl.

Williston commented that if Benguet thought it had bought the rights to such a subdivision when it took over Alpine, then it had bought "the Brooklyn Bridge."

LEASES INVALID

After Barrett pointed out that the lands department had forgot to publish notice of three leases signed with Alpine covering more than 600 acres, Williston adopted the view that the leases were invalid.

Benguet apparently still rejects the view that the clerical oversight invalidates the leases. In any case, however, Williston maintained that no development of the bowl could proceed without stage-by-stage government approval and residential subdivisions weren't envisaged, he said.

Through the past legislative session the opposition parties kept asking the government what was taking so long in making absolutely clear that Benguet was finished in Cypress Bowl.

Williston said then that in reply that he was still of the view that Benguet was unacceptable but noted that the attorney-general's department hadn't yet finished the investigation of Benguet it had started after the suspension.

NO ANSWER

The opposition then asked that if Benguet was really out and didn't own any leases or any other assets in the bowl, why was the government giving the developers until May 31 to come up with a proposal or to find new financing?

That question was never answered, but Williston suggested that work done in the bowl to date by Alpine amounted to "assets" owned by the current developers. The opposition replied that there couldn't be any assets if Benguet didn't own or lease any land.

No Delay In Apollo Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top man in the United States space program said today the cause of the Apollo 13 failure appears relatively easy to correct, and if this proves true the program will stay on schedule.

Appearing before the Senate space committee, Dr. Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, thus indicated that the Apollo 14 moon-landing mission will go as scheduled in October.

Astronauts James A. Lovell Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. entered the packed hearing room with Paine to sustained applause. The third Apollo 13 astronaut, Fred W. Haise Jr., remained in Houston, Tex., on doctor's orders to help cure a minor infection from which he has been suffering since the flight.

The Apollo 13 flight to the moon was aborted after the rupture of an oxygen tank in the service module crippled the spaceship and left the astronauts short of oxygen to breathe, water to drink and power to operate in space.

They spent more than three days in space, uncertain of their fate, before returning safely to earth last Friday.

EASY TO CORRECT

Paine said the oxygen thermos flask which ruptured "is a relatively simple component and corrective action should not prove to be a major task."

"If this turns out to be the case, we should be able to move out promptly with the necessary alterations and proceed with Apollo 14 and subsequent flights on approximately the same schedule we have presented to you before," Paine said.

Despite failure of the Apollo 13 mission to reach its goal, the moon's Fra Mauro formation, Paine said:

"This hilly region remains a high priority objective in our lunar program. . . . We cannot yet say which of the remaining Apollo missions will be sent there."

And even in Apollo 13's failure, Paine saw a measure of success.

"We regard the recovery actions that followed the accident as a gratifying success which will contribute greatly to the nation's space flight competence," Paine said.

PASS SPENDING BILLS

The Senate panel approved Thursday a $3,300,000,000 spending ceiling for the space program shortly after the House of Representatives passed a $3,600,000,000 space authorization measure.

But the House rejected an attempt to eliminate $190,000,000 set aside for a space shuttle and station.

The Apollo 13 mishap accounts for much of the concern over space spending in Congress.

The House-approved authorization bill is about $268,000,000 over Nixon's budget request. The spending ceiling voted by the Senate committee is $17,000,000 below Nixon's recommendation, which was the lowest figure in a decade.

Support This Move

MAYOR COURTNEY HADdock's proposal to put all of Greater Victoria's overhead power lines underground by the year 2000 gives renewed impetus to a project which a large number of residents of this community have advocated for many years, and which this newspaper has frequently urged. The action of the B.C. Electric more than a decade ago in burying its overhead wires throughout the downtown business core was a forward step which B.C. Hydro has never followed. The improvement in the appearance of the streets was so obvious and so widely appreciated that extension of the system clearly was called for.

If B.C. Hydro can now be persuaded to look into the matter with any degree of sincerity and determination, the next 30 years could see a rejuvenation of our business and residential streets that would bring Greater Victoria into the modern era.

Mr. Haddock's suggestion is particularly appropriate — and perhaps a trifle wistful — at this time when the community is fighting Hydro to prevent the despoliation of suburban areas by new Hydro transmission lines. Hydro, ostensibly a utility that is the servant of the people, has frequently used all its weight when pushing the location of power lines. The public concern has been not so much to obtain improvements as to prevent further damage to parks, residential sites, farmlands, or open countryside which will in the near future be required for urban purposes.

Even the scenic Gorge, on which the government itself has spent a quarter of a million dollars in beautification projects, including elimination of some overhead lines, is now threatened with a power line crossing at Harriet Road. Hydro spokesmen stress their policy of choosing the most economical route and method of power transmission. But they fail to include in their calculation the loss and damage — both physical and aesthetic — suffered as a result of their installation. That is neither good engineering nor good economics. A sum of, say, $40,000 saved by using a certain route is no real saving if the environment has been depreciated by $50,000 or more.

If B.C. Hydro will agree to a 30-year program — and the local regional manager has indicated that he will refer the suggestion to his officials — it will be important to line up a definite schedule of work which will include not only new installations but a progressive catch-up on existing pole lines. It will not do to leave the program in abeyance for 25 years and then attempt a five-year blitz. And an underground system may well permit municipal street improvements to go ahead with paving work without waiting weeks for pole lines to be set back from widened roadways, as is the common hazard in many locations around the community today.

Improvement will be expensive and will have to be paid for. But lack of improvement can also be costly. Living in the technological past is something a beautiful city of homes, and a resort for visitors, cannot afford.

Togetherness in the House

PERHAPS IT IS AN OVER-SIMplification to say that among all the apocalyptic events that have shaped this nation since the Second World War the only issue we appear to feel unanimous about is the ownership of some remote Arctic sea ice. But the conclusion is inescapable following the House of Commons' first unanimous roll call vote in 16 years that gave second reading to the extensions of Canadian jurisdiction over Arctic waters.

In the past the United States has had ample reason to doubt our resolve on various issues that affected both our countries. As good neighbors do, they were patient when we argued about accepting nuclear weapons, and when we staged a foreign policy review which left our military commitments in doubt for a while. The Arctic issue, however is different, and last Wednesday's vote in the House of Commons can leave few doubts in Washington about the nation's feelings on Arctic sovereignty.

In more than 100 years of nationhood we have found little to agree about. Even our weather is contentious. We take secret pride in vying with each other on just how cold is cold in Moose Jaw and Montreal. Our winters so disgust some of us that we go to the southern United States for respite and tell our U.S. friends about what a miserable country we live in. But without our vast stretches of naked ice and barren land we might be speechless.

That is why we can be unanimous about the Canadian Arctic. We need it. It is an integral part of the nation and gives us a national rallying point in time of crisis.

A Stamp of Approval For Riel?

FEW COUNTRIES HANG A MAN for treason and then, less than 100 years later, feature his portrait on a postage stamp with the name of the land emblazoned over his head. But that is the case with the Louis Riel six-cent stamp that will go on sale June 19.

No one doubts that Riel was one of the most fascinating figures in Canadian history. In 1870 he was president of the council that negotiated Assiniboia, now Manitoba, into confederation. When Fenian raids threatened the new province in 1871 he offered Metis troops to the federal government. Elected to the House of Commons in 1873 and again in 1874 he was expelled from the House and later banished from the country for five years.

After a period in Quebec mental institutions and the United States Riel was invited by a group of settlers — half-breed and white — to return to Canada and lead a protest against the Canadian government's indifference to Western grievances. When Riel returned, his initial political activities were peaceful but his campaign soon degenerated into violence and the rebellion of 1885 that resulted in his execution at Regina.

In Quebec and Ontario racial and religious feelings ran high after the hanging. Even today there is controversy over Riel's trial and whether or not he was insane. It is interesting to note that some of the issues Riel tried to solve are still relevant today. Over the last decade stories, songs and even an opera have added emotional overtones to the Riel legend.

Canadians have difficulty defining Louis Riel. Whatever else he has been called, Riel was a sincere man who believed in this land. A stamp honoring his memory is particularly fitting in 1970 as voices from within and outside Canada challenge our sovereignty.

Liberalizing Laws Restrict Gambling

Greer

THE so-called "liberalization" of the gambling blue laws, made possible by last year's revisions in the Criminal Code, has undergone an ironic tour de force in Ontario. Other provinces, notably Quebec, appear to be anxious to exploit the new possibilities but under the licensing system which the Ontario government has finally settled on, things in this province are going to be tougher than ever. Under the old code, virtually all lotteries were outlawed and the law was largely winked at. The new code permits them under provincial licensing regimes. The Ontario licensing system leaves little doubt that much of what was winked at before will not be licensed now.

The rather large bingos which many service clubs have been running, for example, are likely to dwindle away because such lotteries are usually conducted by professional operators for a handsome fee, often in the form of a percentage of the gross receipts. leaving relatively little, after the cost of prizes has been deducted, for the club's charitable purposes. This is ripe territory — there are some policemen who insist it has already been occupied — for organized crime, and the government is cracking down.

In the first place, the power of municipalities under the new provincial regulations to license charitable or religious organizations to conduct lotteries will not extend to lotteries where prizes exceed $3,500 in cash or value, or to where the organization has hired or contracted with someone to manage the lottery for it. Such lotteries will only be licensed by the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs and professional operators will also have to carry a yearly licence issued by the department.

Hobbling Pros

Secondly, the management and administrative expenses of a lottery will also be prescribed by the department, which proposes to set, as a rough rule of thumb, 10 per cent of the gross receipts. This is well below what the "professionals" (many of whom can make over $1,000 a week, apparently, from a good circuit) get now and is avowedly designed to drive them out of business.

In the field of municipally licensed lotteries, the policy is to be similarly restrictive. Municipalities themselves will not be allowed to conduct lotteries. Sweepstakes will not be permitted. A charitable or religious organization which is licensed by a municipality to conduct a draw or raffle must sell the tickets within the municipality unless prior approval in writing has been given by neighboring municipalities. Selling through the mails will be illegal. Lottery schemes which use the newspapers, radio, television or telephone to dispose of cash or goods for a consideration, such as "lucky number" contests, may not be licensed.

Hard to Enforce

Much of this, of course, is going to be extremely difficult if not impossible to enforce and one wonders whether the end result will be so very different from the hypocrisy which has always plagued the anti-gambling laws.

It may be thought, for example, that nobody is going to miss the professional operators of the service club bingos. But the promotion and running of such lotteries in a way that satisfies the aficionados does, apparently, require a certain expertise, and it may turn out that ways will be found to keep the professionals around. Are the police then to be zealous in looking for under-the-table bookkeeping and in enforcing the law, or are they are to go along with what the public wants, just as in the past?

Or suppose one municipality decides it does not want to have raffle tickets sold within its boundaries for a lottery licensed in another municipality. (This could well happen in summer resort areas where motorboats are constantly being raffled off). Are the police to prosecute violators?

Licences will not be issued for lotteries where the prizes depend on any event not directly related to the lottery, such as sporting events. That clearly includes office or factory hockey pools, which have always been illegal and now are more so. Are the police then to crack down, or continue to ignore hockey pools?

Financial and Commercial Affairs Minister Lawrence says common sense must prevail and Mr. Lawrence is a very sensible man. Yet the regulations which the government has approved are, to say the least, very police-minded.

Watchdogs

Copies of all lottery licences must go to the local police, the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs, and the anti-gambling squad of the Ontario Provincial Police. Licencees must agree to comply with the pertinent sections of the Criminal Code, keep separate records of lottery funds, produce the licence on demand and submit a detailed report to the licensing authority after the lottery is over.

All police officers and such others as the municipality or the minister may appoint shall "at all reasonable times, have direct and unencumbered access to enquire into the nature, management and conduct of the proceedings for which the licence has been granted, either prior to, during, or after the conclusion of such proceedings." While the regulations do not specifically say so, it is intended as a matter of practice that all applications for licences will go to the police before being approved and a substantial staff of inspectors is to be set up in the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs to assist the police in carrying out spot checks and generally policing the entire system.

The committee of policemen, lawyers, tax collectors and other government officials who recommended the regulations to the government wanted to go even further. It recommended as a further condition on each licence that the police be able to stop the lottery forthwith for "apparent" breaches of the Criminal Code or of the conditions of the licence. It also recommended that licencees be required to agree to make all records, etc., available to the police without the necessity of a warrant to enter and search.

The cabinet, to its credit, did not accept these recommendations but they are an indication of how officialdom views the problem. Mr. Lawrence's common sense, it appears, is going to be sorely tested in the months ahead.

FROM WASHINGTON

By TIM TRAYNOR

Supporting Canada's Case

Traynor

"THE special circumstances existing in this Arctic region offer a compelling argument for Canada's unilateral action in asserting a broad pollution protection zone. It is in the interests of other states — the United States included — to follow Canada's lead and to apply similar standards to other areas of the seas on an international basis."

Prime Minister Trudeau could hardly have asked for a heartier endorsement than that accorded his newly-unveiled Arctic policy by the New York Times. The paper, moreover, rebuked the U.S. government for its firmly-stated rejection of the Canadian initiatives, which assert sovereignty 12 miles off-shore and jurisdiction beyond that, most notably for anti-pollution purposes.

The U.S., said the paper editorially, had reacted with "unseemly sharpness." Washington's attitude was "sure to exacerbate relations with Canada, while failing to advance the cause of more enlightened international regulation of the seas."

The Times struck several notes frequently heard here in the aftermath of Mr. Trudeau's moves and the exchanges between the U.S. and Canada. Senator Mike Gravel of Alaska has said he admires the prime minister's "decisiveness" and has urged the U.S. government to put aside legalism so as to be able to pursue, in bilateral negotiations with Canada, safeguards for the delicate Arctic environment.

In an article on Mr. Trudeau, Time Magazine said he has followed a "reasonable course" in moving to protect the Arctic without an absolute sovereignty claim.

'Unfortunate' Unilateralism

In its editorial, the New York Times said it was "unfortunate" that Canada had felt impelled to move unilaterally rather than awaiting an international agreement delineating national rights in the oceans. But the U.S. was in no position to protest, in view of its post-war claim to the resources of the continental shelf.

Declaring that U.S. "indecisiveness" has impeded international agreement on the sea, the paper expressed the hope that the U.S. will now be spurred to resolve internal policy differences, and to press for broad accords.

"In the meantime, Canada has undertaken the initiative in trying to protect a heritage that is precious to all mankind," the paper goes on. "Instead of antagonizing a good neighbor, the United States should be co-operating with Canada to achieve the common goals through international action."

Addressing a conference here, Sen. Gravel said international mechanisms must be developed to cope with the effects of advanced technology in the Arctic and in the oceans generally. "If it takes a unilateral political act such as the Canadian declaration to focus our attention on the issues, then the act is well worth the ruckus," he said.

He called for close U.S.-Canadian collaboration on the Arctic. "while the goal of an eventual international conference to write a comprehensive regime for the continental shelf and the ocean is very laudable, the immediate question of pollution in the North American Arctic is very much a bilateral affair between the United States and Canada.

"In pursuing the international goal, there is no reason why we should not undertake the sort of urgent bilateral discussions which would be characteristic of the special relationship we enjoy with Canada."

Hate Bill Protest

With reference to your editorial of April 21 regarding the amendments to the Criminal Code of Canada, known as the "anti-hate bill," the Association of British Columbia Librarians sent the following telegram to The Rt. Hon. P. E. Trudeau, Prime Minister of Canada; The Hon. John Turner, Minister of Justice; The Hon. A. Laing, Minister of Public Works; Mrs. Grace MacInnis, M.P.; David Groos, M.P.; T. C. Douglas, M.P:

"The Association of British Columbia Librarians strongly opposes amendments to the Criminal Code of Canada by adding thereto, immediately after section 267 thereof, the following heading and sections: 'Hate Propaganda,' 267A, 267B and 267C. The fears these amendments seek to alleviate have already sufficient avenues of redress under other sections of the Criminal Code. Freedom of speech is jeopardized if these amendments are enacted. Any possible benefits of this bill are clearly outweighed by the serious inpingements on freedom of speech."

Finding neither of the Victoria area representatives available, I called Mrs. Grace MacInnis who, received my message and returned my call to say that with so few M.P.s present there was little likelihood that the bill would be defeated.

This is indeed a delicate piece of legislation and, because of that very fact, needed the careful attention of every elected representative and certainly their presence in the House when it was voted upon. — (Mrs.) H. M. Rodney, President, Association of B.C. Librarians.

Sneering Tone

In reply to a report in the Times of April 20, about war protesters being told to move into the rain: the article has a predominantly sneering tone, indicative of the treatment radical groups receive in the bourgeois press. We at the protest were and are not a group of irresponsible rabble-rousers; we are a group of concerned citizens strongly opposed to the war in Vietnam and issues arising from that war. Your reporter seemed to think we merited a chiding, condescending report. The newspapers should and must have more responsibility toward groups such as ours and its reporters must learn to subdue their petty subjective objections to things that occur in a city square available (supposedly) to the citizens. — Walt Kellythorne, 1534 Yale St.

Politics and Hospitals

I regret that the Greater Victoria hospital issue has had to become a political punching bag. As an employee in one of our hospitals I believe a great cloud of confusion has settled over the workers in every hospital — a cloud that has and will have an effect on the true dedication and hard work that is done by the administration and nursing staff. How can our provincial government reduce patient care when already there is an overload of work on staff and a waiting list for beds that staggers the imagination.

The time has come to take the hospital out of the political arena and spend the taxes that were collected for hospital use such as new acute care beds so badly needed. Also, the building designs should be kept to essentials only. There is no need for platinum trimmed halls. We can still utilize what is standing. In Europe where some of the greatest medicine is studied and practised, the walls have not been painted since they were built over the past decades.

Here in Victoria a part of a hospital that has been standing sturdy and tall has already been called obsolete by a recent hospital study and a road has halted any further progress on badly needed hospital construction. Let us not measure in terms of political advantages or issues. Let's measure the human factor. — H. Voorsluys, 3 East Gorge.

Looking Back

From the Times of April 24,1910

Sir William Van Horne yesterday announced that he had resigned as chairman of the board of directors of Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir William explains that the position was merely a nominal one anyway, and that it had led to confusion, as in Great Britain the chairman of the board is the actual head of the company. Sir William claims he is getting old and has intended withdrawing as much as possible from active life.

U.S. Guerrillas Not 'Criminals'

I. F. STONE'S BI-WEEKLY

> The search of the youth today is for ways and means to make the machine—and the vast bureaucracy of the corporate state and of government that runs that machine—the servant of man. That is the revolution that is coming. That revolution . . . need not be a repetition of 1776. It could be a revolution in the nature of an explosive political regeneration. It depends on how wise the Establishment is. If, with its stockpile of arms, it resolves to suppress the dissenters, America will face, I fear, an awful ordeal.
>
> —Justice William O. Douglas in Points of Rebellion.

The New York Times editorial on the rash of bombings and bomb scares in New York City was called "Not Idealists: Criminals."

This was the standard reaction of a liberal publication, the easy way to clear its skirts of any suspicion of the slightest sympathy with revolutionary radicalism.

But it is a dangerous cliche. Falsely to diagnose the trouble is to move toward the wrong remedies, and the wrong remedies will worsen the disease.

Political Means

Statistics on bombings from cities around the country suggest that U.S. may be entering the first stages of an urban guerrilla movement. A guerrilla movement is a political, not a criminal phenomenon, however many crimes it may commit. Experience has shown over and over again that a guerrilla movement can only be defeated by political means.

The effort to treat it simply as a criminal matter, without resolving its political causes, ends by increasing the number of the guerrillas and widening their support in the larger community.

Whether the New York bombings prove to be a spasm in the wake of the Greenwich Village explosion, when a radical arsenal blew up, or the beginning of a serious terrorist movement will now depend on the authorities, and their ability to keep their cool. The first requisite — and the second, and the third — is understanding.

Feels In Bones

The Weatherman kids can be seen in various ways, and it is necessary to see them in as many as possible. The Weatherman faction of SDS, whence several different "direct action" splinter groups seem to derive, can be looked at like a distraught child. They can be viewed as spoiled brats, in a tantrum with a world which will not change overnight to suit them.

But they are also the most sensitive of a generation which feels in its bones what we older people only grasp as an unreal abstraction, that the world is headed for nuclear annihilation and something must be done to stop it.

The Weatherman manifesto from which they take their name is from one point of view a mishmash of ill-digested pseudo-Marxist rubbish, an effort to compete with their bitterest rivals, the "square" sectarian ideologists of that other Far Out splinter group, Progressive Labor.

The manifesto spurns every normal base of revolutionary support and ends up squarely in the clouds: the middle class is, of course, no good; the working class is corrupted; the college generation will soon sell out; their only hope is in the juvenile Robespierres of the high schools. It sounded like the Children's Crusade come back to life, a St. Vitus dance of hysterical politics.

Some of our young revolutionaries are chillingly sober and disconcertingly sensible. Their criticism of conventional dissenters like myself and our futility, as the war goes on, is hard to rebut.

Others in recent months have displayed a morbid development, a tendency to glorify violence for its own sake, as when they make Manson a hero, for killing "bourgeois pigs", i.e. people exactly like their fathers and mothers.

The ultimate menace they fear is their own secret selves in their own parents. This is what they are acting out on the stage of national politics.

From a longer range political point of view, the New Left and the hippies and the Yippies may, in however weird a form, also forecast the future. They see Soviet Communism merely as a further stage of capitalism, a mass production bureaucratic society concentrated on the production of goods rather than the liberation of the spirit.

Mindless Process

They see the working class becoming "middle class" under it, and the need for a newer revolution against making the individual a thing in a mindless industrial process rather than the loving center of a universe meant to be joyous in our brief moment of passage through it. To study their irrationality is to become aware of ours.

The immediate lesson is this: If the police authorities are high-handed and arbitrary in their hunt for the bombers — as some already are — they will turn more moderates into activists.

The answer to the revolutionaries is to behave with justice, to demonstrate that the system can operate under pressure in accordance with its own best ideals. And first and above all to end the war.

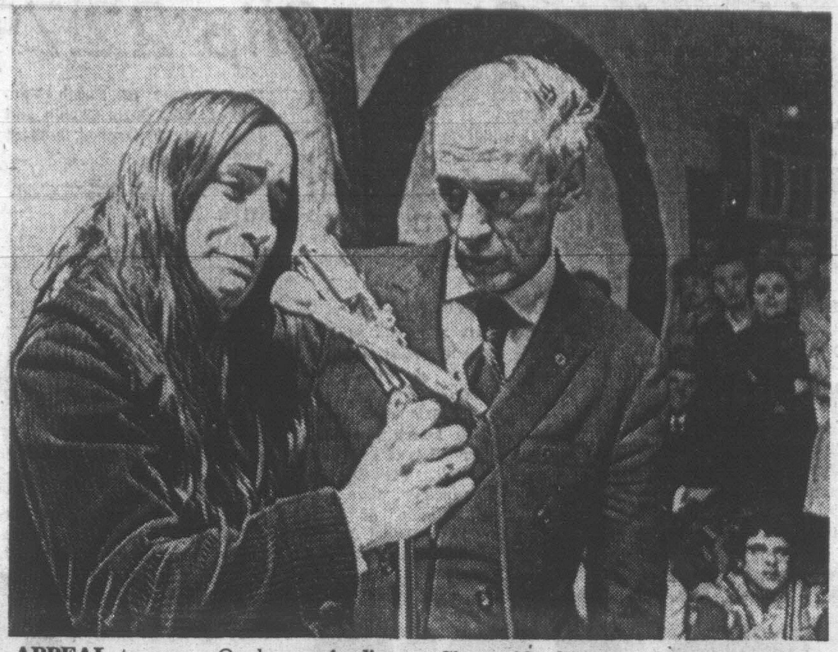
Again and again, the overreaction and panic of an established order has turned a handful of conspirators into a, revolutionary movement. This is, of course, exactly what the Chicago trial has done in radicalizing youth and destroying its faith in the courts.

Last Chance

What happens on appeal may represent the last chance of winning them back to rational discourse and faith in peaceful change. In these, rather than a blind and volcanic upheaval, I see mankind's only chance.

For the problems which confront us lie deep in the conditioning of man and in the power of technology to enslave him. No one is yet wise enough to chart the way out, as the most perceptive of the kids themselves admit.

They merely hope something better will turn up out of the ruins. But I do not believe in salvation by holocaust. Hate and hysteria certainly will not create a new man or build a better world. Political suicide is not revolution.



APPEAL to many Quebecers is displayed by Rene Levesque as he shows concern for woman he invited to speak at rally in Montreal this week. She said she attended government trade school for four years but city won't grant her permit to open a small shop.

The Poor Gain Little From Abortion Reform

By JOYCE EGGINTON

Every year across the United States, an estimated one million women have abortions. Only a few of these operations are legal, the rest being prohibited by hospital cost or by local laws passed in the last century — laws which were written when the Puritan philosophy prevailed, and medical practices so crude that any abortion involved grave risk to a woman's life.

●

The New York State law is typical of many. Barely changed since it was written in 1829, it grudgingly permits abortion, as the lesser of two evils, only when a woman's doctors are convinced that she might die if she were to bear a child. Largely as the result of this law's prohibitions, in New York City alone 4,000 women were admitted to hospitals last year with complications arising from bungled illegal abortions. Of these victims, many have accidentally been rendered sterile. And there are undoubtedly many hundreds more cases like this which the hospitals never hear about.

FINKBINE

In the face of these facts, New York State legislators have just voted down, for the fifth successive year, a reform bill which would have repealed the New York law. This time most of the Protestant and Jewish groups which backed the reform had been reasonably confident of it going through, mainly because a little of the vociferous Catholic opposition of past years had died down. The abortion reform Bill, which was urged by New York State's Governor Nelson Rockefeller, had already been passed by the State Senate, but it was turned down in the Legislature by only three votes after a bitter debate.

The narrowness of this margin means that it is only a matter of time before the New York abortion law becomes as liberal as in 13 other states. But this liberalization, which has been happening only over the past three years, still means that legal abortions are rarely available to the poor, among whom the need is greatest.

Most of the 13 states have residence requirements, seven of them officiallly. In the other states, hospitals tend to refuse patients who do not live locally. Where the operation is legal, it usually costs so much that the legislation which permits it is known among reformers as "a rich lady's law." And even when local law permits abortion, doctors are reluctant to perform the operation because they are still unsure of their legal position.

Despite all this, American abortion laws have been relaxed considerably, along with state laws on birth control. Maryland has made abortion legal. Only eight years ago, Mrs. Sherri Finkbine, an Arizona mother who had innocently taken thalidomide during early pregnancy, attempted to get an abortion done anywhere in America. She was repeatedly refused, although by that time the terrible effects of thalidomide were known.

In desperation she went to Sweden for the operation where it was found that the foetus she was carrying was deformed. The publicity which Mrs. Finkbine allowed for her own case undoubtedly helped towards the repeal of some of America's 19th-century abortion laws.

Even so, women like Mrs. Finkbine — who can afford to do so — still find it easiest to go overseas for an abortion if they live in a state where the operation is illegal. In that case, about the only sure way to get an abortion done without delay is to take a plane to London or Tokyo. This costs anything from £700 ($1,700) upwards. In the "banned" states a few reputable gynaecologists with liberal views will perform abortions, at considerable risk to their reputations. The cost of this risk is usually reflected in the high price charged to the patient, often higher than the price of a trip to London.

●

Several major American cities have groups of Protestant clergymen who openly help women seeking abortions, either by referring them to sympathetic doctors or by advising them how to get the operation done overseas. But the service is necessarily limited to women of means. And the very fact that the advisers are clergymen inhibits many women from seeking their help.

Quebec Separatism Taken Too Lightly

By DOUGLAS FISHER

In 1964, Pierre Trudeau insisted separatism in Quebec was counter - revolutionary, that is, reactionary. He sneered at it as "the wigwam complex." In 1968, he seemingly convinced all Canada it was nonsense.

After one measures the startling support for Levesque's Parti Quebecois, shown in the La Presse polls published last weekend, the immediate question is: What will Mr. Trudeau, as Prime Minister, do in the next few days to turn back the surge of the PQ?

If it is not contained, if it should roll up votes to the percentages indicated by the straw poll, then Mr. Trudeau's paramount mission — a balanced federalism — is almost lost.

The really discouraging statistic for the federalists is not that the PQ is only one point behind the Liberals' 26 per cent; it is that separation of the Anglos from the sample leaves the PQ ahead of the Liberals (28 per cent to 22 per cent) among the French.

Unless Levesque has already "peaked" and Bourassa is coming very fast, anyone, even the most optimistic Federalist, must acknowledge that Canada is into a new era.

Without a War

There have been signs of a transition from "separatism or not" to "what form of separatism?" A quiet but telling indicator is something I have only sensed and then confirmed by chats with English-speaking politicians.

Almost completely outside Quebec, largely even in Quebec, those of us who are not French-Canadians have passed the stage of thinking: "They can't do it." We accept tacitly that if they really want to leave they will, without a civil war. How did we come to this submissive, perhaps neutral, attitude of mind?

The answer can only be tentative. Did it not happen in the last year when we realized that Mr. Trudeau, strong as his leadership has been, able as his cabinet may be, especially in terms of Quebec ministers in big portfolios, has not profoundly altered Quebec politics?

He could not "put them in their place" even if he had set out to do it. He has not been able to make them more co-operative within our federalism.

A few days ago, Jean Luc Pepin, the minister of industry, trade and commerce, put his frustrations to several of us.

Situation Changed

"For generations we complain that we are ignored at Ottawa, that we have to play a minor role. Now the situation is changed: Not only a Prime Minister from us but more ministries, more opportunities, a better break for our language, even a kind of understanding toward us among English-Canadians that seemed impossible a few years ago."

Mr. Pepin, like almost every Liberal MP from Quebec, is "fit to be tied," as the colloquialism goes. He knows, indeed he is certain that his constituents are overwhelmingly against separation from Canada.

He is equally certain that separation will be an economic and political disaster. He is desperate to fight against separatism. Yet . . . with only days to go in the Quebec campaign, he knows, as do all his colleagues, that Levesque looks more and more likely to be the real victor.

Our drift into acceptance of the likelihood of separatism is an anathema to Mr. Pepin. And it is to the Prime Minister. That is not why he has kept out of the election battle.

Two Premises

Now the crisis is apparent. How will he respond? We Anglos may know there's no honorable place in the fight for us.

Not so with Mr. Trudeau and friends. They made a series of decisions which go back to the choice of a new provincial Liberal leader. There seems to have been two premises in their thinking.

First, although the Parti Quebecois might get 12 to 15 per cent of the electorate, this could not be translated into many seats. Only six weeks ago six Montreal Liberal MPs, including Bryce Mackasey, assured me that Levesque could not win a seat, not even his own.

The second premise was that the campaign would essentially be that of three "Federalist" parties (Liberal, Union Nationale and Creditistes) against one Separatist party. Thus, they could afford to stay aloof.

The campaign reality is that even Robert Bourassa, the Liberal leader, has been taking shots at Ottawa, keeping up with Premier Bertrand. Consequently, Mr. Levesque almost seems reasonable.

Led Him Astray

It is now agreed that Mr. Levesque was underestimated although no federal Liberal wants his name attached to such an opinion. Clearly, Mr. Trudeau took him too lightly, Why? Perhaps there is a contemptuous familiarity, man to man. More likely, the Prime Minister's intellectual analysis of the folly or stupidity of separatism has led him astray.

Ever since Eric Kierans outsted Rene Levesque from the Quebec Liberals there's been nothing much but derision for Levesque from federal politicians. They could not see his magic and his danger to Mr. Trudeau.

One straw poll does not make a new country. It does confirm the likelihood of separation. Mr. Trudeau may not choose to tackle Mr. Levesque directly and with vigor before the 29th. After? He must find some way of destroying him as a political leader with some speed.

It is bizarre to even mention it, but be sure that Mr. Trudeau is thinking about this question.

Love of Earth a New Religion

By JOSHUA LEDERBERG

"Christianity is the most anthropocentric religion the world has seen," according to UCLA historian Lynn White Jr. in a landmark paper that appeared in Science magazine three years ago.

Before condemning "the historical roots of our ecological crisis" as Communist propaganda, one should also read that Prof. White classified Marxism, like Islam, as "a Judeo-Christian heresy."

The central principle of his analysis concerns the relationship of man to nature. Is it "God's will that man exploit nature for his proper ends," as we are taught by the Bible, the U.S. Constitution and the dialectical materialists alike?

★ ★ ★

Or does our scientific knowledge of man as a stage in the evolutionary process lead us to a new appreciation of man's place not over, but in nature?

The "ecology" movement has been derided as having the flavor of a religious revival, besides having misappropriated the name of a science that is still looking for the tools it needs to make effective generalizations. What we should understand is that it has all the requisites of an authentic religion, including a multiplicity of prophets.

★ ★ ★

We live today in a vacuum of faith, and there are many more dangerous ways (remember Nazism) by which it might be filled. The love of earth can be at once the most primitive and the most sophisticated of religions, and it deserves the same respect as the other credos by which men shape their lives.

As with other religions, its slogans may also require creative reinterpretation before they are either criticized or routinely applied to daily life.

In the time of St. Francis of Assisi, this theology responded primarily to spiritual needs; today, it is reinforced by the most materialistic of concerns — how man can survive to enjoy the abundance of his creations.

At the very least, the image of nature is deeply rooted in every man's axioms of beauty. When we speak of the esthetic values of the environment, we use a treacherous expression; esthetics covers too much, and is likely to confuse us with controversies about the merits of one as against another style of painting or architecture.

It is simple observation, however, that no one we deem sane is likely to deny the beauty of the unspoiled landscape. We may quarrel about the beauty or ugliness of a building, a utility pole or a city; we differ only in the degree of our commitment about the esthetic value of the forests and the shorelines.

★ ★ ★

It is still possible, nevertheless, for a public utility to invade a public park for a right-of-way for a transmission line and insist that this does no damage; it is merely a visual blemish. This was the position taken by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in support of a proposed line into Briones Park, Calif., one of Oakland's badly needed breathing spaces.

The company was supported by a 4-to-1 vote of the state Public Utilities Commission in a reaffirmation of a legal tradition which, as held by a New Jersey court, regards "esthetic considerations as a matter of luxury and indulgence rather than of necessity."

★ ★ ★

This point of view is not only venal; it is an objectively false description of human values and behavior. Is it a luxury for the plastic surgeon to repair the scars on a burned woman's face if neither she nor others could bear the sight? What do we know altogether about the world we inhabit except through our senses, and expecially our vision?

Up to a point, we can tolerate ugliness, mainly by avoiding it. But the present legal system is encouraging the spread of pockmarks on the landscape to the point where we are already troubled to find a sufficiency of the natural scenes that are the common denominator of the human understanding of beauty.

DATSUN 1600 PICKUP
the most misunderstood truck in the country

We built the Datsun 1600 pickup to be a tough, rugged, no-nonsense, hard-working tool. Fine. A lot of people bought it for just that. But a lot of other people bought it and they don't use it for work. They use it for play.

We put a sturdy 96 horse engine in it because a working truck needs lots of power. We designed it to haul a ton, because a working truck should be able to handle heavy loads. It gets up to 30 miles to the gallon, because a working truck should be economical to operate. And it handles like a nifty little car because there's no reason why a truck that wears like a tank should handle like a tank. We built North America's number-one selling imported truck to work for its living – and they're out there living a life of pleasure.

Where did we go wrong?

Anti-Pollution Ruse Confounds Cashiers

EDMONTON (CP)—Ten persons who said they were members of an anti-pollution group turned a quiet shopping night at an Edmonton supermarket into a bustling one for five bewildered cashiers.

The first cashier was somewhat incredulous when, after she had rung up her customer's $15 grocery order, the customer refused to pay for it.

The customers said she would pay only if the large box of detergent in her order was replaced with a brand she said had a lower phosphate content.

ORDER LEFT

This could not readily be done so the customer left the store, her order still piled upon the counter.

The same thing happened again and again and extra cashiers were brought up to handle the extra business.

Penny Dudley, spokesman for the anti-pollution group, called STOP (Save Tomorrow, Oppose Pollution), said phosphates in detergents are a chief cause of water pollution.

"There are barely no detergents with low content in phosphate on the shelves, yet there are huge displays of the ones with high content," she said. "That's what we object to."

Ben Marchak, manager of the Canada Safeway supermarket, said it was not his decision as to what type of soaps went on the shelves.

"I'm hired to give good service and run a good store and that's what I'm trying to do."

Testing Requested

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta branch of the Consumers Association of Canada passed a resolution Thursday asking the provincial government to start a compulsory automobile testing program.

It was passed at the association's one-day convention attended by 55 delegates from across Alberta.

Mrs. A. R. Brock of Lacombe was elected president of the association.

Floods Spread

REGINA (CP) — A spring runoff from heavy snows has since Monday doubled the area of flooding in the central Saskatchewan region of Duck Lake, a provincial government official said Thursday.

About 2,000 acres of farmland and a mile of municipal road were under water in the wake of what officials say may be the worst floods in the region for more than 20 years. In addition, several hundred acres of the Beardy's Indian Reserve, near Duck Lake, had been covered.

Slayings Probed

WINNIPEG — Police have ruled out the possibility of robbery in the double slaying of two youths whose bodies were found on a side-road just east of the city limits Thursday.

The bodies of 20-year-old Lawrence Charles Noyd, of 34 Echo Bay and Gregory Joel Saske, 19, of 25 Echo Bay in the Windsor Park district, were found by a motorist Thursday on a side-road adjacent to the Winnipeg floodway.

A police spokesman said today that Noyd apparently died of a shotgun wound in the head and that Saske died of strangulation and possibly gunshot wounds.

Court Challenged

EDMONTON (CP) — An Edmonton lawyer is going to apply to the Alberta Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition to prevent Magistrate M. W. Hopkins of Cold Lake from hearing a case further because the magistrate has no formal education in law.

Ronald L. Berger, defence counsel for Henry Piche, 18, of Grand Centre, in court at Cold Lake Wednesday said he would apply for the writ on the basis his client could be denied the opportunity to make full answer in his defence because of the magistrate's lack of formal legal education.

Magistrate Hopkins granted Berger's request for a one-month adjournment. Piche appeared on charges of escaping lawful custody and common assault.

Councils To Get Briefing

Victoria and Esquimalt councils will be briefed on the Elworthy harbor commission report this Tuesday at 8 p.m. in City Hall, Mayor Courtney Haddock of Victoria, said Thursday.

He gave this information after Ald. Peter Pollen made a motion that a special study committee be formed comprising representatives of the city, Esquimalt, regional district and city planning department "to examine all aspects of the report."

The meeting will be open to the public.

The Elworthy committee recommendations on the future of Victoria harbor confirm the findings of a city survey team in an earlier report.

The city group said formation of a harbor commission to run the harbor would be sound economics — if the commission could obtain control of Ogden Point docks, now operated by Canadian National Railways.

Both reports agree that formation of a commission would increase administrative efficiency and clear the way for modernization and rehabilitation programs.

Harold Elworthy, chairman of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., had the report prepared at his own expense as an interested citizen, he said. The engineering company of Willis, Cunliff and Tait was retained.

CLRA Denies United Front Crumbling

A suggestion that some contractors in Construction Labor Relations Association want to make a separate peace with locked out unions in the B.C. building industry was denied by a CLRA spokesman today.

He said there is no evidence of anything like that and insisted on specific examples before CLRA would consider their validity. To make this kind of charge on any other basis is irresponsible, he said.

A carpenter's union source replied that he had discussed the prospects of an outside settlement with three contractors who are anxious to avert a lockout of carpenters, and said he knew of approaches by contractors to other construction trade unions along similar lines.

If carpenters are added to the list of locked-out unions after their current contract expires Thursday, the effect of the 11-day lockout in B.C.'s $200 million construction industry will be more pronounced.

SCHOOL MERGER URGED

NORTH COWICHAN — Education Minister Donald Brothers will be invited to arrange a meeting with Ladysmith and North Cowichan councils to determine whether amalgamation of the two school districts would alleviate the tax burden.

Ladysmith has the highest school tax mill rate of 45 B.C. schools which produced increased budgets this year.

North Cowichan council proposed Thursday to do something about it.

The council was concerned mostly for Chemainus residents. Chemainus is in Ladysmith School District but lies within North Cowichan municipality.

Ladysmith district registered a 6.89 jump to a new high of 43.37 mills, more than 35 per cent above the provincial average.

Gulf Islands, Lake Cowichán, Nanaimo, Qualicum, Courtenay, Vancouver Island West and Vancouver Island North, all had reduced mill rates this year, according to figures released by Brothers.

Mayor Gerry Smith told a special meeting of council that Chemainus had always been in the unfortunate position of not having a large assessment base and had consistently "with one or two exceptions" had a higher mill rate than the southern portion of the municipality.

MERGER OR SPLIT

In School District 65 (Cowichan) the value of one mill was $88,161 compared with $26,134 for School District 67 (Ladysmith).

He said there were two alternatives: amalgamate Cowichan and Ladysmith or split Ladysmith district with Nanaimo school district.

Ald. Margaret Robertson said the council did not wish to interfere with the school districts but it had a responsibility towards the residents of Chemainus.

FIRST WOMAN JUDGE NAMED ON ISLAND

A Ucluelet woman Thursday became Vancouver Island's first woman provincial court judge when Attorney-General Leslie Peterson signed the official proclamation.

She is Myrtle Saxton, whose husband died several years ago in a logging accident.

A registered nurse, Mrs. Saxton was recently named to the provincial advisory committee on recreation.

She is the fourth woman judge to be appointed in B.C.

She will sit in Tofino and Ucluelet.

Three Sent to Jail After Fatal Break-In

LAKE COWICHAN — Three youths were jailed and a fourth was put on probation Thursday for a store break-in in which a young man was shot and killed by the store proprietor.

Richard Lloyd Lawrence Bigcharles, 20, was put on two years probation.

The Crown, citing the death of his brother Stanley William Bigcharles, 21, pleaded for leniency in his case.

William Kester Jollimore, 19, and David Douglas Bailor, 19, both of Haney, B.C., pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent and each was sentenced to nine months definite and a year indeterminate.

R. D. Cunningham, 17, a Hammond, B.C., juvenile reaised to adult court, was given a similar sentence. He pleaded guilty to the same charge.

Stanley Bigcharles was shot during the April 9 break-in.

H. B. G. Merkel, 42, owner of Merkel's Furniture, has been charged with causing death by criminal negligence.

What makes the Sprinter sprint?

It's one of the first questions people ask after they've taken the Sprinter for a spin. The answer is not one but a combination of things that Sprinter has and the others don't.

Like the engine, it's 73 horsepower. Bigger and faster than anything else in its class. It delivers a top speed of over 90 mph, a cruising speed of 75, and up to 35 miles to the gallon. It has the speed you need for in-and-out city driving and the power it takes to pass a truck on a two lane highway.

The steering response is quick and accurate which is great for heavy traffic. And the built-in low centre of gravity keeps it solid and steady on the open road. The durable MacPherson strut independent front suspension makes for better handling and a better ride inside.

The 4-on-the-floor all synchromesh transmission makes the Sprinter sprint best, but the fully automatic is fun too. (Whatever turns you on). The automatic is optional and so is the radio. Everything else is standard.

Tinted glass all around, reclining bucket seats, door-to-door carpeting, white walls, wheel discs and winter equipment.

All these things, combined with a sleek fastback design, go together to make the Sprinter sprint. They go together to give you much more than a means of transportation. The Sprinter is not just functional, it's fun. And regardless of what you're driving now, we think you'll like this one.

See your nearest Toyota dealer and take the Sprinter for a spin.

TOYOTA SPRINTER $2135.

Suggested list price F.O.B. Vancouver. Provincial and local taxes extra.

Toyota cars are sold and serviced from coast to coast in Canada, and throughout the world.

Nigerians 'Generous' to Ibos After War

By SAM EGUAVOEN

One of the fears Ibos expressed too often during the war was that if they gave up there would be no future for them in Nigeria. They would be treated as third class citizens and the positions and influence they enjoyed on the Nigerian scene before the coup of January 15, 1966, would disappear.

Events since the war ended have proved their fears groundless. Those in federal civil service before the war got their positions back immediately. Ibo lecturers and students went back to their former campuses in other parts of Nigeria. Dr. Chicke Obi, for instance, a world renowned mathematician, was appointed professor by the University of Lagos a week after the war ended. He had been a lecturer at Ibadan University in Western Nigeria before the war; was also rebel leader Odumegwu Ojukwu's aide in Biafra, later fell out with him and was found in a detention camp when war ended.

Money Back

Other Ibos who were working for business firms outside their state were also reabsorbed — in some cases, as in the University of Nigeria, they got increments on their salaries for the three year period the war lasted.

As far back as 1966, Major General Yakubu Gowon, the Nigerian head of state, had instructed state governments to ensure that properties left behind by Ibos who moved to the East before the war were kept safe.

In some states — Lagos, Midwest, North Central and Kano which had many Ibo residents — special commissions were appointed to look after such properties. These houses — the properties were mostly houses — were repaired and rented out by the commissions. Rents collected were lodged in banks — awaiting the Ibo owners.

When they showed up at the end of the war, they were surprised to find that, contrary to propaganda stories they had heard, their houses were intact and thousands of dollars were waiting for them to start off again.

Ibos Industries

General Gowon's general amnesty brought as much relief to Biafrans as it did to other Nigerians. Ibos, being an industrious and aggressive race, were well known all over the country, especially in the trading and retail businesses. And in most cases well like by the other Nigerians they met. In the North, for instance, they ran the hotels, pubs and goods stores. When the massacres of 1966 forced them to leave, however, it was their friends who missed them most as they did in Lagos, Ibadan and Benin City.

The weeks after the war, therefore, saw reunion parties all over the country. Biafrans saw that the big Nigerian cities which their pirate radio told them had been destroyed by Biafra's air force, were booming with new business, road construction, and swinging night life. Nigerians discovered, to their surprise, that virtually all their Ibo friends and others they had known were alive—and that they had not died of starvation!

This is the second in a series of articles by Sam Eguavoen, a Nigerian journalist who is spending the summer working at the Victoria Times.

In Lagos, when one top civil servant was told that all Ibos in his department were alive and had returned to their offices, he exclaimed happily: "Who then died in the war?"

Amnesty Opposed

As should be expected, the Federal Government's amnesty and open arms policy toward the returning Ibos was opposed in some quarters — sometimes loudly.

GOWON
. . . protects property

Some felt that General Gowon's "no victor, no vanquished" reconciliation theme was unrealistic. the "prodigal son" treatment Ibos were getting would spur them to try secession again or something calamitous, they argued. Those who masterminded the secession bid should be tried and shot publicly, they demanded.

A finance commissioner (equivalent of a minister) in one of the Northern States, warned on March 13, that although magnaminity after victory was desirable, "this must not be allowed to assume such a dimension as to make it meaningless and indistinguishable from appeasement." One civil servant in Benin City grumpled that Ibos "who dragged Nigeria into war that cost the nation over $900 million have suddenly become super first class citizens!"

Minority Voice

These voices are however in the extreme minority. They are not different from the hawks who, during the war, blamed General Gowon for being too soft in the prosecution of the war, who could not understand why relief food should be allowed to reach the very people Nigerian troops were trying to subdue. But as Gowon found it quite easy to hold out against the hawks during the war, so is he now able to hold out against these dissenting voices — with the full backing, of course, of the masses who are so relieved the war has ended without making a Congo out of Nigeria and without the fear of guerrillas lurking around the bushes.

It was, however, necessary for Chief Anthony Enahoro, the federal chief negotiator during the war and federal commissioner for information to re-define what General Gowon meant by amnesty. Early in February, he said amnesty was only for those who were misled into rebellion and not for those who led them.

Who then are those who led the rebellion?

Guilty Sorted

General Gowon was asked in Sokoto, Northern Nigeria last month how soon federal authorities were going to start punishing those who tried the secession bid. He replied that the guilty ones were still being sorted out and that it would take some time to determine who voluntarily supported Ojukwu — knowing what kind of a ruthless dictator Ojukwu was and his reaction if nobody did what he wanted.

A reference was made to the Midwestern state where Ibo officers seized power a month after war started in 1967 and invited the Biafran army to move in. But the General still pleaded for time to sort out things.

Role of Officers

Apparently, he was leaving this later issue to the Armed forces investigating committee set up by the federal government to determine the role of officers who were in the Nigerian armed forces before the war but who fought for the Biafran army. Officers being investigated are those above the rank of captain. Other officers and those recruited by the Biafran army were discharged and given safe conduct passes. Since most of these were not in the army before the war, their discharge was no problem. They were either students, civil servants or farmers and they just went back to their former life.

Ojukwo Guilty

The federal investigating committee is headed by Brigadier Robert Adeyinka Adebayo, the military governor of the Western State. It appears the only man the committee can name as guilty so far is Odumegwu Ojukwu himself — who is out of the country anyway.

I met the secretary to the committee Major Charles Ndiomu, in Lagos before I left Nigeria. He said virtually every officer who has appeared before the committee says he was forced by Ojukwu to fight for Biafra. Since no one would come forward to give a contrary view and since relevant documents were destroyed by the Biafrans before they surrendered, there was no way of knowing otherwise.

Nothing Drastic

I heard from reliable sources in Lagos, however, that nothing drastic would come out of the investigations. The highest penalty would be a dishonorable discharge from the armed forces. (This, I understand, would be the fate of the Ibo officers who caused the occupation of the Midwest State by Biafran rebel forces.)

Deciding who among Biafra's civilian leaders actively and voluntarily supported the secession is also a major problem for Federal authorities. Ojukwu's civilian aides who boarded his escape plane on January 9, have all returned to Nigeria — and to free pardon (or so it seems so far).

Notably among these are: Mr. N. U. Akpan who was Ojukwu's chief secretary and head of Biafra's civil service, and Sir Francis Ibiam, a vice president of the World Council of Churches and one of Ojukwu's closest advisers till the end. Akpan's return to Nigeria was arranged through the Nigerian High Commission in London and he was housed in a government residence when he got to Lagos.

When newsmen quizzed him about his role during the war, he claimed he was a civil

SEAMAN GUILTY ON TWO CHARGES

WASHINGTON (WP) — Seaman Roger Lee Priest, 26, who infuriated the Navy by publishing an anti-war newsletter last year while stationed at the Pentagon, was found guilty Thursday night of two charges of promoting "disloyalty and disaffection among members of the armed forces."

The sailor from Houston was aquitted of six other charges, including the Navy's claim that he urged servicemen to desert and commit sedition.

A court-martial board of five Navy officers took six hours and 47 minutes of secret deliberation to arrive at the compromise verdict.

A sentencing hearing was scheduled for Monday morning in the court-room at the Washington Naval Station. The combined maximum penalty on the two charges is six years and a bad conduct discharge.

CERTAINLY NOT REPRESSION, SAYS PROFESSOR

What Is Answer to Waves of Anarchy?

The real problem facing western governments today is how to maintain any form of government at all in the face of a continuing anarchy.

Harvard political scientist Carl Friedrich told a Uvic audience Thursday night there are no patent solutions to the problem of anarchy in highly bureaucratic societies.

•

"The governmental tendency is to see the problem as a technical matter but this approach means only more bureaucracy, and more bureaucracy further aggravates things," he said.

He was speaking on Bureaucracy Faces Anarchy in a lecture sponsored by the Institute of Public Administration of Canada.

Over a 90-minute period Friedrich developed a complex discussion of the rise of modern bureaucracy throughout the west and criticized the anarchical tradition which has accompanied this growth.

According to Friedrich the modern state is bureaucratic. It is based "on technical proficiency in precise fields such as engineering, mining and agriculture." The problem as he sees it is to keep bureaucracy compatible with democracy.

•

Friedrich said most people experience a "helpless passivity and sense of doom" when they try to deal with bureaucracy, "but this feeling is not shared by the contemporary young nor was it shared by Marx and his followers."

But he was critical of the anarchist position taken by many of today's youth.

"The anarchist substitutes vague hopes and violent demands for the solutions to very complex technical problems."

Although he attacked the anarchists Friedrich also presented vivid images of the faceless loneliness one encounters when dealing with very large organizations. He described the UNESCO building in Paris as "endless corridors with unfamiliar names on the doors."

And he noted a strong irony that the push to world government has been accompanied by "even greater bureaucracies."

Friedrich said it is a common misconception to identify bureaucracy with government. "Any large organization is bureaucratic," he said.

'Bureaucratic State Is Self-Defeating'

He told the audience bureaucracy faces two problems when it confronts anarchic behavior.

The first problem is that people in charge of a bureaucracy cannot agree "on what is right and what is wrong."

Using the example of student dissent at his own university he said that the faculty was sharply divided on the issue of how to handle it. Friedrich blamed this on a breakdown in society's conception of values.

•

The second problem was that "bureaucracy deals with rational challenges, it cannot handle the irrational upheaval of anarchy." De Gaulle simply stepped aside during the student riots in June, 1968, immobilizing the civil service.

Friedrich argued anarchism is a peculiar feature of western civilization, "because only the west has produced the bureaucratic state to which anarchy is a reaction.

"The radical individualism of the anarchist is a reaction to the modern state."

Friedrich doubted the violent repression of anarchy does any good. "The use of violence to suppress subversive acts is a threat to the preservation of the constitutional order it is trying to preserve," he said.

"The modern bureaucratic state is self-defeating," concuded Friedrich. "The only effective antidote is unbureaucratic, inspirational leadership on a wide democratic base."

•

But he said he was more pessimistic than he had been in his youth. And he feared that bureaucracy would fall back on the easy solution of accepting existing leadership.

"The forced conclusion is in the direction of something which transcends both anarchy and bureaucracy — genuine democracy."

Nixon Ends Deferments For Draft

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Nixon Thursday eliminated all future occupational military-draft deferments for 19- to 26-year-olds by executive order and asked Congress for authority to end all student deferments as soon as possible.

In a special message to Congress, the president also reiterated his intention to move toward an all-volunteer military service and asked for pay increases to aid such a move.

Nixon said he could give no precise date for the end of the draft.

By his executive order, the president announced that he was eliminating, starting today, future occupational deferments for young men in the age group from 19 to 26. Those who now have occupational deferments—police and firemen for example—will retain them, but no more will be granted, the president said.

Nixon cannot eliminate student deferments by executive order, but he asked Congress to give him such authority as soon as possible.

Roman Wants Stockpiling Extended

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Steven B. Roman, chairman of Denison Mines Ltd. of Toronto, said Thursday night the federal government should extend its uranium-stockpiling program to ensure the future of the uranium industry and the communities dependent upon it.

About 800 residents of this mining community listened as Roman, criticized Ottawa's decision in March to forbid the sale of controlling interest in Denison to a United States-controlled corporation.

Roman noted the Denison mine is operating at only one-third capacity and that it cannot afford to continue its stockpiling program.

The company has been "working hard to find the economic answers to permit us to continue our full-force operation" and had thought the answer lay in a merger with Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Co. Ltd., which is controlled by Continental Oil Ltd. of Delaware.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Exporter buying in oilseeds boosted prices substantially in most futures today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Flax drew just a moderate activity as offers were thin.

Action in rye picked up near the close with some exporter buying. The strength also reflected a firm Chicago market.

Domestic interests were dealers in oats and barley.

Lakehead prices for Class Two and IGA wheat all were unchanged.

Currency Futures Traded

NEW YORK (WP) — The world's first futures market in foreign currencies opened here Thursday, attended by a small crowd and high hopes.

The International Commercial Exchange, an offshoot of the N.Y. Produce Exchange, recorded its first trade shortly after the opening bell at 11 a.m., when $10,000 worth of British pounds changed hands at $2.3825 per pound, for delivery in September, 1971.

By the end of the day, trades also had been recorded in Japanese yen, West German marks, Italian Lira and Swiss francs. French francs, which are also listed for trading, saw no action.

At the opening ceremonies, Prof. Robert Triffin, of Yale University, the speaker at the opening, said he thought the new market might create more interest in currency trading, but added, "I hope it doesn't prompt people to bet on foreign exchange as they did on gold."

He said that, because of the growth in the market for Eurodollars — American dollars held by foreigners — and the sharp rise in Eurodollar interest rates, government monetary managers have lost control of the markets.

I.T.L.

A drop in net income after a rise in sales last year is reported by I.T.L. Industries Ltd., of Windsor, which changed its accounting procedures to reflect production costs more accurately.

Sales were $16.45 million, up from $14.34 million, and income before extraordinary items was $765,499 compared with $806,965, or 36 cents a share against 47 cents.

After extraordinary items, net income was $907,527 (45 cents) compared with $1.02 million (62 cents) adjusted.

Getty Oil

Getty Oil Co. reports 1970 first quarter consolidated net income from world-wide operations was $23 million or $1.15 per share compared with $29.88 million or $1.47 per share a year ago.

George F. Gerty II, executive vice-president and chief operating officer, said factors contributing to lower 1970 first quarter earnings were higher costs and taxes, and lower prices.

Getty said the impact of 1969 tax legislation, which increased consolidated income taxes, lowered consoidated earnings for the first quarter by $2.5 million, or 13 cents per share.

Consolidated sales and other revenues for the 1970 first quarter were $320.99 million compared with 1969 first quarter consolidated sales of $301 million.

Lornex Problems To Be Resolved

LONDON (CP) — Sir Val Duncan, chairman of giant Rio Tinto-Zinc Corp., spoke optimistically of its outlook in Canada at a news conference in connection with release of its 1969 financial report early Friday.

Duncan, whose company controls or is associated with several huge Canadian firms, said:

- He thinks that in the next few days the "problem" of Lornex Mining Corp. with the B.C. government over development of copper ores in B.C.'s Highland Valley will be "resolved."
- The Churchill Falls hydro-electric project in Labrador is on target and should begin turning out power on the due date in 1972.
- Atlas Steel at Welland, Ont., a subsidiary of RTZ-controlled Rio Algom, should have an improved year as modernization continues.
- Though RTZ's potash operations in Saskatchewan have had a "traumatic" year as supplies rose and world mrkets shrank, the provincal government's action in propping up sales prices should have a beneficial effect.

B.C. MATTER URGENT

Duncan indicated that from the Canadian standpoint of world-ranging Rio Tinto-Zinc, the British Columbia operation is the one of most immediacy.

The $123,600,00 operation of Lornex, partly owned by Rio Algom and due to get into production in 1972, has committed the whole of its copper concentrate output for 12 years to a Japanese consortium helping in the financing.

Lornex does not plan a smelter and the "problem" mentioned by Sir Val is that the B.C. legislature has passed legislation requiring copper producers in the province to provide ore for a B.C. smelter if one is ever established there.

Duncan, who visited B.C. recently, described the provincial policy as "reasonable." He said Lornex itself made a feasibility study of the prospects of a smelter but found it uneconomic, partly because of expense of waste disposal to conform with the B.C. anti-pollution legislation.

Discussing the potash situation in Saskatchewan—where RTZ has a big stake at the Allan Mine near Saskatoon—Duncan said he thinks it will be some some time before the whole field of potash is profitable to producers.

SAYS RESERVES LARGE

He said RTZ is not werrying—the Allan Mine has reserves enough for 150 years—and "one really has to wait until the market gets better."

He offered a cheering note for the Saskatchewan operation by saying that the company is in no hurry to bring a proposed operation in Yorkshire, England, into production.

"We wouldn't bring it in with the world potash supply in its present state," he said. He guessed at 1976 or later for the beginning of output.

Of Churchill Falls, Duncan said that there are obvious construction problems but none of them are intractable.

"The first units should come into stream on the due date in 1972," he added.

Rio Tinto-Zinc's annual statement showed group profit before tax of £69,654,000 ($181,100,00) of which Rio Algom and its subsidiaries contributed £2,979,000 ($7,747,000). The overall figure showed an increase of £15,936,000 ($41,443,000) over 1968.

Retained profit after taxes and dividends was £9,091,000, compared with £8,817,000 in 1968.

servant and throughout carried out Ojukwu's orders. Could he not have voiced his opposition to secession in most of the meetings he held with Ojukwu's governing bodies? Of course not; nobody dared to. What did he plan to do now? Well, he is still a civil servant, so any job the federal government gave him, he was ready to do.

Saddened By War

Sir Francis Ibiam returned saddened by the havoc the "unfortunate" war caused and now ready to contribute his quota to rebuilding a strong and united Nigeria.

Earlier, many other Ibo leaders had tried, through the mass media, to exonerate themselves from any complicity in the Biafra attempt. They also said they did whatever they did on orders or they would have been shot.

Leaders Blamed

Ibo youths, however, took these leaders to task for what they considered cheapening to their race and more important, unnecessary. In articles in Nigerian newspapers, they asked if Ojukwu singlehandedly could have done what he did without support from the natural rulers and intellectuals — and most of all, kept Biafra on for 30 months — against the might of federal troops. One irate Ibo youth asked: "Could Ojukwu have been the head of the army, the director of Biafra's effective propaganda machinery, the boss of the land army (Biafra's farmers' corps), the chief of research and production department (which produced petrol, crude hand grenades and land mines)? These people should spare us the trouble of listening to the trash they dish out. General Gowon has said there is amnesty for all so please let them shut their traps. After all, we all know what everybody did during the war."

U.S. Gives Firm Approval for Testing Of Controversial Anti-Cancer Drug

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has given approval for the testing on humans of a highly controversial anti-cancer drug, one the FDA long has refused to license.

The drug is Laetrile, the proprietary name for amygdalin, a chemical derived from apricot pits.

While the drug's supporters claim great benefits among cancer patients, the American Cancer Society lists Laetrile among "unproven" drugs and says its students find no objective evidence of benefit from it. Other cancer authorities have called it "dubious" or "worthless."

Under federal law, the FDA has banned sale and use of Laetrile because it has not gone through the process of legal and orderly testing to show that it is effective and safe, an FDA spokesman said. He said this applies to all drugs, and that these requirements protect the health of people because otherwise anyone could prepare a batch of chemicals and claim it helped cure a disease.

The FDA gave permission for the first step toward any approval—the clinical testing—by granting a number to an investigative new drug application filed April 6 by the McNaughton Foundation of Sausalito, Calif.

This does not mean the FDA has made any judgment as to the worth or safety of the drug, the FDA official said. It means only that the proposal to investigate it in humans met certain requirements stipulated by the FDA.

These include the names and qualifications of physicians who will conduct human studies, requirements for data-keeping, and general outline for the proposed studies. The McNaughton application also included results of drug tests in animals, and its report on results with human patients in other countries where the drug has been used legally.

The drug is being made legally available only for the clinical studies, not for general use among any cancer patients.

FESTIVAL'S MAJOR AWARDS PRESENTED

Medallion

Rose Bowl

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Several major awards in the Victoria Music Festival were settled Thursday night in a program which drew a capacity audience to First United Fellowship Hall.

Climax of the evening were the competitions for the two traditional trophies — the Rose Bowl and City of Victoria Medallion.

OUTSTANDING

The Rose Bowl competition is open to outstanding performers selected by the adjudicator from adult vocal solo classes. Rankin Bushby had chosen three — soprano Susan Word and mezzos Andrea Mellis and Evelyn Westinghouse.

A fine performance of the brilliant aria, Una voce poca fa from Rossini's opera, The Barber of Seville, won the trophy for Miss Westinghouse.

There were only two competitors for the Medallion, which is for winners of all open piano classes, as Susan de Burgh and Frances Crampton between them had shared all the open "firsts."

Both pianists were in excellent form Thursday, but by "the unanimous decision" of the adjudicators the Medallion was awarded to Susan for her exquisite Bach performance.

These two winners will appear on the Festival Highlights program at McPherson Playhouse, Saturday.

Special junior and senior Beethoven bicentenary classes preceded the trophy events.

Competing in the junior section were pianists Mary Chard, Heather Attwell and Diane Crowther, vocalists Hilary Scott, Linda Scanlan, Jennifer Angus and Robin Powell and harpist Annabelle Burrows.

"Everyone likes this type of competition by the adjudicators," said Sidney Harrison in making the award. "But it is an almost impossible task to compare performers who are in many ways not to be compared."

SHORT TIME TO TRAIN

He pointed out that junior singers can only have had an extremely short training period whereas violinists and pianists of the same age can have had several years.

Mary Chard was named winner of this section.

Pianist Linn Hendry, violinist Jacqueline Tarry and vocalists Lynden Felton, Madeleine Groos and Andrea Mellis were the competitors in the senior section.

The winner was Jacqueline Tarry who had also, last week, won the major strings award, the Congress of Strings scholarship.

Both these girls will be appearing Saturday night and in May will go to Vancouver to compete in the B.C. Beethoven finals.

Tonight's special event is the speech arts honor performance in which several outstanding performances will be repeated and there will be a winners' competition for a bursary award.

Those who have been attending the speech section at St. Ann's Academy should note that the honor performance will take place at Blanshard Street School, starting at 8.

CHORAL PROGRAM

This evening at Fellowship Hall, an all choral program will include a campfire singing competition, church choir under 16, ladies' choir and mixed choir other than church in which the Amity Singers will vie with the Wyvern Singers and The Skylarks.

St. John's Church Choir will be singing and The Arion Male Choir will conclude the program.

The session at St. John's Hall will begin with a classical guitar solo open class. There are five entries and the adjudicator is Chris Jordan, widely known Vancouver guitarist.

The balance of the evening will be given over to the last of the piano classes.

Hickel to Approve Alaskan Oil Pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel says the proposed oil pipeline across Alaska can be built without damaging the tundra and that a permit for its construction probably will be issued in the near future.

"Now, after more than a year of research, the engineering and scientific experts on our technical advisory board have established that the pipeline can be built with complete safety," he told an "Earth Day" audience Wednesday at the University of Alaska.

"The permit will be issued for the right-of-way just as soon as the terms and conditions have been agreed upon between the parties involved, and all requirements of law have been met," he said.

Conservationists have opposed construction of the pipeline across Alaska for fear of environmental damage to the Arctic tundra. The proposed 800-mile pipeline would extend from Prudhoe Bay to the Port of Valdez.

"I can guarantee that we will not approve any design based on the old faulty concept of 'Build Now, Repair Later'," he said. "Further, our detailed examination of the pipeline specifications will continue to include review by our wildlife experts to insure that migratory patterns, such as those of the caribou, are not seriously altered."

Plans also call for "thorough consideration to all other ecological factors to make certain that the pipeline can never become an environmental disaster," he said.

Canada's Flag Copied From Peru Charges Red Ensign Supporter

Canada's Maple Leaf flag was copied from the flag of Peru, it was stated in B.C. Supreme Court Chambers here Thursday.

The allegation was made by George Burnham, 79, of 620 Cook Street, in his claim that proclamation of the maple leaf flag by the government in Ottawa is "null and void."

He is president and founder of Our Flags of the Century Association.

Gordon Anderson, representing the federal justice department, said Burnham's argument that the design for Canada's flag was "lifted" from Peru was irrelevant.

NO LAW

"Even if it were true," Anderson said, "there was nothing in law to say this could not be done unless the Peruvian government objected."

Burnham, who has long campaigned for restitution of the Red Ensign as Canada's national flag, petitioned the Supreme Court of Canada to declare the maple leaf flag illegal.

Through his counsel, Dr. J. J. Gow, Burnham argued that the royal proclamation made in 1965 was supported only by a motion which passed through the Senate and the House of Commons in Ottawa.

"There was no federal statute making it law," Gow said.

Burnham wore a Royal Canadian Legion beret and blazer when his petition was presented to Mr. Justice J. G. Ruttan in Supreme Court chambers.

Several other Legion members, including two disabled veterans, attended with him.

Mr. Justice Ruttan reserved judgment.

Burnham claimed that the proclamation announcing the maple leaf flag was unsupported by law. It merely stated that the Queen's subjects be required to take notice of the proclamation and govern themselves accordingly.

The proclamation was signed by the Queen.

In his argument before Mr. Justice Ruttan, Gow said the Queen's recognition of a new flag, submitted to her by the Canadian government, was "entirely without legal compulsion."

Gow asked Mr. Justice Ruttan to make a declaration that the proclamation was not binding upon Canadian citizens.

QUESTIONS RIGHT

Mr. Justice Ruttan questioned whether he, as a justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, had the right to make a ruling or impose an injunction that would be effective on a national scale.

Gow argued that, theoretically, Mr. Justice Ruttan had. He added that the maple leaf proclamation infringes the private rights of Canadian citizens.

"Assuming the proclamation was valid in technique." counsel said, "it is ineffectual because it is not part of the statute law of Canada.

"Furthermore it was made under royal prerogative and, as such, had no legal compulsion."

Gow said Burnham had merely to allege that his own personal rights were affected to bring a petition to court.

Anderson for the federal justice department asked that Burnham's petition be struck out and the action dismissed.

He questioned Burnham's right to bring such an action.

SHOW LOSS

"A private citizen would have to show that he suffered loss or injury by proclamation of the new flag," Anderson said.

In reply, Gow argued that Burnham could conceivably suffer property damage or injury because of his persistent attacks on Canada's flag.

Anderson said only the federal attorney-general had the right to take action against a royal proclamation.

"Before the plaintiff can seek an injunction against the government, he must show there has been personal interference with his individual rights," counsel said.

Anderson argued the Burnham's interest in the new flag was "neither more nor less than that of any other citizen of Canada."

Gow said the new flag was a matter of concern to a great number of people across Canada.

Mr. Justice Ruttan said he found the arguments "very interesting." He would give them careful consideration before making a decision.

PRINCESS ANNE SNUBS AUSTRALIAN STUDENTS

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Students protesting Australia's treatment of the aborigines jostled around Princess Anne at the National University here today but she told them, "What's it got to do with me?"

The princess told the students she could not see the connection between her visit and the aborigines campaign for land rights.

The princess also refused the offer of a Vietnam moratorium campaign badge and refused to sign a petition for higher allowances for teacher trainees.

Hundreds of students and staff gathered to see the princess as she arrived at the university to inspect a new library and have discussions with some students.

Accuracy Plan Out, Says Senator

BOSTON (AP) — President Nixon informed Senator Edward W. Brooke last Dec. 29 that he dropped a program designed to increase accuracy of the MIRV missile to allay Soviet fears, the Boston Globe says.

The newspaper says the decision was taken on grounds "that improved accuracy might give the Russians the impression the United States was preparing a first strike against the Soviet Union."

MIRV is an acronym for multiple independently-targetable re-entry vehicle. It involves a concept of one missile with more than one warhead, each aimed at a different target.

The Globe, quoting a spokesman for the Massachusetts Republican, says Brooke intends to take the Senate floor to commend the president for "undertaking a major measure of strategic restraint." Brooke has opposed deployment of MIRVs.

Budget Passes With Passing Glance

By GERARD McNEIL

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Edgar Benson's March 12 budget, which didn't levy new taxes, was given a passing glance Thursday as the Commons ended a six-day budget debate with the emphasis on pet peeves.

The House didn't bother to vote formally on the budget when the debate ended. Instead it passed on division—indicating dissent—a motion approving in general Mr. Benson's policies.

The sharpest criticism came from Robert Thompson (PC—Red Deer), who said the budget was balanced at the expense of provincial and municipal needs.

He and Marvin Howe (PC—Wellington) also said the two-percent social development tax was to raise funds for medical care insurance and was being misused to balance the budget.

Mr. Benson estimated a 1970-71 surplus of $250,000,000 on revenue of $13,150,000,000 and spending of $12,900,000.

PM CRITICIZED

Prime Minister Trudeau and Health Minister John Munro came in for more criticism than Mr. Benson, however.

The Commons turns today to a bill amending the Canada Shipping Act.

Lorne Nystrom (NDP—Yorkton-Melville) said Mr. Trudeau has done more to harm national unity than any other prime minister.

Mr. Nystrom, at 23 the youngest MP, said bilingualism and biculturalism are fine but the government must solve the bread-and-butter issues or face further alienation in the country. Not only Quebec but the West was questioning the federal system, he said.

The war on poverty had turned into a war on the poor as inflation was fought with unemployment, high interest rates, declining farm incomes, frozen pensions, and attempts to freeze wages.

Mr. Munro took his lumps from fellow Liberal Harold Stafford (Elgin), who said the health minister has taken a "myopic" view in saying the medical manpower situation is good in Canada.

Mr. Stafford said it isn't as good as many East European countries and is being kept at present levels only by an inflow of doctors from needy countries. He quoted a United Nations report that labelled Canada "a manpower bandit."

Developing countries would soon check the costly outflow of doctors they had trained. Meanwhile, Canadian youths who wanted to take medicine were being turned away from medical schools here.

In the Senate, the hate propaganda bill was described as an invitation to incite breaches of the peace. Senator Allister Grosart (PC—Ontario), during second reading of the bill, said an incident might be created deliberately to make a speech-maker liable to prosecution under the legislation.

Senator Grosart also said the bill should be referred to the Supreme Court of Canada to determine whether it conflicts with the Bill of Rights and whether it is really necessary to protect minorities.

In other House speeches:

—Robert Simpson (PC—Churchill) called on Ottawa to build a highway from Thompson, Man., to Churchill, on Hudson Bay, and develop the port further.

—Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) said the CBC is a propaganda instrument that presents a one-sided picture of events such as the war in Vietnam.

—Allen Sulatycky, 32, Liberal MP for Rocky Mountain, urged federal incentives to the provinces to reduce tax burdens on the dwelling of the aged.

—Norman Cafik (L—Ontario) won NDP applause in urging loosened control of bank reserves to increase Canadian control of the economy.

MEDITERRANEAN USED AS SOVIET TEST SITE

NAPLES, Italy (Reuters) — The Soviet navy, NATO experts here say, may be using the Mediterranean as a testing area for an armed fleet capable of protecting Russian merchant ships anywhere in the world.

The experts say this was one possible explanation for a considerable increase in the number of Soviet warships in the area.

'International Law Backs Arctic Bill'

NEW YORK (CP) — Three Canadian law professors said today that Canadian legislation to extend jurisdictional limits in the Arctic is only extending principles underlying widely-accepted practices of the international law of the sea.

In a statement to the annual conference of the American Society of International Law, R. St. J. Macdonald, Gerald L. Morris and Douglas M. Johnston, all professors of international law at the University of Toronto, said:

"Although the international law of the sea provides no exact precedent for the unilateral action of the Canadian government, it is easy to discover highly-relevant principles underlying widely-accepted practices, claims and decisions."

The professors cited the 1958 Geneva conference on the law of the sea which "confirmed the general acceptance of the concept" that a "coastal state may exercise exclusive authority for limited, designated purposes in a zone within modest limits and contiguous to a narrowly-conceived territorial sea."

"It may therefore be argued that a pollution zone is no less acceptable because of spatially less-modest limits if these limits are wholly appropriate to the problems of pollution and the function of environment control."

TENTATIVE AGREEMENT . . . . . . DECISION MAY 15

McLeod Cougars' Man?

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It's Jack McLeod's play. He has until May 15 before deciding if he wants to "pass" or "score."

That was the stage of the game reached Thursday by Victoria Cougars of the British Columbia Junior Hockey League in their quest for a manager-coach to replace the deposed Doug Anderson.

It's McLeod's job—if he wants it.

The former coach of Canada's national team arrived in Victoria Thursday and met at length with Cougar officials.

Managing-director Bob Reid then announced a tentative agreement had been reached on the terms of a contract but McLeod requested that he be given until May 15 to make a final decision.

"We were very pleased with our discussions," added Reid. "We're all convinced he's our man. Now it's up to Jack."

McLeod, married and the father of two children—Don, 16, and Patti, 7—wants to return to his Swift Current home to make a decision. "It's a big one," he said, and much may depend upon the ease with which he can dispose his interests in Swift Current.

Acqusition of McLeod would be a great coup for Cougars. He has had several coaching offers, most of them from Eastern Canada, but obviously prefers to stay in the West. As well, it has been learned that McLeod recently was offered a "national position" by the federal government.

Great Stop by Cheevers Sealed Bruins' 5-2 Win

Bill WALKER

Picking up the pieces, or did you know that Bobby Orr won the NHL scoring championship with 120 points and never once did score a goal against Chicago Black Hawks during regular season play? He got four assists.

Terrified? Not the Hawks. Because they probably figured they could do it again. But they should have read what Emile Francis of the New York Rangers said of Orr:

"There was nothing we could do about him. Some of the things he did were fantastic. He's such an outstanding skater I don't know what any team can do to defence him."

Then he added the clincher:

"He can beat any team all by himself."

But then, perhaps the Hawks did read it. They have been in a blue funk all week.

Or would you like to have a quick flashback on the pulling-the-goalie bit that marked the final days of the NHL season? Babe Pratt, who called the NHL home, and once owned the assists recorded for defenceman, was also a coach in the far west in the latter days of his on-the-ice activity. And I suppose he was ahead of his time.

It was in the 1950 season that Babe was coaching New Westminster Royals and his team was trailing Vancouver 5-1 midway through the second period. Pratt promptly pulled his goalkeeper, Ron Pickell. The Royals managed one goal before the end of the period, and entered the final period on the short end of a 5-2 count.

Pickell was back in the nets at the start of the third, but when Vancouver beat him again, making the score, 6-2, Pratt decided enough was enough and pulled the yank-the-goalkeeper trick once more. One goal resulted fairly quickly, but then, with three minutes left, the Royals really agot the message. They pumped three more by Lucien Dechene in the Vancouver goal. The score was tied 6-6.

Pratt's secret was that the Royals had been practicing this gambit. They knew what to do with the extra man, and didn't scare at the prospect of giving up goals into the empty net.

The current issue of Sport magazine has an interesting article on all-star U.S. college basketballers. The first team is made up of Oscar Robertson, Jerry West, Bill Russell, Elgin Baylor, and Lew Alcindor. Wilt Chamberlain qualified for the third team.

And if your kid is a basketball player, and is still growing, take heed. There are at least 15 players in the NBA with salaries of $100,000 or more. Baseball, in contrast, has only seven, and in football there are only five or six. Next year, it is estimated, basketball will have 20 players in the six-figure bracket. Yes, there are still using real money.

●

Meanwhile, Victoria's Pete Duncan, a third baseman, was hitting .382 for the Washington State baseball club, and was second in RBIs with 22 at last count . . . Reggie Jackson of the Oakland AL club has a unique contract . . . terms call for $45,000 and free rent for the season . . . Al Leader, ex-president of the Western Hockey League, can't really let go . . . He is playing golf as often as he can, but "I'm dropping in at the office once or twice a week as well" he admits. He was also a visitor in San Diego when the Canucks played there . . . The Canucks' playoff participation is their 18th in 22 years of WHL action . . .

Seattle SuperSonics may have come up with a winner for next year . . . the signing of Don Kojis must help . . . He was a western all-star for two years and was very impressive when I saw him in action a year ago with San Diego . . . he was the 10th leading scorer in the NBA that season . . . football fans will be interested to learn that Ed Ost, a member of the Victoria Steelers in 1967, enjoyed special success the past season with Indianapolis. . . . He captained the Capitols to the Continental League championship . . . And, actually, Hal Laycoe is not all mad at Los Angeles . . . "It can't help but be a success there", he said . . . "Hockey will go, once they get over the Hollywood-type approach, and let the game sell itself" . . . And to the reader who asked: Garry Smith was drafted by Oakland from Toronto in 1967 . . . And yes, both Smiths (Al was the other) were here at the same time . . .

And that "Businessman's Luncheon Special" is catching on. This is a baseball gimmick and calls for a mid-day game start, 12:30, which gives the businessman a chance to take in a ball game during his lunch hour, and still have time to get back to the office before leaving for the day! The Yanks and Bosox have been using it. Now Minnesota is giving it a whirl . . . And I read somewhere, too, that exacta wagering has finally been adopted at New York tracks . . . that the Cheetah is not the world's fastest animal, the thoroughbred horse is, with the antelope next . . . that Bud Poile once thought he had the jump on the master-trader of them all, Eddie Shore. It seems that Poile, when he coached Tulsa, had a player with a broken arm. In a moment of inspiration he traded his cripple to Shore, and went home laughing. The next day, he stopped laughing. Shore's half of the trade arrived. He had a broken leg.

BOSTON (CP)—Not for 28 years has a team been down 3-0 in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup playoff and come back to win—but that's the situation facing Chicago Black Hawks.

Boston Bruins defeated the Hawks 5-2 Thursday night to go three games up on Chicago in their National Hockey League eastern final.

Sunday, at 11 a.m. PST, will be the moment of truth. If Boston wins, they'll move into the Stanley Cup final against the western playoff champions. If not, the series will move back to Chicago for one game, then alternate until a winner is decided.

Boston has won all three games by a three-goal margin—6-3, 4-1 and 5-2.

To win Thursday night, the Bruins had to come from behind for the first time against the Hawks. Chicago led 2-1 at the end of the first, but Boston pushed through three in the second and came up with a strange tally in the third.

Johnny Bucyk got two of the Bruins goals, the others coming from Wayne Cashman, Wayne Carleton and Phil Esposito. Cliff Koroll and Pit Martin scored for Chicago.

FIRST PLAYOFF GOALS

For Carleton and Koroll, it was their first goals in the playoffs.

Both coaches—Billy Reay for Chicago and Harry Sinden for Boston—picked the third period save by Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers as the turning point of the game.

The Hawks were down two goals at the time and rookie defenceman Keith Magnuson was fighting to redeem himself. He had been off on penalties each time Bucyk scored.

Then, early in the third, the young redhead cruised in, took a pass from Stan Mikita and fired on Cheevers from about 12 feet. The goalie's big left hand snaked out and grabbed the puck.

"It was a big stop . . . a big stop," Sinden said.

"We weren't playing all that well up to that point. If Magnuson had got that goal and made it 4-3, I don't know whether we could have snapped out of it and held them. If you want to talk about a turning point, I guess that was one."

Reay agreed. "It was unbelievable that it wasn't in the net. One of the greatest saves I've ever seen. Tony Esposito made one like that for us on Frank Mahovlich in Detroit and the two were on a par."

GOALIE SERENADED

Thursday was Esposito's 27th birthday and the capacity crowd—the 42nd sellout in succession in old Boston Garden—serenaded him with "happy birthday".

Chicago, which has started hard in all three games, kept the pressure on Thursday and Reay said later:

"If we can just come out like that again Sunday, the series is a long way from over."

The action was hot all night Thursday but it was the third period that was particularly frustrating for the Hawks.

First Magnuson missed the best scoring opportunity of the night on Cheevers' glove save, then he was robbed again when the goalie, out of position, got his big goal stick up to flick a net-bound puck into the crowd.

Then came the final humiliation.

With a minute to go, Reay pulled Tony Esposito for a sixth attacker.

The clock showed only 21 seconds left in the game when Bucyk cleared down the ice. Martin ended up with the puck; there was the flash of a poke check and, as Martin tried to control the puck, it dribbled off his stick into the Chicago net.

Phil Esposito was credited with the goal—his 11th of the playoffs, which puts him one goal away from the single-season record held by Jean Beli[illegible]u and Maurice Richard.

Stout Checking Helps Pittsburgh Turn Tide

PITTSBURGH (CP)—Pittsburgh Penguins, backed by a record sellout crowd of 12,923, turned the tide in their Stanley Cup semi-final playoff Thursday by borrowing a few pages from St. Louis Blues' play book.

The Penguins used the hard body-checking style of the Blues to effectively bottle St. Louis up in its own end of the rink while scoring the first three goals. The same checking made the three goals stand up for a 3-2 win, which cut the Blues lead in the best-of-seven series to 2-1.

Tough checking and early goals had earned the Blues 3-1 and 4-1 victories in the first two games at St. Louis. The fourth game in the series is set for here Sunday night and the fifth back in St. Louis next Tuesday.

The Penguins also did an outstanding job of killing off six minor penalties and allowed the Blues one goal during a fighting major to winger Glen Sather.

"Any time a team kills off penalties like those guys did," said coach Red Kelly of his team, "they're going to be hard to beat."

PENGUINS SCORE FIRST

Pittsburgh itself scored the first goal on a power play when right winger Ken Schinkel fired a hard shot from the point that was deflected past goalie Jacques Plante.

"The big blow was that first goal," said Blues' coach Scotty Bowman.

"I was worried about this game because we had a tough series with Minnesota and two rough games against the Penguins. I think our team looked a little tired tonight."

Rookie centre Michel Briere was the night's best player as he set up one other Pittsburgh goal by Jean Pronovost and scored one himself.

He carried the puck in behind the Blues goal and fought off a pair of St. Louis defenders to lay a pass out to Pronovost, who was parked in front of the net, and Plante had no chance on the quick shot.

Three minutes later, the Penguins again had the power play-play advantage. Briere pounced on a loose puck near the blue line and fired a hard shot. Plante appeared to catch the puck but it dribbled through his pads into the goal.

"We knew he was a good hockey player," Bowman said of Briere. "He's pretty fast. And he looks so much better than any other player they have because they are mostly a defensive team."

Larry Keenan scored twice for the Blues. His first goal came on the power play early in the third period when he moved in on the right wing for a clear shot at Les Binkley.

He got the second, and his fifth of the playoffs, about four minutes later when he pounced on a loose puck directly in front of Binkley and fired a quick shot past the Penguins' goalie.

The persistent checking of the Penguins held the Blues in their own zone through most of the remaining minutes. Bowman pulled Plante out of goal in favor of an extra attacker with a minute and 20 seconds left in the game, but the Blues couldn't get a clear shot at Binkley.

Through the whole contest, the Blues had only 16 shots at Binkley, while the Penguins tried 27 at Plante.

Big Clash Set Back One Week

Victoria O'Keefes have finally won a conflict with Pacific Coast Soccer League officials.

Scheduled to meet Vancouver Columbus at Vancouver's Callister Park Sunday in the second game of a two-game, total-goal series for the league's playoff title, O'Keefes were asked to play at 7 p.m. instead of 2 p.m. as originally planned.

O'Keefes protested that the late start would prevent players from returning home in time to work the following day and after considerable debate league officials agreed to reschedule the match for the following Sunday in the afternoon.

Columbus and O'Keefes battled to a scoreless draw in the opening game. Sunday's schedule shuffle was required because Callister Park will be occupied by provincial minor soccer finals.

BAN ON ZONE DEFENCES URGED FOR CITY HOOP

A revolutionary proposal may spice the annual general meeting of the Victoria and District Amateur Basketball Association.

The VDABA meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Ingraham Hotel.

In addition to changes in the existing constitution and bylaws, a notice of motion also proposes the banning of zone defences in minor divisions.

Zone defences, if the motion is approved, would be illegal in all league and VDABA playoff games for pre-midget boys' and girls' teams.

Two Players Share Lead in Golf Event

Trudi Munro and Barbara Sutherland-Brown each fired a net 73 to share silver division honors in a women's "medal and pin" event at Victoria Golf Club.

Eileen Verley paced the bronze "B" section and three players — Allison Baker, Barbara Glassford and Phoebe Sheret — tied for first place in the bronze "B" division.

Cricket Opener

Albions and the University of Victoria will open the 1970 Victoria and District Cricket Association season Saturday at 2 p.m. when they play a friendly match at Beacon Hill.

Two Victoria-area girls have been selected to the British Columbia team which will compete in the Canadian synchronized swimming championships at Winnipeg on May 8.

The honor went to Jacquie Norbury and Nadean Zala, members of the Juan de Fuca Synchronized Swim Club for the past three years. Selections were announced following the recent provincial trials at the Simon Fraser Pool in Vancouver.

The Juan de Fuca club, now grown to a membership of 50, also will be well represented when the B.C. championships are held May 22-24 in Vancouver.

Veteran Drivers Lead

LONDON (Reuters) — Veteran crews were leading the field as the London-to-Mexico City World Cup rally cars crossed southwest France on their way to Spain early today.

Paul Coltelloni, 50, and Ido Marang, 52, the oldest two-man team in the rally, whipped their Citroen DS-21 through the twisting hilly roads of their native France to arrive at the Tournon d'Agenais control point.

They were followed by the Daimler Benz cars of Edgar Hermann and Alfred Katz of West Germany, both experienced rally drivers.

The Canadian-entered Mercedes Benz 220 of Malcolm Wilson of Brampton, Ont., was 57th in the field of 70 cars.

OUTDOORS REPORT

Thorny Issues On Game Table

By STEWART LANG

Many of the resolutions to be tabled for approval at the 14th annual B.C. Wildlife Federation convention in Trail May 20-23 could have a balming effect on ecological sore-spots within our province—if implemented in time.

Utilization of these general guidelines, which probably will be submitted later in a brief, is the sole responsibility of the provincial government.

One of the important resolutions calls for an increase in the budget allotment for wildlife resource management. It points out that the number of personnel and the amount of equipment provided to develop these wildlife resources "is totally inadequate."

An illustration of the problem is close at hand. Five conservation officers (nee game wardens) are detailed to look after the whole of Vancouver Island.

Worry about the scarcity of steelhead research and hatchery programs in B.C. has produced a resolution asking for an increase in the steelhead punchcard fee from 25 cents to $5.

Extra funds from this source could go a long way toward relieving that lack.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the largest resolution calls for a cease of land alienation in that portion of the province bounded by the Peace River, Rocky Mountain Trench, the Laird and the Alaska Highway until wildlife needs have been firmly secured.

There are three very important reasons for this proposal.

British Columbia is the sole custodian of earth's small stone sheep ranges and one-half of the province's total number is found within the Peace-Laird range. In addition, this area contains nearly one-third of all the mountain caribou and a significant portion of the remaining grizzly population of the world.

Other resolutions demand an end to the policy of leasing Crown recreational lands by aliens, introduction of a permit for outdoor use to provide funds for its administration, an increase in the number of highway waste disposal facilites and introduction of a hunting tag licence for cougar.

Joint submissions by the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association and the Vancouver Island Wildlife Assocation seek to maintain the balance of nature close to home.

One asks for the establishment of salmon reserves to rehabilitate deplettd coho salmon spawning stock as well as the building of three hatcheries for both coho and chinook (spring) salmon on some of the smaller rivers flowing into the Strait of Georgia.

The other submission requests that the Strait of Georgia and adjactnt waters be declared an underwater national marine park — to protect the "immense ecological, fisheries and recreational values" of the area.

A resolution to be tabled jointly by the VIWA and the Nanaimo and District Fish and Game Protective Association calls for an adjustment in the black brant season to allow Canadian hunters a proper share of the harvest. It further asks for an amendment of the International Migratory Birds Act of 1908 to place control of Canadian black brant seasons under control of the Canadian Wildlife Service.

It points out that the northern migration of these waterfowl has been later each year over the past 15 years and the rigid March 10 closing date is unrealistic.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most far-reaching resolution is the sole submission of the VIWA, which calls for tertiary treatment of sewage and industrial effluents from all cities, towns, villages and other high density urban and suburban, or rural residential, commercial and industrial developments by 1975.

It is further resolved that "all sewage and industrial effluent discharged in the interim period be upgraded to at least a secondary treatment level by 1973."

Penticton has already installed a tertiary treatment plant for a population roughly one-fourth that of Victoria.

Many other resolutions are scheduled to be tabled in the 33-page "Resolutions Booklet" which are also important but could not be dealt with briefly.

Those mentioned here deserve more than a passing glance by our public representatives.

THREE PLAYERS SHARE LEAD AT TALLAHASSEE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Jack McGowan, Harold Henning and Terry Dill fired five-under-par 67s to share the first-round lead in the $50,000 Tallahassee open golf tournament Thursday.

The trio grabbed a slim one-stroke advantage over Harry Toscano at 68. R. H. Sikes, John Miller and Bert Greene carded 69s over the rolling 7029-yard Killearn Country Club course.

Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg was the leading Canadian with 36-36-72. Gary Bowerman of Toronto was 37-38-75; Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver was 37-39-76; and Al Balding of Toronto came in with 39-38-77.

Cater's Spree Helps Yankees

By The Canadian Press

Danny Cater, acquired in the off-season by New York Yankees from Oakland Athletics to add bat power, proved his worth Thursday night as the Yankees clubbed Washington Senators 11-6 in one of two scheduled American League games.

Cater cracked three singles and a double, driving across three runs, to pace New York's 15-hit assault on four Washington pitchers.

Chicago White Sox outscored Minnesota Twins 7-5 in Thursday's other American League action while Pittsburgh Pirates downed Atlanta Braves 8-6 in a National League contest. A second National League game, involving Cincinnati Reds at St. Louis Cardinals, was rained out.

Cater carried a 268 batting average into the four game Washngton series and raised it to .340 with three hits Monday and three more Tuesday. But he was held hitless in eight plate visits Wednesday in an 18-inning marathon, won by the Senators 2-1, and his average dropped 47 points. Thursday's rebound moved Cater back up to .328.

Bobby Murcer contributed a double and two singles to the New York victory and the winners were issued 10 walks.

The Yankees barged in front with a five-run outburst in the third, but the Senators came right back to tie the score 5-5 in their half of the third inning, including Frank Howard's three-run homer, his third of the season. The winners pulled ahead permanently with three scores in the fourth.

Player's Game At Peak Form

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP)—"When you're playing for money," says Gary Player, "golf is a game of sorrows."

The South African professional shot a four-under-par 68 Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

"When you're playing for fun, it's fun," Player said." "But when you're playing for money, well, that's something else. You always think you can do better.

"At the end of a tournament, there's only one man who is happy. Everyone else is unhappy."

Player, the defending titleholder, held a one-stroke lead over British Open champion Tony Jacklin and Australian Bruce Crampton.

Three-time champion Arnold Palmer headed a group of four tied at 70, two-under-par on the 7,114-yard La Costa Country Club course. The others are Dale Douglass, Lee Trevino and Frank Beard.

Jack Nicklaus and Masters champion Billy Casper were in a group at 71.

Player, one of four men to sweep all the world's major golf titles, was six-under-par until he went one-over-par on two of the last three holes.

"I could have had a 63 and should have had a 66 at the very worst," Player said. "I'm playing the best golf of my career.

"I was hitting it right at the flag of every shot, just knocking it stiff."

He started a string of four birdies with an eight-footer on the ninth, canned a 12-footer on the next and rifled an iron within six feet of the 11th hole. He sank a shot from a sand trap for a birdie four on the 12th hole.

Palmer started with a rush, turning the front nine in a five-under par 31 before, as he said derisively, "I got back on my game."

TOUGH CONDITIONS . . . . . . FOR ANNUAL LOG RACE

Sailors Facing Challenge

By PAT DULFOUR

Saturday's Gulf of Georgia predicted log race, slated to start at English Bay and finish at 4 p.m. at Nanaimo could turn out to be the toughest in the 11-year history of the sailing event.

Added to the challenge of stronger tides and currents expected on this year's more exposed course, weather officials are predicting rain and fairly stiff winds with average force of 20 miles per hour and gusting up.

Winds are expected to begin as south-easterlies, veering around to north-westerlies.

Thirty-five power boats have already registered for the event and entries are still being filed.

To date, entries have been received from eight Vancouver Island boats.

They are Bob Horner's Pandora, Les Curran's Boomerang II, Jack Simpson's Senga and Frank Carson's Lady Mary, all of Royal Victoria Yacht Club; Gordon Carter's Royal Lady and Bob Curran's Timisit 11, both of Capital City Yacht Club; Robert Littlejohn's Miss Anchorage and Ernie Harding's Playmate, both of the Nanaimo Yacht Club.

In contrast to other Gulf of Georgia races, this one will find the boats sailing much of the 60-mile course in exposed waters.

★ ★ ★

Steaming out of Vancouver harbor, the boats will work their way up Howe Sound to Bowen Island. From there they will set a course up the coast to Mary Island, crossing across the Gulf from there to the finish line at Nanaimo.

If weather predictions prove correct some of the smaller, light-displacement hulls may find themselves in trouble as seas and winds rise.

Under light weather conditions these faster boats, which are less affected by tider, have a distinct advantage over slower heavy-displacement hulls.

This year, the tables may well be turned.

BOWLER OF WEEK

Later than last season when she won in first week, Anne Goodman returned to Times Bowler-of-the-Week winner's circle for fifth straight time in 26th and final week of current competition. Anne toppled maples for 164-229-221—614 series in Ladies Classic League at Mayfair Lanes to top division and earn berth in "Bowler-of-the-Year" roll-offs on May 10.

Off-Track Betting Legal in New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Wednesday signed a bill legalizing off-track betting which New York City officials hope they can parlay into a $200,000,000-a-year business.

The gambling measure, which makes New York and Nevada the only states to legalize betting parlors, was part of a series of revenue measures designed to aid financially strapped New York City. Rockefeller signed the bill without comment.

Although other cities in the state may eventually decide to open their own betting rooms, New York City is the only municipality immediately authorized to begin working on an off-track system. However, the average $2 bettor in the city probably will not be able to place a wager, at least legally, until September.

New York City's mayor John V. Lindsay Tuesday named a special four-man task force to draw up plans for the off-track system. One of the officials, assistant budget director James Cavanah, said about 100 betting parlors probably will be opened in the city, allowing the horse fan to place bets from $2 to $100 on any race in the country.

Bets cannot be placed by telephone, or on a credit basis although there had been talk of a possible deposit system whereby funds could be left with a betting establishment. The betting parlors could establist their own betting pools or tie in with pari-mutuel systems at race tracks.

It was not immediately possible to determine how heavily the profits of organized crime will be hurt by the measure. However, illegal gambling has long been a main money maker for the Mafia.

Although the betting parlors will not open in New York City until September, city officials have predicted $50,000,000 in profits this year, and say they expect to raise about $200,000,000 yearly thereafter.

The five-team league will open with two league games and an exhibition. Oak Bay Crusaders will play Hornets in the opener, starting at 1 p.m., while Saanich Chargers meet Knights of Columbus at 2:30.

Juan de Fuca Tigers, the fifth entry, will meet Hornets' "B" squad in the exhibition.

The season winds up with the league's championship final on June 28.

PARCHMENT SCROLL honoring almost three decades in public life and 17 years as premier of B.C. is presented to Premier W. A. C. Bennett by Chamber of Commerce president Clare Copeland (centre) and vice-president Phillip Holmes (right).

City Chamber Honors Bennett Leadership in B.C.

"... For having been a member of the Legislative Assembly since 1941, for 17 continuous, loyal and outstanding years as the prime minister of British Columbia, for holding his office longer than any previous prime minister of the province ... for his untiring efforts in leading the province towards its ultimate high destiny ..."

These words were written on a scroll presented Thursday night to the most successful politician in the history of B.C.—William Andrew Cecil Bennett.

The occasion was a testimonial dinner given in the 69-year-old premier's honor at the Empress Hotel by the Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

STANDING OVATION

More than 300 present gave the beaming premier a standing ovation as Philip Holmes, vice-president of the Chamber, presented him with the framed scroll and a set of luggage, which contained a tape recording of the evening's proceedings.

Waves of applause wafted over a head table which included Highways Minister Wesley Black, Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock, B.C. Ferries general manager Monty Aldous and long-time friend Pasquale "Cap" Capozzi of Kelowna, father of Vancouver-Centre MLA Herb Capozzi.

EARLY DAYS

Capozzi reminisced about the pair's early days in Kelowna where Bennett owned a hardware store and Capozzi a grocery.

"I remember when this man used to come around to the back of my store and we would talk. As we talked, he would do nothing but eat the peanuts. Tonight I have come to collect the money for my peanuts."

Earlier, the premier received congratulatory phone calls from former lieutenant-governors Wallace, Ross and Pearkes and the present Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson. Telegrams came from former prime ministers St. Laurent, Diefenbaker, Pearson and Prime Minister Trudeau.

'... SEE GREATNESS'

In response, the premier said, "It does something warm to a person in a democracy such as ours when someone rises above petty politics and can see the greatness of our province and our country ... the beauty of being premier is that one gets credit for all the good that is done, while the ministers get all the blame for the bad."

Command Performance By a Modern Belle

By A. B. KENT

The mythical Mariposa Belle could not have put on a better show for the hundreds who turned out Thursday for the commemorative sailing of B.C. Ferries' stretched Queen of Victoria.

Almost as though Stephen Leacock wrote the script, a colorful array of guests trooped aboard for a waterfront cruise lasting nearly one hour and 20 minutes, a brief but fitting introduction of the city's namesake to its citizen-owners.

•

Remember the Mariposa Belle, that doughty excursion ship in Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town from a Canada-that-was? It made a delightful summer cruise some 60 years ago and is still sailing in translations read around the world.

But while Mariposa Belle met near-disaster, the Queen of Victoria performed splendidly — it was the people you noticed.

There was the band, brassy and bright, sending the crowd off at Black Ball dock like that earlier aggregation of oompah artists in Leacock's legend; there was the Chamber of Commerce, with an eye peeled for tourist potential, reminiscent of the burghers of Mariposa; there was the political retinue, led by Premier Bennett and a couple of cabinet ministers, with a goodly sprinkling of partisans; many took their wives — it was a gala occasion — and they eyed each other as they are prone to do at such times, perhaps because of the apparel that ranged from chic to eeuch, from pant suit to pretty-near-up-to-here.

They all smiled and said how nice it was, all 429 feet of ferry, longer by 84 feet than when she was launched at VMD 8½ years ago.

Since November, Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver has been stripping, adding, refurbishing, painting, changing decor, laying foot-soothing broadloom from bridge to cafeteria, and making room for 60 additional autos on an echoingly cavernous car deck. For $2.5 million.

•

The result is QV III, a study, swift, utilitarian but comfortable evolution of Mariposa Belle, the wooden old tub that leaked a little, overlaoded with about half the numbers carried Thursday afternoon.

"Enjoying it?" some asked the premier.

"Terrific. Why not?" he grinned, famously.

The question might have been answered the same way by any of the 250 aboard. Everybody was a celebrity for that little while, not just the builder or the cabinet ministers, but the clerks from the ferry authority, the workaday store managers, even the crew.

> Stripping, > adding,
> painting
> QV 111

•

From the moment an 18-piece section of Canadian Forces Base Esquimalt band blasted off with upbeat Montego Bay, a holiday mood took over. More Carribean stuff followed, but when the premier and his party arrived at 3.35, the band was offering Hearts of Oak.

Signal bunting snapped in a brisk southeaster and Capt. R. J. Pollock slipped the great bulk skillfully into the harbor.

As Bennett stepped into the midships lounge a five-piece combo played weakly When the Saints Go Marching In, then disappeared.

As QV III drew abeam of Bapco paint, the factory siren began whooping it up, adding a Portsmouth touch to the event.

Three tugs — Island Comet, Island Rocket and St. Anthony — tagged along to frame the ship in plumes from their fire nozzles, and off Brotchie Ledge the minesweepers Manamichi and Cowichan waited to take over as escorts to Trial Island back.

•

On the two main decks, the afternoon guests peered, poked and pried through three three lounge areas, a new sclarium, new dining room, rebuilt cafe, even wandering through Capt. Pollock's spacious bridge.

As the ship re-approached Ogden Point, the premier and some of the passengers gathered on the bridge as John Case, one of the design team, presented Bennett with a Dale Mathews painting of the ship.

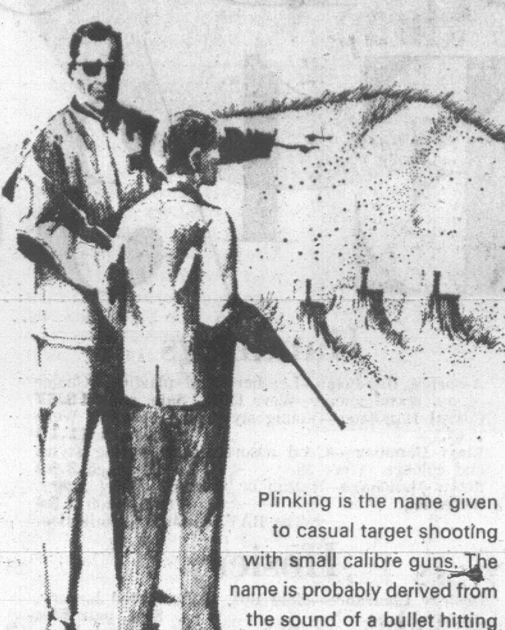
They were struck by a large ceramic tile screen in the dining lounge, depicting the legislative buildings, also the work of Mathews and manufactured in coppery glaze by Haida Tile, of north Vancouver, the vessel's obet d'art.

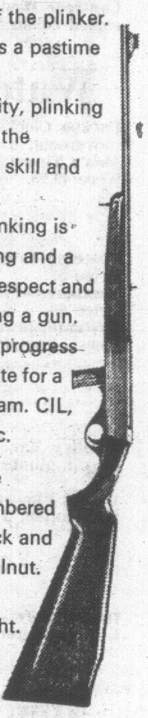
Fully crewed, the renewed Queen entered Swartz Bay — Tsawwassen service Wednesday, cut out for her Victoria command performance, and today was back in harness as flagship of the 23-vessel fleet.

•

If she needed a benediction it was given by Bennett, who at the urging of a photographer scanned the horizon with a pair of binoculars and said:

"I see clear weather ahead, captain."





Plinking for pleasure.

Plinking is the name given to casual target shooting with small calibre guns. The name is probably derived from the sound of a bullet hitting a tin can, the traditional target of the plinker.

Plinking offers many pleasures as a pastime for the individual or group.

Besides being a year round activity, plinking is inexpensive, relaxing, and offers the personal satisfaction of developing skill and accuracy with a gun.

But probably more important, plinking is an excellent introduction to shooting and a way of teaching new shooters the respect and responsibility needed when handling a gun.

For information on how you can progress from plinking to target shooting, write for a copy of CIL Shooting Sports Program. CIL, P.O. Box 10, Montreal 101, Quebec.

The CIL Model 470. A handsome automatic with clip magazine, chambered for 22 long rifle. Its chequered stock and fore-end is finished in dark, rich walnut. It also has a hooded ramp foresight and a fold down adjustable rear sight. An ideal rifle for small game, pests and plinking.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1970 —PAGE 21

Jaycees Stationed on Top Floor Of Historic Emily Carr Mansion

By PAT DUFOUR

A duplicating machine and other office equipment have replaced the furnishings that once filled the bedrooms where Emily Carr and her sisters were born and raised.

A few days ago the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce moved out of its rented quarters on Douglas and took over the six rooms on the top floor of 207 Government, the birthplace of B.C.'s most famous painter.

The house is due to be opened to the public June 5 and is being restored as a joint financial project between the Jaycees and the federal government.

•

George Nairn, chairman of the Jaycees' Emily Carr Foundation, estimated that by that date $65,000 will have been spent on the project.

Of this amount, $25,000 has been contributed by the federal government, whose historic sites and monuments board has classified the old home as being of national historic significance.

The home was saved from demolition in 1966 when Victoria MP David Groos bought it for $15,000 as a delaying tactic.

Jerry Gosley, as co-ordinator of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society in 1967, persuaded the Jaycees to take on the home as a project.

They paid $17,500, the increased price covering overdue taxes.

Since that time the Jaycees have worked toward the official opening day.

Gradually the home is being brought back to life under the guidance of architect Peter Cotton. One discovery was a boarded-up fireplace in a main floor room where, according to Emily Carr's writings, her father cooked Sunday dinners over a spit.

•

Because of high costs, only four of the seven rooms on the main floor will be ready for the public by the opening date.

Nairn reports that the progress has been slowed by the need for careful research in order to bring the house back, as closely as possible, to the days when Emily Carr used to scandalize her sisters by sneaking off to the barn to have a smoke.

There are some innovations unheard of when Emily Carr was born in the California redwood house Dec. 13, 1871.

•

Electric heat units have been installed in every room, many in the ceilings and some in the fireplaces downstairs. A modern kitchen and bathroom have been built on the top floor.

Many of the aging walls have been preserved by installing linen over the crumbling plaster. The Jaycees are hoping to get donations that will help them cover the walls of one main floor room with a copy of the original wallpaper.

Their pleas for tax exemption fell on deaf ears at city hall but crews from the city's parks department are landscaping the garden and will plant it with shrubs and flowers similar to those the artist and her family enjoyed.

Victorian light fixtures have been garnered for every room but the house will have to wait for furniture to help bring it back to life. The Jaycees are hoping that donations of Victorian pieces will soon help make the rooms look less barren.

•

Seventeen copies of the artist's paintings have been ordered, 11 of them 30 by 40 inches, the remainder, 20 by 24 inches.

But, for the opening says president Stan Wallace, the Jaycees hope to borrow some of the Carr paintings now hanging in the Victoria and Vancouver galleries.

Along with the paintings, arranged to show a span of 10 years' work in each room, will be display biographies of the artist's life.

Nairn explains that only school children and specialized groups will be able to view the house after the official opening until July 17. Then it will be opened to the general public for a nominal fee, designed to cover operating costs.

Next Battle Of Smith's Hill Set for May 14

The battle of Smith's Hill was adjourned Thursday without city council making a decision on a rezoning application to build 122 apartment suites near Spencer Castle.

Council listened to both sides for more than an hour, and then adjourned the public hearing to May 14 in the hopes of a compromise between the developer, Danzo and Franco Holdings, and its opponents — the residents of single-family houses in the area.

Seventy-five persons attended the hearing, nearly all of them concerned about this issue.

The residents, represented by lawyer Bob Hutchison, held an informal meeting in an adjoining committee room but no compromise appeared.

'PUT OUT'

Hutchison said later he feels the residents are being "put out" because it costs money to take time off work to attend day-time meetings. A public hearing earlier this month was delayed until Thursday because full council wasn't present.

"They are prepared to look at the proposed plans but feel the area should be developed for single family residences," he said.

"We have discussed room to compromise but this does not look bright. The residents feel council and the planning department have not given full consideration to development on a single-family basis."

$70,000 ANNUALLY

The hearing was told by public relations man Gordon Root, appearing for the developer, that tax revenue of $70,000 a year on the $2.5 million apartment would be more than double the tax revenue of single-family houses.

There would also be higher municipal maintenance costs for services to houses and while the apartment would pay full school taxes, rentals in the $200-plus a month range were not within reach of the average family.

Root said that the majority of residents in the area do not oppose the planned apartment, where the suites would be sold and not rented.

QUIET FOLKS

He produced [illegible]etition of 74 persons from 60 properties against the residents' petition of 64 signatures from 39 properties.

Hutchison told the hearing the residents are "normally quiet, unassuming citizens who live a normal life in a neighborhood that they enjoy and which is almost semi-rural. They very naturally don't want an apartment development built above their backyards.

"They are appealing to you to put a stop to what they regard as bad planning, bad economics and bad morals. I say bad morals because most of the residents of Montrose Avenue who complain about this development purchased their lots from the city of Victoria in the early 1960s.

SINGLE FAMILY

"At that time they were given every indication by the city of Victoria that the remaining lots to the north of them would be kept for single-family dwellings and would be put on the market as soon as the city could afford to put in the improvements."

He said increases in such services as garbage collection and fire protection would offset the increased assessments. The prospect of an extra 244 cars running up and down The Rise "horrifies my clients."

He Won't Give Up

Amalgamation died without a comment at city council Thursday.

But Ald. Clyde Savage, who initiated the move to seek inter-municipal talks on the advantages and disadvantages of amalgamation or merged services, said later he isn't giving up.

"I think that eventually Dan Campbell (minister of municipal affairs) through the regional board or some other way will see these municipalities act together.

He said it is "unfortunate" that Oak Bay and Esquimalt didn't want to discuss the situation. Only Saanich of the Greater Victoria municipalities (other than Victoria) was prepared to.

March on Dock Set Saturday

A Victoria-based protest group plans to march on the Black Ball ferry terminal Saturday afternoon to demonstrate against the planned shipment of nerve gas from Okinawa through Juan de Fuca Strait to Bangor, Wash.

Bob Munro, chairman of Operation Nerve Gas, said the march will follow a program of speeches to be given at the Trans-Canada Highway's Mile 0 marker in Beacon Hill Park.

Black Ball terminal was singled out as the target for the demonstration because U.S. ferries dock there and it represents the Canada-U.S. border, Munro said.

More than 2,000 persons demonstrated at the same terminal last October to protest the detonation of an American nuclear device on Amchitka Island in the North Pacific.

Munro said he does not feel American visitors to Victoria will take offence to the demonstration because of the many protests to the shipment made by American residents of Oregon and Washington.

P.A.N.G. SPEAKER

Scheduled to speak as the pre-march meeting are Ralph Freedman, executive secretary of P.A.N.G. (People Against Nerve Gas) from Portland, Ore., and Dr. Miriam Benston, a biochemist from Simon Fraser University who will speak about the nature of nerve gas and the possible effects of a spill.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at noon with the march to the terminal coinciding with the arrival of the Black Ball ferry from Port Anteles at 1:00 p.m.

PETITION

A petition will be circulated at the meeting asking that President Nixon either cancel or re-route the shipment of gas.

In Olympia, Washington Governor Dan Evans said that he has received no indication from Defence Secretary Melvin Laird that the shipment plans have been changed in any way.

Evans also said he still thinks the chances of a suit he and Oregon Governor Tom McCall filed in federal court seeking to block the shipment is "pretty much of a long shot."

Council Should Decide Expenditures – Voter

At least one city voter says he will oppose the $6.3 million capital budget referendum April 30.

Jack McKenzie, 1421 Taunton, said in a letter to Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock that although it is a requirement of the Municipal Act, he thinks council itself should make such decisions on expenditures.

McKenzie said he favors continued development and is prepared to support necessary projects with taxes, but "I do not believe I should be burdened by decisions council should make."

RESPONSIBILITY

The referendum placed on the voters the responsibility for examining each project in detail and "I do not wish to examine each money bylaw in detail nor do I wish to be responsible for passage or failure of a measure that I have not fully examined."

McKenzie said he will vote against the capital budget and any money bylaw because council members should be responsible for acts of council.

He wanted to see municipalities say they want the Municipal Act changed so there are no referendums. He enclosed a cheque for $1 to "show I am prepared to accept responsible government" by council.

COMMUNIST PARTY

Ernest Knott, of the local branch of the Communist Party, said in a press release Thursday that ratepayers should vote against the referendum.

"The fact that 70 per cent of the money is earmarked for street work to serve the downtown business area and that there is nothing in the budget for residential streets and services shows that the bylaw is designed to serve downtown business interests," he stated.

He also said only about 5 per cent of the money is to be used for pollution control and environmental improvements and there were no plans for improvement of parks and recreational services in residential districts.

Bureau Head To Join Review

Ed Gould, well-known area author and freelance writer who has been the Times Duncan bureau chief for the last two years, will move to Review Publications Ltd. May 1, as a special feature writer, Review publisher John Manning announced today.

Manning said other developments at the Review include name changes in the Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich weeklies he purchased in early March this year.

On April 30 the Oak Bay Leader will become the Oak Bay Review, the Esquimalt Sentinel will become the Esquimalt Review, and the Saanich Star will be called the Saanich Review.

The papers will be identical excpt for their headings, Manning said.

"This way we can combine news from all three areas so that someone in Oak Bay will get community news from Esquimalt and Saanich."

Manning also publishes the Review in Sidney.

Times Man Chairs City Budget Panel

Victoria — where it is and where it's going — will be the subject of a special report Sunday at 2 p.m. on CHEK-TV, Channel 6.

Times city hall reporter Jim Hume will moderate a panel made up of City Manager Dennis Young, City Engineer James Garnett and Ald. Harold Olafson.

Title of the program is Capital Reports: Your City In The Seventies.

Arthur Mayse . . .

WHATEVER ELSE HE forgets, a man remembers his first payroll job. A logging company came through with the one I grabbed when all seemed lost, and even though the opening wasn't intended for me, I remain grateful.

In the fat years, a boy can pick and choose. But let a depression — or a recession — settle in, and the situation changes.

A job is a job, and the fact that it may be hateful doesn't signify.

That spring in the early 1930s, I tried for some pretty hateful jobs. But I couldn't find one, even as a chicken-plucker.

Job-hunting is an ordeal. After enough turndowns, you find that you're fighting yourself 'as well as luckless circumstance. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, A sense of inferiority sets in.

In an employers' market, the operator with a job to give can afford to be choosy.

In a piddling little outfit on Vancouver's False Creek, the owner vetted me like a slave on an auction block. Finally he ordered me to extend my hands so that he could check my fingers for nicotine stains.

He had his troubles too, and I suspect now that he was propping his courage by proving to himself that he could dominate in one area at least. But I told him where to go, and marched out of his gloomy cavern jobless still and thoroughly miserable.

At this point, the gods smiled. It was a quirky smile, but it served. A friend who had already found work got a reply from Bloedel, Stewart and Welsh to an earlier application. This created an embarrassment of riches, which we swiftly solved. He would give me his letter from the logging company, and I would borrow his name for the summer.

Having told you before about the problems and complications that lurk for the person who assumes an alias, I won't repeat that tale.

Enough that I lugged pack, boots and suitcase up a steamer gangplank the same night, with my fare paid in advance to Bloedel's beach camp at Menzies Bay.

As first jobs go, there's much to be said for the one that takes a boy or girl away from home, parents and friends. It speeds the process of growing up, and at the cost of a little homesickness, it develops a wonderful sense of independence and freedom.

I was homesick that night on the steamer that trudged from one outport to another up the Gulf of Georgia. But that faded even before we nosed into the beach camp dock and a new world.

It was the world of the great railway shows that logged Vancouver Island's coastal flats. To enter it as a green and lowly spark-chaser was disconcertingly like starting school again

I suppose any first job is like that to a boy who has never served set hours for steady pay before. The older hands are familiar with their work. They know their way around, and their busyness is daunting to the still-unassigned.

And in the complex, departmented kingdom in which I'd arrived, nothing was as I'd imagined it would be.

Fire patrol, for instance, wasn't a day-long hike through green woods.

It consisted mostly of watching a triangle of ravaged forest floor along which a big black donkey-engine was yarding logs. The donkey stack could cast a spark. The spark might land where it could touch off a fire. If it did, I was to get in there with a bucket and douse it.

If a bucket wouldn't do the trick, there was a fire hose connected to the donkey, and extra sections to couple on.

The assistant fire chief, his instructions given, hopped on his railway speeder and racketed off down the grade.

Promptly, a couple of the loggers on the yarder crew which had inherited me contrived to set a few twigs smouldering behind a stump.

That May, the woods were damp from plentiful rains. Those chokermen had a hard time keeping the smudge alight long enough for me to spot it.

But I did see its smoke finally, and scampered down the sidehill with sloshing bucket to douse it.

It was an initiation of sorts, complete with laughter and high-humored kidding. It was also an introduction: it tumbled me into the crew and opened the door to the friendships a boy makes on his first job.

Back in town again at summer's end, I felt a reverse kind of homesickness. I thought often about the camp and the men on the yarder crew, and wondered if they'd finisihed logging the setting at the end of the railway spur.

Somewhere tucked away, I have a picture of that crew still, taken by an itinerant photographer. I always meant to frame it.

Perhaps a first job sticks in memory because it marks a transition. I never thought of myself as a boy after that summer.

TEA AND FASHIONS

KNIT AND CHAT

By MAY MAC LEAN

Instructions Sent for Tube Scarf

A short while ago I asked through the column if any reader could help with a knitter's request for directions for a tubular scarf made with just one pair of needles.

I have been overwhelmed by the response. Well over 100 letters came from across Canada, from Montreal to Vancouver Island. My thanks to all who wrote and sent samples. I am sorry I cannot answer you all personally.

This method seems to be a popular one for making scarves so I will pass the directions along.

Even though you may not be thinking of making scarves until next fall, I suggest you clip the directions and keep them in a safe place.

First, you must cast on an even number of stitches.

The number will be governed, of course, by the yarn and needles you will be using and the width you wish the scarf. I suggest you cast on a few stitches, say twenty, and experiment. Some readers suggested casting on twice the number of stitches you would normally need, as the knitting when finished is double.

The stitch is very simple, like a knit one. purl one rib, except the yarn is passed across the front of the slipped purl stitch as follows:

Pattern row: Knit one, wool to front of work, slip next stitch purlwise, wool to back of work. Repeat along row.

This is an ideal stitch to use for straps or belts where a small number of stitches is used.

I have another reader request this week, this time for a crochet chair set.

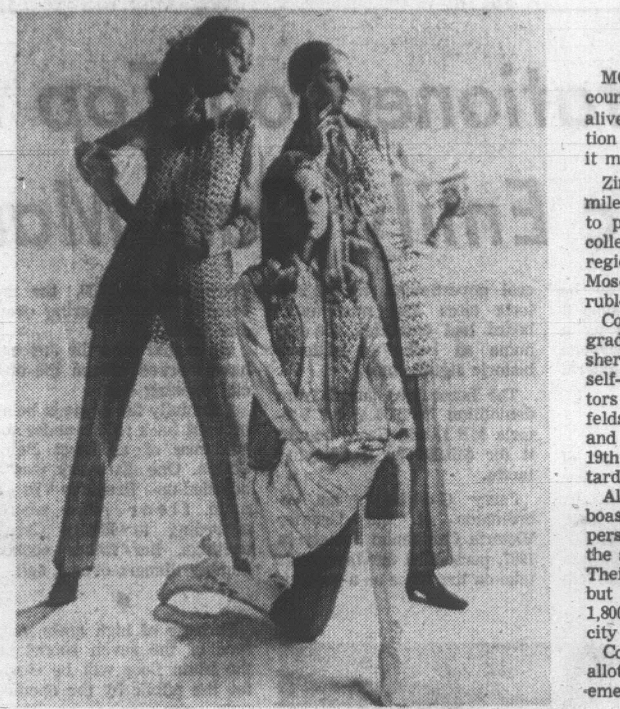
Mrs. Dorothy Haus of Winnipeg is looking for a particular pattern, a deer with a fawn crocheted in three colors.

If any reader has this pattern and is willing to lend it to Mrs. Haus, please contact her directly. Her address is 1073 McCalman Avenue, Winnipeg 5, Manitoba.

This week's pattern is one many of you have requested. Long and short, casual and quick to crochet, these vests will add instant fashion to your wardrobe.

The directions are given for three different styles and two lengths. Two styles call for a double double yarn (slightly heavier than knitting worsted) while the third is made from a double knitting weight. Directions are for sizes 12 to 18.

To order leaflet No. 7001, send 24 cents in coin or money order (no stamps or personal cheques please) to May E. Mac Lean, Knit and Chat, c-o the Times. Your order must be accompanied by a stamped, fully addressed return envelope, long if possible. Please be sure to state pattern number when ordering and to allow two or three weeks for delivery.



Directions for these three styles of crochet vest are found on Leaflet No. 7001. Made from double or double double weight yarn, they are quick and easy to crochet.

Country Doctors —Soviet Style

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet country doctors are keeping alive a dying Western tradition —the house call. They do it mostly on foot.

Zinaida Baludina walks miles every day ministering to peasants on the Zakharov collective farm in the Gdofsky region, 273 miles north of Moscow. For this she earns 60 rubles a month, about $66.

Comrade Baludina is not a graduate doctor but a "feldsher," partly trained, partly self-taught. Most country doctors in the Soviet Union are feldshers, most are women, and many still prescribe such 19th century cures as mustard plaster and leeches.

Although official statistics boast one doctor for 417 persons, Comrade Baludina is the sole medic for 12 villages. Their winter population is 900 but this swells to more than 1,800 in the summer when city relatives visit kinfolk.

Comrade Baludina is allotted a state farm car for emergency calls only. She makes all other house calls on foot, summer and winter.

The farthest village in her region is 10 miles from her home, which also serves as an office. She has asked for better transportation many times.

"They wouldn't even give me a bicycle," she complained to the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta. "Besides, what would I do with a bicycle? I am 50 years old."

Agreeing that something must be done to improve the lot of country doctors, the paper had two suggestions:

—Give all country doctors a special sign which they can display beside a roadway and hitch rides with passing motorists.

—Or give them "medical horse carts."

It pointed out that there was no use asking for more modern modes of locomotion "because automobiles are needed for productive tasks on the collection farm."

SEW SIMPLE

By EUNICE FARMER

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I know you have been asked this thousands of times, but how can we gals know what the designers are going to do with lengths of skirts. I don't want to stop sewing, but I don't want to be caught short!—Mrs. L.N.

Dear Mrs. L.N.:

No one knows what the designers are going to do, least of all myself. I have talked to many of them who feel that skirts will definitely be a little longer this fall — how much longer will depend on your age, your figure, and your personal taste in clothes.

I would suggest that you continue to make clothes but don't save them. Whatever you make, wear and wear and wear and thoroughly enjoy. This can apply to anything in this fast changing world of ours today.

If you are going to make a suit or use an expensive piece of fabric for a garment that can be worn year round, it might be good insurance to buy an extra length of fabric in order to remake a skirt next fall if you should desire one of the new longer length. That's where we gals who sew will come out on top!

Also, remember that the mini wasn't for everyone, the maxi wasn't for everyone, so neither will the midi be for everyone. One designer cleverly called length as "moxi" in other words, do what you have the courage to do and do it with confidence.

In her booklet, "Twenty Questions," Eunice farmer answers most often queries on pleats and how to make them as well as others on fitting problems and materials. You copy will be sent to you upon receipt of 25 cents and a LONG, self-addressed, stamped envelope, mailed to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper.

'Average' Weight Not Good Enough

By JANE E. BRODY

NEW YORK — Skinny women should be urged to gain weight before they become pregnant in order to increase their chances of having a healthy baby, an obstetrician has recommended here, based on a study of 87,858 births.

The study showed that the likelihood of having a dangerously small baby or a baby that died just before or shortly after birth was least if the mother was of "average" weight before she became pregnant, Dr. Istvan Nyirjesy told a recent meeting here of the World Congress of Gynecology and Obstetrics.

Nyirjesy, who did the study when he was chief of obstetrical research at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Md., said that based on his findings, he considered "average" weight between 110 and 150 pounds, depending on the woman's height.

"There are very few women who are short or tall enough to weigh less than 110 or more than 150 pounds," Nyirjesy said in an interview following his presentation.

The doctor, who is now Assistant Clinical Porofessor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Georgetown University Medical Center, practices obstetrics in Bethesda.

In the study, which involves all births during the fiscal years 1964 to 1966 at 22 naval hospitals, women who weighed less than 110 pounds before becoming pregnant had a significantly greater risk of bearing a child who weighed less than 5.5 pounds at birth or who was stillborn or who died within the first 28 days of life.

At the other end of the weight scale, women whose pre-pregnancy weight was more than 150 pounds were not as likely to have small babies. But they were more likely than normal-weight women to have babies who were stillborn or who died shortly after birth.

Nyirjesy said that the high perinatal mortality rate among the heavier women seemed to be a result of a greater incidence of pregnancy complications in these women.

But among the skinny women, he said, the high perinatal mortality rate appeared to be directly related to the fact that they tended to have very small babies.

Nyirjesy said that his study introduces a new concept into obstretrical care — a concern for the "preconceptional status of the patient."

DEAR ABBY . . .

Room of Her Own

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is an attractive, decent 25-year-old girl. She lives at home (at no cost to her) and holds a very responsible job that pays well. She's always shown good sense and has saved her money.

She has been dating (steady) a young man for the past two years. They spend all their free time together, but he keeps telling her he can't marry her yet because he "doesn't know her" well enough.

Now he's nagging at her to get her own apartment. He says the experience of living alone will be good for her.

We don't want to interfere because we feel that if this young man does marry her, we'd rather have him for a friend than an enemy. But we still don't like his pressuring her to get her own apartment. What do you think?—Her Parents.

DEAR PARENTS: I think it's up to your daughter. If she gets her own apartment, perhaps the young man will get to know her well enough to propose marriage. Or he may get to know her so well, he may not propose marriage at all.

DEAR ABBY: We are having a debate at our office. My boss says a boy should have a dog—not a cat. I say that a cat is easier to care for, and it makes as good a pet for a boy as a dog. He says that having a cat will make a sissy out of a boy—cats are for girls and dogs are for boys. What do you think?—Cat Lover.

DEAR CAT LOVER: I think your boss is full of animal crackers.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of mothers who make a habit of sending their preschoolers to answer the telephone?

I am not referring to the occasional instance when mother is tied up and can't get to the phone immediately. I mean the mother who lets her toddler answer the phone every time it rings. Some even allow their children (of any age) to answer the phone by asking, "Who is this?" I find this very irritating!

Is there some tactful way to cure the offenders of this habit—short of giving them a taste of their own medicine?—Irritated.

DEAR IRRITATED: The "taste of their own medicine" remedy is extremaly tasteless, and seldom cures. I wouldn't fault the busy mother who allows her youngster to answer the telephone in order to give her a few more minutes to get to the telephone, but any child who is permitted to answer the telephone should be taught to answer it properly.

DEAR ABBY: Is homosexuality a disease?—Wondering.

DEAR WONDERING: Not in my opinion. It is the inability to love at all which is an emotional illness.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Books

High Wedlock, Then Be Honoured, is a collection of wedding poems from 19 countries spanning 25 centuries of written history. The world's poets have eulogized and epitomized the wedding day and the state of wedlock and editor Virginia Tufte, as part of a doctoral dissertation, has collected examples from every country. She has chosen works from Sappho to Auden, Tu Fu to E. C. Cummings. Title of the collections High Wedlock, Then Be Honoured, is from Shakespeare's As You Like It and, describes the editor's efforts exactly — the honoring of marriage. Only a few of the more than 100 poems are critical of marriage. This book would be an excellent reference text for the scholar and a source of inspiration for those called upon to give a toast to the bride. (Viking Press.)

Women

Polygamy Victim of Inflation

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Their application blanks warn customers: "Parties will marry at their own responsibility."

And no more than one wife to a Moslem. The reasoning is: "We know that in Islam a man may have four wives, but that was only in the days when it was possible to maintain them. Prices are going up."

These are some of the guidelines for the 40 good ladies of the Aqd Bainul Muslameen who gather twice a week to indulge their favorite charity — making marriages.

Sitting guru fashion on a bungalow floor, they sift through two piles of applications and photographs. One pile for the girls, the other for the boys. All want to marry, and the ladies are dedicated to finding suitable mates and arranging proper marriages.

"It is a terrible problem to get people married these days," said Begum Amtul Quader Masihuddin, 60, a petite, grey widow in blue sari who heads the Aqd, a name from Arabic meaning "marriage among the Moslems."

She and the other charitably minded matrons each pay annual dues of about $2.50 in a volunteer, non-profit organization which started 23 years ago. It then arranged marriages for the widows and widowers jammed in refugee camps during the population upheavals following the partition of British India.

NOT EASY

It's not easy work. As women all over the world know, a good man is hard to find.

"And all our applicants want fair, tall, beautiful wives who are domesticated, can cook and sew," said the Begum, a retired social worker.

"We have a waiting list of 500 girls and 300 men. There is a shortage of good men. Our boys go out of the country to study and marry foreign girls. They deprive our girls of their right to a Pakistani husband."

Pakistan's predominantly Moslem society closely observes separation of the sexes. Nearly all rural marriages and many city marriages are prearranged, often without the couples meeting beforehand.

The ladies resist talk about letting young people date and make their own choices in marriage.

"Arranged marriages are more successful," said the Begum. "In the Western way the couples present their best faces during courtship. But once they are married, the other faces come out."

Anyway, since the bride goes to live with her husband's family, "they will always look after her if he loses interest."

YOUNG ACCEPT

"It is the tradition and young people must accept it," she observed. "But things are changing. Most young people insist in seeing each other. This is something recent. So, we take a young man to a place where we know the girl will be and we say 'Have a look.' The girl does not know.

"Girls are willing to take what they can get. But nowadays appearances are more important."

Money is still vital. The families of the couple dicker diligently over jihaz, the dowry paid to the boy by the girl's family. The bride's mother almost always wants a rich son-in-law.

The group has arranged about 800 marriages, working on the theory that like attracts like.

A Punjabi boy is matched with girls in the Punjabi file. Other factors must balance. He should be five to seven years older; if he has a master's degree his wife should hold no better than a bachelor's diploma.

Former Swimmer Selling Stocks

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Former swimming champion Florence Chadwick is taking up a new career as a stock broker at 51.

In 1950, she swam the English Channel from Cap Gris Nez in France in a record-breaking 13 hours 20 minutes and in the decade that followed, broke 17 records in other distance swims.

Twice married, twice divorced, she spent the last decade teaching swimming, appearing in shows and exhibitions.

The health of her ailing 78-year-old mother and her new career brought her home to San Diego. After 11 months of broker's training, she earned her licence early this month and found the new competition out of water exhilarating.

"Of course, it's competitive," Miss Chadwick says. "And most of the competitors are men, who tend to be prejudiced against women in the field. ... That is, until they prove themselves."

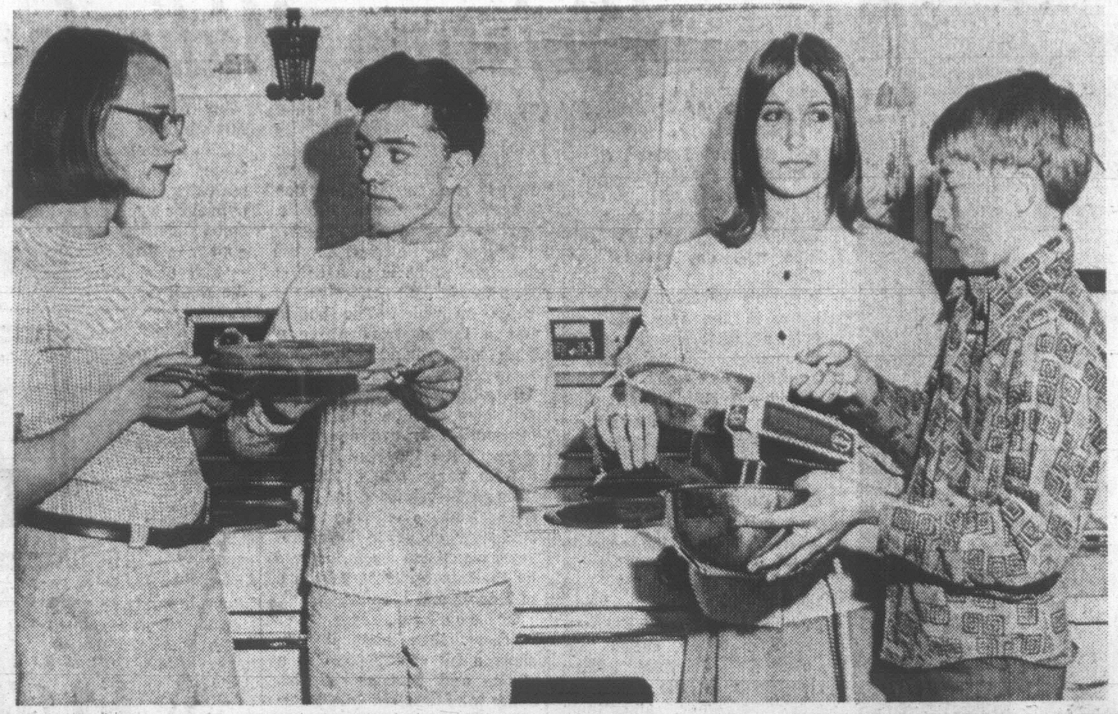
Guides Plan Tea and Sale

The 17th Victoria Salvation Army Girl Guides will hold a tea and sale Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Esquimalt Salvation Army Hall, 1242 Esquimalt Road. Among the items on sale will be Mother's Day gifts made by the girls. A baby-sitting service will be provided.



Youth Group Bakes To Help Underprivileged

When a small group of students from St. Patrick's School first got together, they called themselves the Holy Soles.

Then, after completing their first project — raising money to buy shoes for the children of a deserted mother — the name was no longer appropriate.

They changed the name of the group to Youth In Action, but they are still raising money for new projects by ingenious means, including bake sales for which the boys cook as well as the girls.

They are preparing for a tea and bake sale to be held Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gerald Sullivan, 305 Denison Avenue.

The children organize the projects themselves, and have so far raised money by raking leaves, carolling and washing cars.

The Unitarian Service Committee Victoria Workshop announces that their packing depot is now at the old Dowell's warehouse, 1117 Wharf Street. The depot is open for packing and receiving donations each Thursday from 9:30 to 3 p.m.

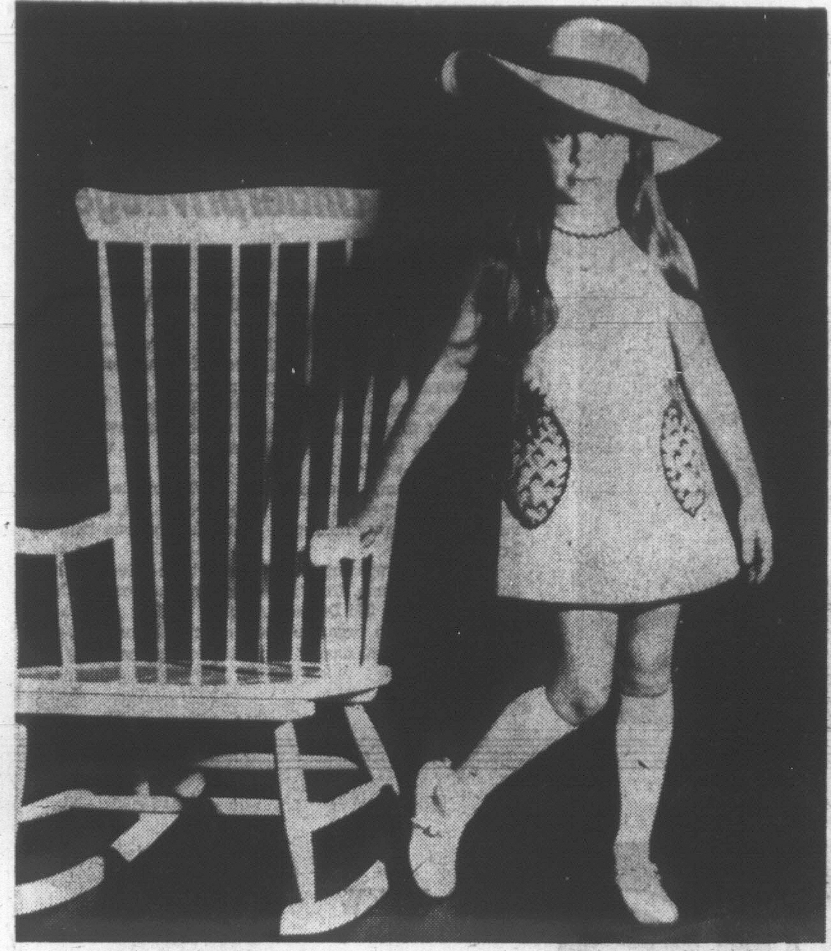
Miniature Midis for Italian Tots



Zingone, the Dior of the toddler set, still makes minis, such as the cotton dress above with fruit applique pockets, but he is now making midis as well, as shown by the tucked and tapestried outfit below. (Fashion League photos.)

By ELEONORA MUTARELLI

ROME — It's often said that the United States is the country of matriarchs, while in the Orient the male is undisputed social ruler. In Italy, however, it's the children who are society's darlings.

There's nothing too good for them in the way of toys, entertainment or dress. At the recent spring fashion openings in Rome, it was considered only natural that couture trends should be adapted for the pampered tots.

In Italy, Zingone is the Dior of beautiful children's clothes. The company is a family affair (so often the case in Italy) run by father Corrado and two sons, Giorgio and Paolo. Owners of an emporium for children in the centre of Rome, called "La Casa deil Bambini," they have long set the trends in children's wear, and their high-fashion designs are in demand by some of the smartest stores all over the world.

The Zingone firm dates back to the early 1900s, and they are using this period as inspiration for their children's midis. Now that Mama's skirts are getting longer, it's only natural that little girls be given a choice in lengths also.

Graceful midi dresses come in embroidered white organdy and dotted Swiss tulle. They have puffy little sleeves and colored silk or velvet sashes. Gaily polka-dotted cottons in red, blue or black on white are lavishly trimmed with lace and braiding. Delicate tucking appears on many midis, and the hem of one longer skirt looks like a garden of appliqued flowers.

One of the prettiest Zingone little-girl midis is in a cotton patterened like tapestry of beige on white. The bodice has a tucked front above a high waist band of double rows of the striped fabric. The sleeves are tucked from the shoulders down, then puff out until they are caught in cuffs of the tapestry fabric.

With these midis, Zingone likes wide-brimmed straw hats that complete a decidedly romantic look that seems to have been inspired by the Impressionist paintings of Renoir and Manet.

Of course, like their mothers, little girls like to show a bit of leg once in a while, and Zingone is also doing mini dresses. One perky group in white cotton features pockets brightly colored pineapples, strawberries or cherries, appliqued and embroidered.

Zingone doesn't neglect the male, either. Italian little boys get as much fashion attention as their sisters, and it shows in the light-hearted "colonial" motif the firm is using for little boys' spring and summer clothing.

Pith helmets are worn with beige linen safari jacket, matching Bermuda shorts and python or tiger printed shirts. Some of the outfits also appear in little sister versions — soft of a unisex look for the small fry.

In Italy, little boys dress up for family occasions and outings, so Zingone creates white silk crepe or shantung tunics over velvet pants for the small gentlemen to wear. The same turn-of-the-century look, you see, to accompany sister's midi.

Spring coats for the boys are in longer lengths, with dashing military swagger, such colors as navy or dark grey, in wool gabardine. Italian men have always enjoyed flair in their clothes, long before the "mod" era, and that goes for the youngsters, too.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Special Coating Simplifies Cleaning

By PENNY SAVER

"Oh, your poor table cover," I said, as I helped Gladys clear away the clutter after our weekly bridge binge.

"Oh don't worry about it," she said. "It'll undoubtedly come clean."

"But it might stretch", I objected.

She shook her head.

"I won't even have to take it off the top of the table."

I had been admiring the cover all through the game.

A dark green shade, it seemed to be made of a closely knitted fabric. It felt as padded as well and I noticed that when I was dealing, the cards slipped smoothly across the surface.

A hidden advantage turned up when we cleared away.

As Gladys said, she didn't even have to take the cloth off the table to get it clean. She just wiped with a damp cloth.

The secret is, as you might have guessed, a special coating that helps the surface resist a deep soil. It probably adds to the smoothness and lustre as well.

The cloth is also foam backed so it won't slip. It will fit up to a 34-inch square table.

Both the foam backing and the special coating make it impossible to machine-wash or dry-clean this cloth and the package is clearly marked to this effect.

The cloth comes in a set with four coasters — two red and two black — for $6.95. Green is the only shade available.

I saw an item dog lovers might like, and it was on sale too.

The item is a dog's head pouring spout for beverages. Regularly such spouts sold for $1.25 each, but as long as the stock lasts (and I was told there was a fair number left) they are 49 cents.

Made of china, the spout is attached to a cork that will fit the mouth of most standard bottles. There are various kinds of dogs to choose from and the china is finished in appropriate colors.

I also noticed some nice feather dusters for $1.

These dusters have black plastic handles about a foot in length and finished with a little loop for hanging on a hook.

The tuft of feathers is brightly dyed and several shades are available, so the duster is sure to brighten the broom closet and make dusting more fun.

If you would like to know where to find these items, please call 382-3131 between 9 a.m. and 12 noon.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MARINATED ROUND STEAK

Marinade:

⅓ cup vinegar
½ cup chili sauce
⅓cup finely chopped onion
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon horseradish
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 to 3 drops tabasco sauce
1½ pounds round steak
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups sliced onions
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Combine ingredients for marinade. Pour over steak. Let stand several hours or overnight in the refrigerator.

Remove steak from marinade, dry with paper towel, cut in serving-size pieces and brown in 2 tablespoons of the fat. Place in greased baking dish, pour marinade over steak, cover and bake at 325 deg. F until tender (about 1½ hours). Baste occasionally with marinade. Uncover for last 15 minutes of cooking.

Saute sliced onions in remaining 2 tablespoons fat until golden (about 5 minutes). Sprinkle onion and parsley over steak. 6 servings.

FASHION FLASHES

Look for smock dresses in unusual fabrics, such as pink and white plaid on blue satin, perhaps feathered at wrists and hem, over blue satin pants.

Remember the new snake prints, from Paris in softest jersey midi dresses, to wear alone or over their matching pants and boots.

Don't forget the importance of striking belts and sashes to dresses meant to double over pants, especially in leather with lots of fringe.

The right look of shoes with dresses plus pants, is higher heeled but chunky, with polished silver often accenting the heel.

Remember the new longer coat-dresses, designed to go with pants, to be worn as a dress, to be used as a light coat over other dresses.

Man Gets 18 Months For Varied Crimes

"Certainly you are the author of your own misfortune," Judge William Ostler told Michael F. Lewis, 25, of Toronto, before sentencing him to 18 months in prison for breaking and entering and theft, attempted breaking and entering, two counts of fraud and two counts of uttering forged cheques.

Ostler was replying to a remark by the accused that he had had trouble growing up and that he had been unsuccessful in two attempts to settle down. The judge also noted Lewis was on probation from Toronto at the time of his arrest.

Lewis, also known as John E. Lauria, pleaded guilty April 8 to stealing almost $1,400 in clothing from a boutique at 613 Johnson and attempting to break into the smoke shop next door earlier the same day.

A 14-year-old girl, police said, drove a car around the block several times and Lewis ran out with a load of clothing each time it passed the boutique.

The Crown Thursday withdrew a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency that had been read earlier.

Lewis pleaded guilty to the fraud counts April 16 involving credit cards and amounts of $23.97 and $87 at two downtown shops and he pleaded guilty Thursday, to cashing forged cheques of $15 and $20 at a local food market.

★ ★ ★

James Barclay, 17, of 495 Davida, was sentenced to six months definite and six months indeterminate in prison for stealing eight autos.

Barclay pleaded guilty to all eight counts when he appeared in court April 21 transferred from family and childrens' court.

Ostler asked him at the time how he could find so many unlocked cars with the keys left inside.

"You don't have to look too hard," Barclay said.

A police officer testified that all the offences had occurred between the middle of February and April 18 when Barclay was arrested for dangerous driving in a stolen car.

★ ★ ★

Kevin C. Raftery, 28, of Sooke, charged with trafficking in a narcotic, elected trial by county court judge sitting alone and waived preliminary hearing.

Ostler committed Raftery for trial in the higher court.

★ ★ ★

Jack William Budynski, 28, of 715 Daisy, was fined $350 for impaired driving and it was recommended his licence be suspended for four months.

He was involved in an accident about 6 p.m. March 26 at Burnside and Albion.

★ ★ ★

Jamer William Knox, 21, of HMCS Provider, was fined $300 for impaired driving and was prohibited from driving for four months.

He was observed driving erratically on Esquimalt Road near Dalton about 8 p.m. March 20.

★ ★ ★

Arne Larsen, 38, of 2215 Shakespeare, was fined $500 for impaired driving and another $200 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

He was also prohibited from driving for six months.

He hit another vehicle while driving on Shelbourne at Bay about 7:30 p.m. March 20 and drove away but returned within 15 minutes.

City Cans Canned Music

Canned music in Centennial Square was rejected with barely a comment at city council Thursday.

Last week city Group B Committee agreed to recommend to council a six-month trial of piped-in music for public lobbies and the Centennial Square Arcade following an offer from Golden Sound Music Service.

It was described as "motivational background music" although no one explained what it was supposed to motivate.

There has been a steady stream of protest letters since the committee's recommendation, most of them saying canned music is an invasion of privacy and a noise pollutant.

At 38, It's Time to Act

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — Diana Dors, once Britain's top sex symbol, is making a successful stage comeback in the part of a blowsy, loud-mouthed widow.

Critics have applauded her acting in the play Three Months Gone. Curious audiences are packing the Duchess Theatre off the Strand.

A silver blonde with a generous bust line, Miss Dors was once denounced by the Archbishop of Canterbury as a wayward hussy. She figured in the 1950s as the storm centre of countless public rows, litigations and wild parties.

Her movies made her a national pinup.

"I was the first sex symbol this country had since Lady Godiva," she says.

But now, back on the stage for the first time since 1957, she vows she has become a serious lady of the theatre.

"I'm looked on as a theatre actress instead of the sexy joke that I've been for God knows how many years," she observes.

"I've had all the star bit, the wild bit. This is my third marriage and I'm determined to make it last."

Miss Dors, now 38, said:

"Once you have an image it's awfully difficult to lose it. I suppose about half the audience come in to see what's happened to Diana Dors. I walk out on that stage and they are really expecting to see something quite different. After their initial shock they relax and enjoy it."

Miss Dors looks about as unglamorous as possible in the part. With a lurid red wig and curlers, she plays a widow with a passion for lodgers. Her lover in the play, a black comedy by David Howarth, is her real-life husband, Alan Lake, 29.

Tonight's Top Television Shows

JULIA. 7:30 p.m., Channel 2. Cesar Romero makes a guest appearance on Julia tonight, in The Bunny Hug. Hannah Yarby is all worked up — an eligible widower is coming for a visit and she's a mixture of trepidation and anticipation.

★ ★ ★

GET SMART. 7:30 p.m., Channel 7. A silly outing in which the writers have most of the fun. Smart infiltrates a nursery run by Algernon Degrasse, a man who plants bugs or listening devices all over Washington offices. Naturally, once Degrasse learns about Smart, there's a chase during which he puts his devices to work, and one of them is a man-eating tree. Kid stuff.

★ ★ ★

SPECIAL. 7:30 p.m., Channel 5. "Expo '70: World's Fair in Japan." With Edwin Newman as your reporter and guide, this hour-long special offers you a capsule description of the fair in Osaka, emphasizing its Japanese flavor as well as its international styles. In addition to glimpses of the pavilions of many nations, Mr. Newman devotes a section to the variety of food and restaurants available; the exhibits to see; and even the places one might avoid. Since this is the first world's fair to be held in Asia, NBC gives you the benefit of a second look. After all, the first one on March 14th could celebrate only its opening day.

★ ★ ★

TIM CONWAY SHOW. 8 p.m., Channel 7. Back after a month of preemptions, this slapstick flying series returns to fulfill its quota of 13 shows. Tonight, the boys attempt to slip out of a contract with a rock and roll star, which calls for money back and then some if she's late for an engagement. Their frantic antics to frighten the singer should amuse the youngsters at any rate.

★ ★ ★

HOGAN'S HEROES. 8:30 p.m., Channel 7. (Repeat). Even in panic, the POWs manage to retain their cool, as the gang must knock out a Nazi radar unit in time for an Allied bombing raid. For a cover, the men conveniently use a Klink birthday party at which the good colonel is allowed to display his foolish ways. Werner Klemperer may have the comedy edge, but Schultz and the POWs run him a close race.

★ ★ ★

THE NAME OF THE GAME. 8:30 p.m., Channel 5. "Chains of Command." (Repeat). Fairly interesting drama. Ace crime reporter Robert Stack takes a job as a guard at a prison near the Mexican border, which he knows is involved in a racket using wetbacks (Mexicans sneaked over the U.S. border) for cheap labor. The storyline is pretty routine, but it's fun watching Dorothy Lamour pretending to be an actress again as the owner of a soloon; Sidney Blackmer drinking away as the prison superintendent; and villainous Pernell Roberts as the boss. Also, the method of bringing in the poor Mexicans is quite clever.

★ ★ ★

SPECIAL. 10 p.m., Channel 5. "It's a Man's World." Hugh O'Brian hosts this special featuring mini-biographies of six male "individualists" who boast a wide variety of "life styles." The most interesting subjects are a young, handsome, successful Mexian lawyer named Eduardo Azcue, who spends his spare time bullfighting or rubbing elbows with the jet set in Acapulco, and an avant-garde Parisian clothes designer named Jean Bouquin, who functions in a garish, hippie-like atmosphere turning out outlandish garments which are catching on. Tune in if you're looking for glamor after a hard day's work.

★ ★ ★

SPECIAL. 10 p.m., Channel 4. "Mission Possible: They Care for the Land." Especially timely with our thoughts so attuned to the environmental crisis and "Earth Day." This documentary takes a look at the Florida Everglades, an area which scientists refer to as a national treasure and a necessary adjunct to the continued health of the area, and discusses the decision made by the residents of South Florida to veto a modern jet airport which would have destroyed vital features of the swamp.

TONIGHT'S MOVIES

8 p.m., Channel 8: The Hell with Heroes (1968 drama), Rod Taylor, Claudia Cardinale. International intrigue in exotic Algeria.

11 p.m., Channel 11: The Enemy General (1960 drama), Van Johnson, Jean-Pierre Aumont. Fair Second World War drama.

11 p.m., Channel 12: Conspiracy of Hearts (1960 English drama), Lilli Palmer, Sylvia Syms. A group of nuns hide Jewish children from the Nazis—well done.

11 p.m., Channel 13: Robel Flight to Cuba (1960 drama), Peter Van Eyck. Weak German action melodrama—dubbed in English.

11:30, Channel 7: The Invisible Ray (1935 melodrama), Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi. Shudder story about a scientist whose touch is deadly.

11:40, Channel 2: Let's Make Love (1960 musical), Marilyn Munroe, Yves Montand, Tony Randall. Lightweight comedy-romance played against a show-business background.

1 a.m., Channel 4: The Hanging Tree (1959 western), Gary Cooper, Maria Schell. Cooper gives a fine performance as a frontier doctor in a Montana mining camp.

Peninsula Considering Heated Pool

Sidney and North Saanich may work together to build a $75,000 heated outdoor swimming pool as a joint centennial project.

Bill Young, manager of the G. R. Pearkes Arena in Saanich and a member of the Sidney centennial committee, said today that the project has not been given final approval by the joint committee and is only one of several proposals under consideration.

He said a feasibility study he conducted showed the pool could be built for $75,000 if municipal land becomes available.

MATCHING GRANT

North Saanich Ald. Joseph Lott said the joint committee is looking into ways of financing the pool project. If both Sidney and North Saanich contribute $3,900 toward the pool, the provincial government will give a matching centennial grant.

Lott said the rest of the money would have to come from outside sources.

"We don't want to give the minicipalities a large debt because of this," he said.

Pool plans include a 25-metre swimming area bounded by concrete slab deck, dressing rooms and enclosing fence. The committee is considering locating the pool on municipal land adjacent to Macdonald Park school.

Study Centre Destroyed

PALO ALTO, Calif. (Reuters) — Fire destroyed two wings of the Centre for Advanced Studies on the Stanford University campus here today after police had driven anti-Vietnam war demonstrators from an administration building.

The campus fire chief said the blaze, which destroyed irreplaceable research material and caused an estimated $100,000 damage, had been started by arsonists.

A few hours earlier sheriff's deputies ousted about 300 war protesters from the old Student Union building which they took over Thursday in what they called a "peaceful occupation."

HOME GARDEN

Keeping Lilac Blossoms Fresh

By HILDA BEASTALL

Lilacs are coming into bloom all over the city, a great favorite with gardeners and non gardeners for their haunting perfume. Every eastern city has lilacs blooming in spring, and they are the favorite dooryard shrub for farm homes right across Canada.

Hilda

No wonder it is a "nostalgia" shrub — it means to each of us the place where we were first conscious of its fragrance.

So here in Victoria we like to cut branches of lilac to bring into the house or to give to friends who may be living without the blessing of a garden.

The first time we bring in lilac branches and place them lovingly in a deep vase of water, our pleasure turns to dismay in a few hours as we find the flower heads have drooped. Even the leaves are wilted.

Happily there are ways to avoid this disappointment.

First, select flower heads of freshly opened blossoms, make a slanting cut and place the stem in deep water in a pail right there in the garden. Add each steam as it is cut.

One method of keeping lilac blossoms fresh after cutting is to strip off all leaves, mash the bottom inch of woody stem with a small hammer, and plunge again into deep water up to but not over the flower head.

Leave overnight or several hours in a cool place. Arrange in a bowl or vase next morning, making a fresh stem cut wherever necessary. A separate stem of lilac leaves should be similarly treated, or complementary foliage from another shrub used.

To get a mass of bloom in a large wide bowl, perhaps of different colors and kinds of lilac, use short stems six to 10 inches. Smash the ends as described to enable water to be taken up freely, then arrange in a ball of crumpled chicken wire fixed to a flower pinholder on the bottom of the bowl.

Short stems of lilac leaves similarly treated will break up the flower mass and outline the cone shape of the trusses.

The reason for quick wilting of lilac is that blooms are borne at the tips of branches formed last year. The wood has been hardened by the time we sever it. Cells are mature and slow to take in water.

This is why we expose more cells to the water in our container by crushing the bottom inch. Also by using shorter stems, there is less distance for the lifesaving water travelling to the flowers.

Sometimes a slit made with a sharp knife up the length of the stem but not completely through it, will work if deep water is used for the final display.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

By FRED L. KARPIN

In the deal presented today, our West defender made a logical opening lead which, as it might appear, cost his side a trump trick. But when play had ended, the trick was revived, and it defeated South's game contract.

The hand arose in the 1969 World Championships, in the match between China and the United States. Sitting South was F. Huang, of China; North was C. S. Shen. For the United States, Ed Kantar was West, and Bob Hamman, East.

East-West vulnerable. North deals.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠.

North's two-club opening showed a five-card club suit and 11-15 points. When North eventually bid four spades, it was because he had a maximum opening bid.

Since it appeared from the bidding that North was short of diamonds, and would tend to ruff out South's diamond losers, West's opening lead was a trump. The deuce was played from dummy, and East's queen was trapped. However, he did not play it; instead, he put up the six, which South captured with the 10-spot.

Playing on the assumption that the king and queen of hearts were not both in the East hand, at trick two South led a low heart and inserted the board's jack. Upon winning the trick with the king, East laid down the queen of diamonds, which was permitted to hold the trick. A second diamond was then taken by South's ace.

Declarer's remaining heart was now led, and dummy's 10 was played, East capturing it with his queen. Now came a third diamond lead, which declarer was forced to ruff with dummy's ace. Thus East's queen of trumps, apparently doomed to decapitation at trick one, eventually took the setting trick.

After the opening lead had been made, declarer could have scored 10 tricks if he had guessed to rely on the club finesse instead of the heart suit. But, technically, the club finesse would have been the inferior play, since it was a 50-50 proposition. Declarer's election to go after the heart suit was a superior line, inasmuch as West figures to have either the king or queen of hearts 75 per cent of the time. All of which proves that you can't win them all.

YOUR HEALTH

Way to Relieve Constant Pain

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Unfortunately, quite a few persons who have a scattered cancer suffer from terrible pain which is often very hard to relieve with any drug. In recent years a method has been found, called percutaneous cervical cordotomy (per means through; cutane refers to skin; cervical refers to the neck; cord refers to the spinal cord, and tomy means cutting). And so the three words mean that a skilled neurosurgeon can pass a needle-like electrode through the skin and into the space just in front and to the side of the spinal cord in the upper part of the neck. Through the electrode, an electric current is thrown in, to destroy a nervous pathway along with sensations of pain run up from the body to the brain. The pathways which carry orders from the brain to our muscles are not injured by the procedure.

Dr. Gildenberg, writing in the "Cleveland Clinic Quarterly," told of 200 such operations performed, and said that in more than 80 per cent, the patients got satisfactory relief of pain. If the pain came back, the operation could be repeated.

* * *

As many people know, psoriasis is a skin disease in which occasionally red patches, covered with little silvery scales, appear on the skin. The patches often appear on the edge of the hairline of the scalp.

The cause is not known. The skin lesions can flare up when the person is anxious or living under much pressure.

There is a new book call "Psoriasis," edited by Edwin Sidi, which has chapters written by 12 different authors. The drug methotrexate is mentioned, but without great enthusiasm. The authors advise against the use of steroids (drugs such as cortisone). Chloroquine, an antimalarial drug, is said to be useful in some cases. Even to able skin specialists, psoriasis often presents a very difficult problem.

* * *

I see that in a recent number of the British Medical Journal, Drs. W. I. Forsythe and A. Redmond of the Royal Belfast Hospital for Sick Children in Ireland report on the treatment of 200 children for enuresis (bed wetting) with an electric device called a "buzzer" that sets off an alarm the second a drop of urine falls on it.

There were 132 boys and 68 girls in the study. They were treated for periods of from 4 to 30 weeks, and were followed up for more than two years to see what the final result would be.

Of the 200 patients, 132 were cured, or 2 out of 3. Thirty of the children relapsed during the first year after treament, but 17 were cured after a second course of treatment, and that left 13 who were not improved. Treatment was of no value to 45 patients, and could not be used in another 23.

Interestingly, 7 of the 23 children slept so soundly that they failed to wake up when the alarm went off. Twelve would not co-operate, and co-operation of the child and the mother is essential for success. Treatment was abandoned in 4 cases, because the alarm kept other family members awake.

A while ago I told in this column of reading 50 papers on bed-wetting, most of them written in Great Britain, Canada and Australia. For some reason, the answer to which I cannot find, most American children's specialists ignore bed-wetting, which is one of the three commonest diseases they see. Many tell me that they just won't bother to treat it.

Some urologists think that they can help. Several of the 50 articles I read were by psychiatrists who said that when they found that psychotherapy did not work, they used the buzzer, and then concluded that it is the only treatment worth trying.

FLASHBACK ON CANADA

Settlers Disliked Duke of Richmond

By BOB BOWMAN

There seemed to be a terrible jinx on the governors of Canada in the first half of the 19th century. The Duke of Richmond arrived in 1818 and died the following year after having been bitten by a fox. Lord Sydenham did not even last a year. He arrived early in 1841 and died in September when he was thrown by a horse. Sir Charles Bagot came to Canada in 1842 and died in May 1843 exhausted by his work. He was succeeded by Sir Charles Metcalfe who contracted cancer and had to resign in 1845. He died the following year.

Lord Durham, who came between Richmond and Sydenham, could also be added to the list. He was in Canada for only a few months but his death a little more than a year later was said to have been due to his work in Canada.

The Duke of Richmond was a character. He had been Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and the Duke of Wellington had been his secretary there. On the night before the Battle of Waterloo he gave a ball where there was great revelry, which the poet Byron later contrasted with the silence of the graves at Ardennes.

The Duke of Richmond was very much of an upper-class military type and did not impress a large number of Canadian settlers. The Assembly of Lower Canada refused to adopt the budget he presented, and so he appeared in person on April 24, 1819, and gave the members a sharp lecture which caused a great deal of resentment. However, the duke was no match for a fox with hydrophobia.

The Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, Sir Peregrine Maitland, was a son-in-law of the Duke of Richmond, and very much the same type of man. He was also a veteran of Waterloo. Maitland contended that only "gentlemen" were suitable to serve in government. There were no places for tradesmen, brewers, or people of lesser dignity. Maitland's policy of granting free land to privileged people delayed the development of Upper Canada for a number of years.

Other events on April 24:

1626 — Champlain sailed from Dieppe on 11th voyage to Canada.

1629 — Treaty of Susa made Kirke brothers later capture of Quebec illegal.

1851 — Prince Edward Island got responsible government with George Coles, Premier.

1885 — Canadian militia under General Middleton engaged Northwest rebels at Fish Creek.

1958 — British trade mission began tour of Canada.

"I saw your new car outside," said Andy. "You didn't get that for a thousand bucks."

Bert smiled. "For less, in fact. It's not new, of course, but it was a real bargain," he declared. "And it's funny about the price. If you divide it by seven, or by eleven, or by thirteen, you always get one cent left over. But there were no odd cents in the price."

What was the price?

(Answer Monday)

Brody in U.S. Mental Hospital

BURLINGTON, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies said here a man they identified as Michael James Brody Jr., who offered last January to give away millions of dollars, is being held temporarily at Belmont Hills Neuropsychiatric Centre.

Deputy Sheriff Roger R. Johnson said he was called Monday to the San Francisco International Airport where Brody, a New York oleomargarine heir, made a complaint he had been kidnapped.

Johnson said Brody, 21, claimed he had been held for six or seven days in Ross, Calif., and injected with drugs against his will.

Ross police said they had already investigated a similar complaint and found it without basis.

The San Mateo County Sheriff's office booked the long-haired young man at Peninsula Hospital under a statute which permits a 72-hour hold for medical examination of persons who may be deemed dangerous to their own or others' safety.

After remaining there overnight, Bordy was transferred to the Neuropsychiatric Centre.

Lawsuit Lost

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Songwriter Pinky Tomlin has lost his $2,250,000 suit against Walt Disney Productions. He contended the Disney film title The Love Bug was stolen from the title of his 1937 song The Love Bug Will Bite You If You Don't Watch Out. Superior Court Judge Jerry Pacht held Wednesday the Disney organization did not profit because of the song and granted judgment in Disney's favor.

Indian Plane Missing

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — An Indian air force transport plane with 11 service personnel on board has been missing over northeastern India since April 18, the defence ministry announced here. The ministry did not say where exactly the aircraft was missing in the eastern sector, which covers the whole of northeast India, bordering on China, West Pakistan and Burma.

HE KNOWS SYSTEM'S PAST

Water Commissioner Busy Man

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

You'd think Greater Victoria Water Commissioner Ron Upward would have enough to do with present and future needs of the area. That with the trouble-shooting he must do from day-to-day and the projects he must consider for the future, he'd have little time for the distant past.

This is not so. Ron Upward can go back over the history of the Greater Victoria water system right to its beginning and give you a rundown on how it all started and how it reached its present status.

I heard him tell the story recently and it is so interesting I'm going to pass a little of it on to you.

In the beginning people around the Hudson's Bay fort in Victoria and at the early British naval base at Esquimalt could get all the water needed from backyard wells or nearby springs and creeks.

* * *

"Partly because without indoor plumbing they did not use much water and it never entered their heads that well and creek water might be contaminated from nearby sanitary facilities . . . indeed, it was not even known then that water could carry bacteria and diseases."

On the Victoria side there were good wells at Spring Ridge, not far from the present Victoria High School and a clear stream fed by a spring ran from the present corner of Yates and Vancouver Street right down to where the Johnson Street bridge is today. Where these were developed the water was piped through wooden logs with the centres bored out.

By 1870 (a hundred years ago) there was not enough water from these sources. So, in 1874, a pipeline was laid straight out where Douglas Street now runs to Beaver and Elk Lakes.

As the town grew more pipelines were added and, in 1905, as an emergency in case pumps or pipelines broke down, a large reservoir holding 18,000,000 gallons of water was built on what was known as Smith's Hill (on The Rise north of Hillside Avenue and west of Cook Street).

* * *

While this was going on in Victoria, the Esquimalt or navy side was also developing a water system. In 1887, a private water company built a dam at Thetis Lake with a pipeline straight through the fields to Esquimalt.

Ron Upward tells you that "much of that pipeline is now under the Island Highway, Admirals Road and the E & N Railway, which was built at the same time."

By the 1890s Thetis Lake was not big enough and the Esquimalt Water Works Company had to go to the Goldstream River, where in co-operation with the B.C. Electric Railway, dams, reservoirs and pipelines were developed.

Upward explains: "After the power company ran the water through turbines to generate electricity, it entered pipelines laid from the power house to Esquimalt Village."

* * *

By 1905 this was a big system with good water from a series of five lakes at the headwaters of the Goldstream River where water was caught and stored until needed. Five times the water available from Beaver-Elk Lakes could be delivered.

In that same year Victoria City was desperately in need of more water. And for a while this was obtained by buying surplus water from Esquimalt and deliverering it by a pipeline laid across the Selkirk Waters at Harriet Road.

According to Upward this was only a stop-gap "until the city could develop a new system through purchase of land (and summer homes) around Sooke Lake and raising the level with a dam to allow the water to run by gravity down Sooke River to the Sooke Harbor, then east to empty 27 miles later into Humpback Reservoir, west of Langford."

From there a pipeline was laid into town by way of Burnside Road to the Fountain Circle (the Roundabout).

Now both the city and Esquimalt had good separate water systems capable of supplying 165,000 people. "And there were less than 40,000 here."

Both systems ran separately until 1925 when the private Esquimalt company sold out to the City of Victoria.

* * *

The next 25 years, population increases, serving the growing areas of Saanich and Oak Bay and lack of maintenence because of money and manpower shortages, put a heavy strain on the combined system.

So, in 1949, in order to repair and improve the system, the City of Victoria sold Goldstream and Sooke watersheds, all the reservoirs and pipelines in them and the large pipelines to town, to a new organization — the present Greater Victoria Water District — a holding company owned by Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt and formed to operate the watersheds and pipelines into the built-up areas.

Once the water reached these areas, the city or municipalty could deliver it to homes and businesses themselves.

NEW GROG SHOP STAGGERS TOWN

MOOSONEE, Ont. (CP) — Residents of this northern Ontario community were staggered last week when a new store was opened.

It was a liquor store, putting an end to 186-mile trips to Cochrane and to mail orders.

It also sent drunk and disorderly charges up by 100 per cent.

RE-ELECTED easily as president of the United Auto Workers' Union Thursday was Walter Reuther, swamping his first opponent in 21 years, Art Fox of Dearborn, Mich. This is Reuther's 13th consecutive term.

HEYERDAHL TO TRY AGAIN

OSLO (AP) — Norwegian explorer Thor Heyerdahl will make a new attempt to cross the Atlantic from Africa to America in a papyrus boat, it was reported today.

The Oslo newspaper Aftenposten said he would start from Safi, Morocco, early in May with a seven-man international crew aboard the Ra 2.

Heyerdahl, 55, was forced to give up his attempt to cross the Atlantic with the first Ra last summer.

Shakespeare's Birthday Almost Unnoticed

Thursday was Saint George's Day and Shakespeare's birthday.

But you'd never have known it.

The red roses once worn by Victorians were conspicuously absent and only one local organization, Toastmasters Club No. 38 — the oldest toasters' club in Canada — staged a celebration.

This was a feast of wit and oratory, backed by roast beef, red wine and Saxon mead, held in the banquet room of the Crest Motel.

The cross of Saint George, partnered by Canada's Maple Leaf flag, looked down on a company of men and women who drank a succession of toasts with enthusiasm and exchanged lots of good-humored banter along the way.

Club president John Hardie gave the toast to Saint George. Former mayor Hugh Stephens spoke in praise of England, Saint George and Shakespeare.

"We are inclined to forget England's patron saint," Stephen said, "but whenever there's a dirty job to be done, such as slaying a dragon or a would-be world dictator, Saint George is a symbol of Britain's courage and determination.

Barrie Goult, a former governor of International Toastmasters District 21 of British Columbia, said:

"What used to be called the white man's burden has passed to the United States and the U.S. is shouldering the blame that Britain shouldered during the South Africa War.

"But remember Britain is still the caretaker for a vast commonwealth and, despite heavy losses in two world wars, is now spending more than $2 billion pounds yearly on her armed forces."

Toastmasters are expected to think on their feet and speak without notes on any subject. Thus an impromptu discussion on Vancouver Island's new West Coast Park was led by Harold Cliff.

"Anyone can sign a document creating a federal-provincial park on paper. It will be our responsibility to develop the park and improve access to it," Cliff said.

Former sergeant-at-arms Gregory Harvey was installed as president for the coming year, with John Hardie, educational vice-president; Jack Kenny, secretary; Leonard Masse, treasurer; John Hamilton, sergeant-at-arms.

The Goult Shield for oratory was presented to Henry Lock, the McGugan Trophy to Victor Gilbert and the de Salis trophy to Hardie. Chong Kim received an award as the most promising toastmaster.

Membership pins for outstanding service to the club went to David Bayliss, Kenneth Black, Kenney and John Hamilton.

MASSACRES PROTESTED

SAIGON (UPI) — Hundreds of students stormed the Cambodian embassy building in Saigon today, protesting the massacres of Vietnamese civilians in Cambodia.

National police reported some windows smashed in the embassy on Le Van Dyet Street in the heart of the city but hastily erected barricades and a barrage of tear gas kept student reinforcements away.

Other students at Saigon University burned an effigy of Cambodian Premier Gen. Lon Nol after an open forum on "the massacre of Vietnamese in Cambodia."

Cambodia Arms Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Debate over a possible widening of United States military involvement in Southeast Asia was expected to emerge with new force today following government approval of a transfer of arms from South Vietnam to Cambodia.

Disclosure of indirect U.S. arms aid to Cambodia aroused immediate concern among anti-war senators.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, J. William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) complained that the administration was not consulting Congress about the Cambodian request for direct U.S. aid.

He also announced plans to send two committee staff members to Phnom Penh early next week to report on Cambodia's request and the general situation in the country.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) declined immediate comment on the White House disclosure but reiterated that the U.S. should refrain from arming Cambodia.

A White House spokesman confirmed Thursday that the Nixon administration had approved the transfer to Phnom Penh of several thousand Communist-made AK-47 rifles captured in the Vietnam war.

But he made it clear that the government still is withholding action on a Cambodian request for direct U.S. military aid.

ARMS NEEDED

U.S. military leaders have warned President Nixon that arms and military advisers are urgently needed to prevent collapse of Gen. Lon Nol's government, according to a briefing without attribution Thursday.

Nixon is scheduled to meet with the National Security Council today and observers predicted that the Cambodian situation will be under urgent consideration.

Fighting stepped up throughout Cambodia today as the Viet Cong severed vital road links east and south of the capital and surrounded two Cambodian battalions to the northeast.

Informed military observers said the Viet Cong, although posing no immediate threat to Phnom Penh, might be attempting a wide circling movement around the city.

The South Vietnamese army is putting more artillery and troops along several hundred miles of the Cambodian border in preparation for more armed forays into Cambodia in pursuit of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, informed Vietnamese sources said today.

TAX CHANGE TIME DEPENDS ON HEARINGS

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's announcement that it would introduce tax changes in 1971 is not necessarily binding, Finance Minister Edgar Benson said today in the Commons.

He added in reply to Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield that introduction of such legislation will depend on the speed with which Commons and Senate committees deal with the white paper on tax changes.

Drafting of the legislation is not under way, he said.

Stanfield asked when new proposals will be advanced concerning small business.

Benson said submissions ate being studied and his department is looking at the financing problems of small business.

Alcan Holds Price Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The Aluminum Co. of Canada has agreed not to increase prices in Canada, the prices and incomes commission announced today.

That applies to ingots and semi-fabricated products.

The commission said the Alcan decision was taken following meetings with the commission.

U.S. producers have announced price increases recently and Alcan has raised its prices outside the country.

"In the course of discussions with representatives of Alcan, consideration was given to the impact which price increases for domestic sales of ingot and semi-fabricated products would have on the Canadian program of reducing the number and size of price increases," the commission announcement said.

"The commission strongly expressed the opinion that higher domestic aluminum prices would be harmful to the national program of price restraint and would therefore not be opportune."

The commission announced Thursday it will study the impact of higher prices on copper sold in Canada. The copper industry had sought a price increase but was "prevailed upon" earlier not to take such a step.

Copper, like aluminum, has higher world market prices than those now existing in Canada.

SPIT AND POLISH and a final crash of rifle fire will end 110 years of history and colorful tradition Saturday at 2 p.m. when the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles fires its final feu de joie. The ceremony will mark retirement of the battalion from the regular order of battle of the Canadian Forces. Monday the Queen's Own becomes the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The Queen's Own is Canada's oldest regiment; it fired its first feu de joie in 1860.

Bertrand Attacks PM In Bid for Mandate

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Thursday he would "put Trudeau in his place" if Quebecers give his governing Union Nationale party a clear mandate in next Wednesday's general election.

Bertrand said in a speech at Beauceville, 46 miles south of Quebec City, that a strong Union Nationale government would tell Prime Minister Trudeau that it is the "voice of Quebec" demanding the province's rights.

He said the Union Nationale would demand decentralization of administrative and taxation powers and oppose "Trudeau-style" centralized federalism.

THEIR OWN MASTERS

"We are going to take the time to agree among ourselves and we are going to ask Ottawa and the other provinces to understand better the aspirations of a Quebec which wants to be more the master in its own house."

Meanwhile, Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa criticized the Union Nationale and the separatist Parti Quebecois for contradicting themselves in their campaign statements and PQ chief Rene Levesque said an independent Quebec would have no federalist political parties.

Also, Roland Morin, leader of the Quebec New Democratic Party, said his party may go to the Supreme Court of Canada to contest a decision by the CBC and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission which denies it free-time political broadcasts.

Levesque said in Montreal that "and federalist party would be laughed out of the Quebec political picture" after Quebec left Confederation.

BIG BUSINESS

The existing established parties would be rejected as alternatives to the Parti Quebecois because they were dominated by big business, which provided their election campaign funds.

Released in Montreal today was a survey by political pollster Peter Regenstrief who predicted the Liberals would gain the most votes but would not gain a majority of votes.

He predicted the Parti Quebecois would place second with the Union Nationale a poor third.

Basing his poll on 820 telephone calls in the past week, Regenstrief gave 32 per cent of the vote to the Liberals, 23 per cent to the separatists, 16 per cent to the UN, 9 per cent to the newly-organized provincial Creditistes, 1 per cent to the NDP and 19 per cent undecided.

Bid to Slay Formosa Official Foiled by Fast-Moving Police

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The son of Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan today when a fast-thinking patrolman grabbed a gunman's arm just as a shot was fired.

Deputy Premier Chiang Ching-kuo of Formosa missed death by inches when the bullet smashed into a revolving door at the posh Plaza Hotel just as he was entering.

Police grabbed two men on the spot and took them away after a brief struggle. The men were identified as "ethnic Chinese" but authorities could not say immediately whether they are from Formosa.

Chiang, 60, had just stepped from his car when the assassination attempt was staged.

Patrolman Henry Suarez, posted near the hotel, spotted two men heading toward the hotel entrance.

"Look out, he's got a gun," he yelled as Patrolman James Czieda who leaped forward and grabbed the gunman's arm just as the shot was being fired.

Suarez then subdued the second man, who had a knife.

ARMY REBELS SURRENDER

Times News Services

PORT OF SPAIN — Trinidad authorities today announced that 79 Black Power rebels in the army have surrendered and are in police detention.

The insurrectionists mutinied early this week, during Black Power protests which swept the island, taking hostages and capturing the country's only armory. (See details on Page 2.)

Cyanide Recovered In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The last of five 250-pound drums of cyanide power which dropped into Montreal's harbor's Bickerdike Basin Thursday night was recovered today.

Harbor police said "every thing seems to be normal and there is no danger at all."

The last drum was recovered at about 11 a.m., 19 hours after it and four others slipped from a cargo sling being used to load a Danish freighter.

The four other drums were recovered from the silt-covered floor of the murky 32-foot-deep basin late Thursday. The fifth slipped from its recovery sling as it was being hauled out and divers had to suspend their search until early today.

Benguet Partner Tied to Gunderson

By BRUCE YEMEN

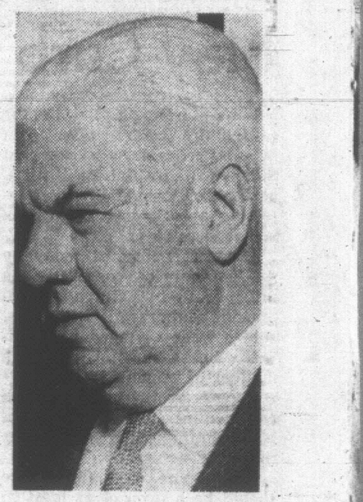
Opposition Leader Dave Barrett has called "with a renewed sense of urgency" for a judicial inquiry into the Cypress Bowl affair.

At a press conference Thursday, he declared that a sister company of Benguet Consolidated Inc. has bought into two B.C. investment companies in which Social Credit Party fund raiser Einar Gunderson is a director.

Firm Still Talking Bowl Deal



GUNDERSON
. . . Socred fund raiser

He also said he has a letter showing that Benguet's lawyers say the controversial Bahamian company is still negotiating with the provincial government for development of the 6,000-acre West Vancouver bowl in spite of Attorney-General Peterson's statements that Benguet is "unacceptable" in British Columbia.

Neither Gunderson nor any members of the provincial cabinet could be reached this morning for comment on Barrett's allegations.

Development of the recreational area on leased public land was stopped by the government last fall under pressure after a storm of protest over Benguet's reputation. The corporation was involved in a Bahamian political scandal involving payoffs to government officials during setting up of casino operations in the country.

Barrett said last fall that if the "heat" became too much for Benguet it would make an attempt to stay in Cypress Bowl through a "front" company.

Gunderson Named As Director

He told a press conference in his Victoria office Thursday afternoon that Gunderson, B.C. finance minister for a brief period in the early 1960s and now a director of B.C. Hydro, is a director of NWL Financial Corporation Ltd. of Vancouver and of Federated Investments Ltd., of Vancouver and Calgary.

During the past several days, he said, a company called Residential Resort Development Ltd. of Freeport, Bahamas, had bought 38 per cent of the two B.C. companies.

"Residential is a Louis Chesler company and Louis Chesler is the partner of Wallace Groves of the Grand Bahamas Development and Benguet," Barrett said.

"Both Grand Bahamas and Benguet featured prominently in a royal commission on organized crime and gambling in the Bahamas.

"Chesler and Groves through their dealings, as stated by the royal commission, through front companies paid large sums of money to Bahama cabinet ministers and paid $10,000 per month to the Bahamian government's political party campaign funds.

"The B.C. companies — NWL and Federated Investments — have one prominent political figure as a director. That figure is Einar M. Gunderson, who is the publicly-acknowledged Social Credit party fund-raiser, and he is in a company that has a direct connection with Benguet."

A-G Stated Company Not Welcome

"This in itself would not be a matter of great concern if it were not for the fact that the attorney-general of B.C. has stated that the Benguet company is not welcome in this province and has, according to the attorney-general, been told they're not welcome."

Peter G. Ropchan, president of NWL Financial Corp. said in Vancouver that shares purchased by Residential Resort Development Ltd. do not constitute control of NWL.

He said control remains with the directors and long-time shareholders of NWL and North West Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

He said the shares acquired by exchange were not acquired from the treasury.

Barrett said he has written to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigations, asking for "specific information about the Benguet corporation and Mr. Chesler, and Mr. Chesler's relationship with Myer Lansky which forced the emigration of three Mafia employees of Mr. Chesler to the United States (from the Bahamas). . .

He said he also has written to Commissioner W. L. Higgett of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police asking for information about the Bahamas company.

'Public Has Not Been Told Truth'

"I asked him if he is aware that the Residential Resort Ltd. of the Bahamas, a sister company of the Benguet corporation, has bought a major share of the NWL Financial Corporation of B.C., and what is his opinion of this kind of money coming into Canada.

"What it really boils down to . . . the public of B.C. has not been told the truth about this government's dealings at arm's length with the Benguet corporation.

"The attorney-general's statement that Benguet is not welcome in B.C. has not been heard by anyone representing the Benguet corporation and, indeed, it has not been heard by his cabinet colleague, the minister of land and forests (Ray Williston).

Pool Vote Pessimism Hits Cowichan

By ED GOULD
An Analysis

DUNCAN — A feeling of pessimism prevails in the Cowichan Valley on the eve of voting on the $400,000 swimming pool bylaw despite the vote-getting efforts today of a Jaycess parade and swimsuit fashion show.

Organizers feel that if the voters turn down the bylaw, as they did the recreation bylaw of November, 1968, the area will never establish a permanent base for recreational development.

Speaking to Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce last week, pool campaign chairman Pat Moore said "we stand on the threshold of defeating this bylaw and it makes me very sad indeed."

Moore wears two hats, the other as chairman of Operation Recreation, the organization composed of most area service clubs and other community groups. More than anyone else, and there have been many, he sparked the Op-Rec-Pool campaign movement.

Op-Rec now has about $80,000 in pledges and cash which will be used to defray the cost of extras that are expected even if the bylaw for $400,000 is passed.

However, promoters are also hoping that the Op-Rec funds will be available to help reduce the amount that needs to be borrowed.

Focal Point Needed

Moore said the community (Duncan and North Cowichan) needed a focal point to draw it together. A goal, a source of pride, is required.

"But people in this community over the past years have shown they will not co-operate or work towards any goal."

This, despite the unanimous backing of both councils and mayors.

But the fears of defeat may be groundless. The November, 1968, recreation bylaw was for a much larger, more expensive and completed facility. The city voters approved it and North Cowichan voters only rejected it by a whisker.

The major dissenters were those in the unorganized areas south of Duncan who traditionally have been against anything that would raise taxes.

This time around the unorganized areas are not voting but there are still dissenters. An anonymous group calling itself "the committee of interested local citizens" has inserted advertisements in a local weekly urging that those who want the pool should pay for it.

Letters to the editor have come from old-age pensioners and those on fixed income who state they want no part of it.

While Op-Ree says in another ad, "the approval of the bylaw would add less than 4¾ mills to your taxes, between $2 and $3 a month to the average homeowner," the "interested citizens" put it another way:

"The owner of a home assessed for $10,000 will pay a minimum of $40 a year for the swimming pool alone."

It also urges that all "no" voters get out to the polls Saturday.

"Your non-vote is a yes vote" it declares.

Several other factors, partly psychological, give the bylaw promoters cause for gloom.

The failure of the $213,000 school building bylaw April 18 and the squeaker victory of the $30,000 Maple Bay fire hall bylaw April 9 are an indication of homeowner reluctance to add anything more to their tax burden.

Add to this the looming bylaw for construction of an extended care unit at Cowichan District Hospital and the recent announcement that North Cowichan budget indicates a three-mill increase for general purposes, and you can understand why pool promoters have their hearts in their mouths awaiting the outcome of the Saturday vote.

$35,000 Needed For Arena

LAKE COWICHAN — A total of $215,000 in debentures has been sold but another $35,000 in sales is necessary to assure completion of the ice arena, the arena committee said Thursday.

Committee members urged those who pledged money to support construction of the $392,000 arena to honor their commitments as soon as possible.

When $250,000 worth of the debentures are sold in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 at 9½ per cent interest, the balance will be sold through a broker.

Meanwhile, village council was notified by Western Forest Industries Ltd. that they had agreed to sell .82 acres of land adjacent to the arena site for parking facilities.

Mill manager Don Hammond told council it was not company policy to sell land but they would make an exception in this instance and accept payment in arena debentures.

Last weekend equipment was donated by large and small logging companies and contractors, as well as village and school board, to excavate, load and haul gravel to the arena site.

Water Condemned

GANGES — Water used by Saturna Island school has been condemned by health authorities, Trustee Tom Davidson has told Gulf Island school board.

Davidson said a maximum of $300 would provide an ultra-violet light unit that would lower the bacteria count to a safe level. Water had to be boiled for use.

The request was turned down on the basis that the school's water was supplied from a local water system which should be responsible for purifying it.

SCHOOL SHOW A WILDE ONE

DUNCAN — "The Canterville Ghost" by Oscar Wilde and produced as this season's production by Cowichan Senior Secondary School's department of theatre, will be seen at the auditorium tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m.

The play is a romantic comedy concerning a wealthy father who buys an English castle only to find it has a ghost in it. To complicate matters, his daughter falls in love with the ghost.

SCHOOL MERGER URGED

NORTH COWICHAN — Education Minister Donald Brothers will be invited to arrange a meeting with Ladysmith and North Cowichan councils to determine whether amalgamation of the two school districts would alleviate the tax burden.

Ladysmith has the highest school tax mill rate of 45 B.C. schools which produced increased budgets this year.

North Cowichan council proposed Thursday to do something about it.

The council was concerned mostly for Chemainus residents. Chemainus is in Ladysmith School District but lies within North Cowichan municipality.

Ladysmith district registered a 6.89 jump to a new high of 43.37 mills, more than 35 per cent above the provincial average.

Gulf Islands, Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo, Qualicum, Courtenay, Vancouver Island West and Vancouver Island North, all had reduced mill rates this year, according to figures released by Brothers.

Mayor Gerry Smith told a special meeting of council that Chemainus had always been in the unfortunate position of not having a large assessment base and had consistently "with one or two exceptions" had a higher mill rate than the southern portion of the municipality.

MERGER OR SPLIT

In School District 65 (Cowichan) the value of one mill was $88,161 compared with $26,134 for School District 67 (Ladysmith).

He said there were two alternatives: amalgamate Cowichan and Ladysmith or split Ladysmith district with Nanaimo school district.

Ald. Margaret Robertson said the council did not wish to interfere with the school districts but it had a responsibility towards the residents of Chemainus.

FIRST WOMAN JUDGE NAMED ON ISLAND

A Ucluelet woman Thursday became Vancouver Island's first woman provincial court judge when Attorney-General Leslie Peterson signed the official proclamation.

She is Myrtle Saxton, whose husband died several years ago in a logging accident.

A registered nurse, Mrs. Saxton was recently named to the provincial advisory committee on recreation.

She is the fourth woman judge to be appointed in B.C.

She will sit in Tofino and Ucluelet.

Three Sent to Jail After Fatal Break-In

LAKE COWICHAN — Three youths were jailed and a fourth was put on probation Thursday for a store break-in in which a young man was shot and killed by the store proprietor.

Richard Lloyd Lawrence Bigcharles, 20, was put on two years probation.

The Crown, citing the death of his brother Stanley William Bigcharles, 21, pleaded for leniency in his case.

William Kester Jollimore, 19, and David Douglas Bailor, 19, both of Haney, B.C., pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent and each was sentenced to nine months definite and a year indeterminate.

R. D. Cunningham, 17, a Hammond, B.C., juvenile reaised to adult court, was given a similar sentence. He pleaded guilty to the same charge.

Stanley Bigcharles was shot during the April 9 break-in.

H. B. G. Merkel, 42, owner of Merkel's Furniture, has been charged with causing death by criminal negligence.

What makes the Sprinter sprint?

It's one of the first questions people ask after they've taken the Sprinter for a spin. The answer is not one but a combination of things that Sprinter has and the others don't.

Like the engine, it's 73 horsepower. Bigger and faster than anything else in its class. It delivers a top speed of over 90 mph, a cruising speed of 75, and up to 35 miles to the gallon. It has the speed you need for in-and-out city driving and the power it takes to pass a truck on a two lane highway.

The steering response is quick and accurate which is great for heavy traffic. And the built-in low centre of gravity keeps it solid and steady on the open road. The durable MacPherson strut independent front suspension makes for better handling and a better ride inside.

The 4-on-the-floor all synchromesh transmission makes the Sprinter sprint best, but the fully automatic is fun too. (Whatever turns you on). The automatic is optional and so is the radio. Everything else is standard.

Tinted glass all around, reclining bucket seats, door-to-door carpeting, white walls, wheel discs and winter equipment.

All these things, combined with a sleek fastback design, go together to make the Sprinter sprint.

They go together to give you much more than a means of transportation.

The Sprinter is not just functional, it's fun. And regardless of what you're driving now, we think you'll like this one.

See your nearest Toyota dealer and take the Sprinter for a spin.

servant and throughout carried out Ojukwu's orders. Could he not have voiced his opposition to secession in most of the meetings he held with Ojukwu's governing bodies? Of course not; nobody dared to. What did he plan to do now? Well, he is still a civil servant, so any job the federal government gave him, he was ready to do.

Saddened By War

Sir Francis Ibiam returned saddened by the havoc the "unfortunate" war caused and now ready to contribute his quota to rebuilding a strong and united Nigeria.

Earlier, many other Ibo leaders had tried, through the mass media, to exonerate themselves from any complicity in the Biafra attempt. They also said they did whatever they did on orders or they would have been shot.

Leaders Blamed

Ibo youths, however, took these leaders to task for what they considered cheapening to their race and more important, unnecessary. In articles in Nigerian newspapers, they asked if Ojukwu single-handedly could have done what he did without support from the natural rulers and intellectuals — and most of all, kept Biafra on for 30 months — against the might of federal troops. One irate Ibo youth asked: "Could Ojukwu have been the head of the army, the director of Biafra's effective propaganda machinery, the boss of the land army (Biafra's farmers' corps), the chief of research and production department (which produced petrol, crude hand grenades and land mines)? These people should spare us the trouble of listening to the trash they dish out. General Gowon has said there is amnesty for all so please let them shut their traps. After all, we all know what everybody did during the war."

U.S. Gives Firm Approval for Testing Of Controversial Anti-Cancer Drug

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has given approval for the testing on humans of a highly controversial anti-cancer drug, one the FDA long has refused to license.

The drug is Laetrile, the proprietary name for amygdalin, a chemical derived from apricot pits.

While the drug's supporters claim great benefits among cancer patients, the American Cancer Society lists Laetrile among "unproven" drugs and says its students find no objective evidence of benefit from it. Other cancer authorities have called it "dubious" or "worthless."

Under federal law, the FDA has banned sale and use of Laetrile because it has not gone through the process of legal and orderly testing to show that it is effective and safe, an FDA spokesman said. He said this applies to all drugs, and that these requirements protect the health of people because otherwise anyone could prepare a batch of chemicals and claim it helped cure a disease.

The FDA gave permission for the first step toward any approval—the clinical testing—by granting a number to an investigative new drug application filed April 6 by the McNaughton Foundation of Sausalito, Calif.

This does not mean the FDA has made any judgment as to the worth or safety of the drug, the FDA official said. It means only that the proposal to investigate it in humans met certain requirements stipulated by the FDA.

These include the names and qualifications of physicians who will conduct human studies, requirements for data-keeping, and general outline for the proposed studies. The McNaughton application also included results of drug tests in animals, and its report on results with human patients in other countries where the drug has been used legally.

The drug is being made legally available only for the clinical studies, not for general use among any cancer patients.

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Several major awards in the Victoria Music Festival were settled Thursday night in a program which drew a capacity audience to First United Fellowship Hall.

Climax of the evening were the competitions for the two traditional trophies — the Rose Bowl and City of Victoria Medallion.

OUTSTANDING

The Rose Bowl competition is open to outstanding performers selected by the adjudicator from adult vocal solo classes. Rankin Bushby had chosen three — soprano Susan Word and mezzos Andrea Mellis and Evelyn Westinghouse.

A fine performance of the brilliant aria, Una voce poca fa from Rossini's opera, The Barber of Seville, won the trophy for Miss Westinghouse.

There were only two competitors for the Medallion, which is for winners of all open piano classes, as Susan de Burgh and Frances Crampton between them had shared all the open "firsts."

Both pianists were in excellent form Thursday, but by "the unanimous decision" of the adjudicators the Medallion was awarded to Susan for her exquisite Bach performance.

These two winners will appear on the Festival Highlights program at McPherson Playhouse, Saturday.

Special junior and senior Beethoven bicentenary classes preceded the trophy events.

Competing in the junior section were pianists Mary Chard, Heather Attwell and Diane Crowther, vocalists Hilary Scott, Linda Scanlan, Jennifer Angus and Robin Powell and harpist Annabelle Burrows.

"Everyone likes this type of competition by the adjudicators," said Sidney Harrison in making the award. "But it is an almost impossible task to compare performers who are in many ways not to be compared."

SHORT TIME TO TRAIN

He pointed out that junior singers can only have had an extremely short training period whereas violinists and pianists of the same age can have had several years.

Mary Chard was named winner of this section.

Pianist Linn Hendry, violinist Jacqueline Tarry and vocalists Lynden Felton, Madeleine Groos and Andrea Mellis were the competitors in the senior section.

The winner was Jacqueline Tarry who had also, last week, won the major strings award, the Congress of Strings scholarship.

Both these girls will be appearing Saturday night and in May will go to Vancouver to compete in the B.C. Beethoven finals.

Tonight's special event is the speech arts honor performance in which several outstanding performances will be repeated and there will be a winners' competition for a bursary award.

Those who have been attending the speech section at St. Ann's Academy should note that the honor performance will take place at Blanshard Street School, starting at 8.

CHORAL PROGRAM

This evening at Fellowship Hall, an all choral program will include a campfire singing competition, church choir under 16, ladies' choir and mixed choir other than church in which the Amity Singers will vie with the Wyvern Singers and The Skylarks.

St. John's Church Choir will be singing and The Arion Male Choir will conclude the program.

The session at St. John's Hall will begin with a classical guitar solo open class. There are five entries and the adjudicator is Chris Jordan, widely known Vancouver guitarist.

The balance of the evening will be given over to the last of the piano classes.

Hickel to Approve Alaskan Oil Pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel says the proposed oil pipeline across Alaska can be built without damaging the tundra and that a permit for its construction probably will be issued in the near future.

"Now, after more than a year of research, the engineering and scientific experts on our technical advisory board have established that the pipeline can be built with complete safety," he told an "Earth Day" audience Wednesday at the University of Alaska.

"The permit will be issued for the right-of-way just as soon as the terms and conditions have been agreed upon between the parties involved, and all requirements of law have been met," he said.

Conservationists have opposed construction of the pipeline across Alaska for fear of environmental damage to the Arctic tundra. The proposed 800-mile pipeline would extend from Prudhoe Bay to the Port of Valdez.

"I can guarantee that we will not approve any design based on the old faulty concept of 'Build Now, Repair Later'," he said. "Further, our detailed examination of the pipeline specifications will continue to include review by our wildlife experts to insure that migratory patterns, such as those of the caribou, are not seriously altered."

Plans also call for "thorough consideration to all other ecological factors to make certain that the pipeline can never become an environmental disaster," he said.

Jaycees Stationed on Top Floor Of Historic Emily Carr Mansion

By PAT DUFOUR

A duplicating machine and other office equipment have replaced the furnishings that once filled the bedrooms where Emily Carr and her sisters were born and raised.

A few days ago the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce moved out of its rented quarters on Douglas and took over the six rooms on the top floor of 207 Government, the birthplace of B.C.'s most famous painter.

The house is due to be opened to the public June 5 and is being restored as a joint financial project between the Jaycees and the federal government.

•

George Nairn, chairman of the Jaycees' Emily Carr Foundation, estimated that by that date $65,000 will have been spent on the project.

Of this amount, $25,000 has been contributed by the federal government, whose historic sites and monuments board has classified the old home as being of national historic significance.

The home was saved from demolition in 1966 when Victoria MP David Groos bought it for $15,000 as a delaying tactic.

Jerry Gosley, as co-ordinator of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society in 1967, persuaded the Jaycees to take on the home as a project. They paid $17,500, the increased price covering overdue taxes.

Since that time the Jaycees have worked toward the official opening day.

Gradually the home is being brought back to life under the guidance of architect Peter Cotton. One discovery was a boarded-up fireplace in a main floor room where, according to Emily Carr's writings, her father cooked Sunday dinners over a spit.

•

Because of high costs, only four of the seven rooms on the main floor will be ready for the public by the opening date.

Nairn reports that the progress has been slowed by the need for careful research in order to bring the house back, as closely as possible, to the days when Emily Carr used to scandalize her sisters by sneaking off to the barn to have a smoke.

There are some innovations unheard of when Emily Carr was born in the California redwood house Dec. 13, 1871.

•

Electric heat units have been installed in every room, many in the ceilings and some in the fireplaces downstairs. A modern kitchen and bathroom have been built on the top floor.

Many of the aging walls have been preserved by installing linen over the crumbling plaster. The Jaycees are hoping to get donations that will help them cover the walls of one main floor room with a copy of the original wallpaper.

Their pleas for tax exemption fell on deaf ears at city hall but crews from the city's parks department are landscaping the garden and will plant it with shrubs and flowers similar to those the artist and her family enjoyed.

Victorian light fixtures have been garnered for every room but the house will have to wait for furniture to help bring it back to life. The Jaycees are hoping that donations of Victorian pieces will soon help make the rooms look less barren.

•

Seventeen copies of the artist's paintings have been ordered, 11 of them 30 by 40 inches, the remainder, 20 by 24 inches.

But, for the opening says president Stan Wallace, the Jaycees hope to borrow some of the Carr paintings now hanging in the Victoria and Vancouver galleries.

Along with the paintings, arranged to show a span of 10 years' work in each room, will be display biographies of the artist's life.

Nairn explains that only school children and specialized groups will be able to view the house after the official opening until July 17. Then it will be opened to the general public for a nominal fee, designed to cover operating costs.

Next Battle Of Smith's Hill Set for May 14

The battle of Smith's Hill was adjourned Thursday without city council making a decision on a rezoning application to build 122 apartment suites near Spencer Castle.

Council listened to both sides for more than an hour, and then adjourned the public hearing to May 14 in the hopes of a compromise between the developer, Danzo and Franco Holdings, and its opponents — the residents of single-family houses in the area.

Seventy-five persons attended the hearing, nearly all of them concerned about this issue.

The residents, represented by lawyer Bob Hutchison, held an informal meeting in an adjoining committee room but no compromise appeared.

'PUT OUT'

Hutchison said later he feels the residents are being "put out" because it costs money to take time off work to attend day-time meetings. A public hearing earlier this month was delayed until Thursday because full council wasn't present.

"They are prepared to look at the proposed plans but feel the area should be developed for single family residences," he said.

"We have discussed room to compromise but this does not look bright. The residents feel council and the planning department have not given full consideration to development on a single-family basis."

$70,000 ANNUALLY

The hearing was told by public relations man Gordon Root, appearing for the developer, that tax revenue of $70,000 a year on the $2.5 million apartment would be more than double the tax revenue of single-family houses.

There would also be higher municipal maintenance costs for services to houses and while the apartment would pay full school taxes, rentals in the $200-plus a month range were not within reach of the average family.

Root said that the majority of residents in the area do not oppose the planned apartment, where the suites would be sold and not rented.

QUIET FOLKS

He produced a petition of 74 persons from 60 properties against the residents' petition of 64 signatures from 39 properties.

Hutchison told the hearing the residents are "normally quiet, unassuming citizens who live a normal life in a neighborhood that they enjoy and which is almost semi-rural. They very naturally don't want an apartment development built above their backyards.

"They are appealing to you to put a stop to what they regard as bad planning, bad economics and bad morals. I say bad morals because most of the residents of Montrose Avenue who complain about this development purchased their lots from the city of Victoria in the early 1960s.

SINGLE FAMILY

"At that time they were given every indication by the city of Victoria that the remaining lots to the north of them would be kept for single-family dwellings and would be put on the market as soon as the city could afford to put in the improvements."

He said increases in such services as garbage collection and fire protection would offset the increased assessments. The prospect of an extra 244 cars running up and down The Rise "horrifies my clients."

March on Dock Set Saturday

A Victoria-based protest group plans to march on the Black Ball ferry terminal Saturday afternoon to demonstrate against the planned shipment of nerve gas from Okinawa through Juan de Fuca Strait to Bangor, Wash.

Bob Munro, chairman of Operation Nerve Gas, said the march will follow a program of speeches to be given at the Trans-Canada Highway's Mile 0 marker in Beacon Hill Park.

Black Ball terminal was singled out as the target for the demonstration because U.S. ferries dock there and it represents the Canada-U.S. border, Munro said.

More than 2,000 persons demonstrated at the same terminal last October to protest the detonation of an American nuclear device on Amchitka Island in the North Pacific.

Munro said he does not feel American visitors to Victoria will take offence to the demonstration because of the many protests to the shipment made by American residents of Oregon and Washington.

P.A.N.G. SPEAKER

Scheduled to speak as the pre-march meeting are Ralph Freedman, executive secretary of P.A.N.G. (People Against Nerve Gas) from Portland, Ore., and Dr. Miriam Benston, a biochemist from Simon Fraser University who will speak about the nature of nerve gas and the possible effects of a spill.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at noon with the march to the terminal coinciding with the arrival of the Black Ball ferry from Port Anteles at 1:00 p.m.

PETITION

A petition will be circulated at the meeting asking that President Nixon either cancel or re-route the shipment of gas.

In Olympia, Washington Governor Dan Evans said that he has received no indication from Defence Secretary Melvin Laird that the shipment plans have been changed in any way.

Evans also said he still thinks the chances of a suit he and Oregon Governor Tom McCall filed in federal court seeking to block the shipment is "pretty much of a long shot."

He Won't Give Up

Amalgamation died without a comment at city council Thursday.

But Ald. Clyde Savage, who initiated the move to seek inter-municipal talks on the advantages and disadvantages of amalgamation or merged services, said later he isn't giving up.

"I think that eventually Dan Campbell (minister of municipal affairs) through the regional board or some other way will see these municipalities act together.

He said it is "unfortunate" that Oak Bay and Esquimalt didn't want to discuss the situation. Only Saanich of the Greater Victoria municipalities (other than Victoria) was prepared to.

Council Should Decide Expenditures – Voter

At least one city voter says he will oppose the $6.3 million capital budget referendum April 30.

Jack McKenzie, 1421 Taunton, said in a letter to Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock that although it is a requirement of the Municipal Act, he thinks council itself should make such decisions on expenditures.

McKenzie said he favors continued development and is prepared to support necessary projects with taxes, but "I do not believe I should be burdened by decisions council should make."

RESPONSIBILITY

The referendum placed on the voters the responsibility for examinging each project in detail and "I do not wish to examine each money bylaw in detail nor do I wish to be responsible for passage or failure of a measure that I have not fully examined."

McKenzie said he will vote against the capital budget and any money bylaw because council members should be responsible for acts of council.

He wanted to see municipalities say they want the Municipal Act changed so there are no referendums. He enclosed a cheque for $1 to "show I am prepared to accept responsible government" by council.

COMMUNIST PARTY

Ernest Knott, of the local branch of the Communist Party, said in a press release Thursday that ratepayers should vote against the referendum.

"The fact that 70 per cent of the money is earmarked for street work to serve the downtown business area and that there is nothing in the budget for residential streets and services shows that the bylaw is designed to serve downtown business interests," he stated.

He also said only about 5 per cent of the money is to be used for pollution control and environmental improvements and there were no plans for improvement of parks and recreational services in residential districts.

Bureau Head To Join Review

Ed Gould, well-known area author and freelance writer who has been the Times Duncan bureau chief for the last two years, will move to Review Publications Ltd. May 1, as a special feature writer, Review publisher John Manning announced today.

Manning said other developments at the Review include name changes in the Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich weeklies he purchased in early March this year.

On April 30 the Oak Bay Leader will become the Oak Bay Review, the Esquimalt Sentinel will become the Esquimalt Review, and the Saanich Star will be called the Saanich Review.

The papers will be identical excpt for their headings, Manning said.

"This way we can combine news from all three areas so that someone in Oak Bay will get community news from Esquimalt and Saanich."

Manning also publishes the Review in Sidney.

Times Man Chairs City Budget Panel

Victoria — where it is and where it's going — will be the subject of a special report Sunday at 2 p.m. on CHEK-TV, Channel 6.

Times city hall reporter Jim Hume will moderate a panel made up of City Manager Dennis Young, City Engineer James Garnett and Ald. Harold Olafson.

Title of the program is Capital Reports: Your City In The Seventies.

Arthur Mayse . . .

WHATEVER ELSE HE forgets, a man remembers his first payroll job. A logging company came through with the one I grabbed when all seemed lost, and even though the opening wasn't intended for me, I remain grateful.

In the fat years, a boy can pick and choose. But let a depression — or a recession — settle in, and the situation changes.

A job is a job, and the fact that it may be hateful doesn't signify.

That spring in the early 1930s, I tried for some pretty hateful jobs. But I couldn't find one, even as a chicken-plucker.

Job-hunting is an ordeal. After enough turndowns, you find that you're fighting yourself as well as luckless circumstance. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, A sense of inferiority sets in.

In an employers' market, the operator with a job to give can afford to be choosy.

In a piddling little outfit on Vancouver's False Creek, the owner vetted me like a slave on an auction block. Finally he ordered me to extend my hands so that he could check my fingers for nicotine stains.

He had his troubles too, and I suspect now that he was propping his courage by proving to himself that he could dominate in one area at least. But I told him where to go, and marched out of his gloomy cavern jobless still and thoroughly miserable.

At this point, the gods smiled. It was a quirky smile, but it served. A friend who had already found work got a reply from Bloedel, Stewart and Welsh to an earlier application. This created an embarrassment of riches, which we swiftly solved. He would give me his letter from the logging company, and I would borrow his name for the summer.

Having told you before about the problems and complications that lurk for the person who assumes an alias, I won't repeat that tale.

Enough that I lugged pack, boots and suitcase up a steamer gangplank the same night, with my fare paid in advance to Bloedel's beach camp at Menzies Bay.

As first jobs go, there's much to be said for the one that takes a boy or girl away from home, parents and friends. It speeds the process of growing up, and at the cost of a little homesickness, it develops a wonderful sense of independence and freedom.

I was homesick that night on the steamer that trudged from one outport to another up the Gulf of Georgia. But that faded even before we nosed into the beach camp dock and a new world.

It was the world of the great railway shows that logged Vancouver Island's coastal flats. To enter it as a green and lowly spark-chaser was disconcertingly like starting school again.

I suppose any first job is like that to a boy who has never served set hours for steady pay before. The older hands are familiar with their work. They know their way around, and their busyness is daunting to the still-unassigned.

And in the complex, departmented kingdom in which I'd arrived, nothing was as I'd imagined it would be.

Fire patrol, for instance, wasn't a day-long hike through green woods.

It consisted mostly of watching a triangle of ravaged forest floor along which a big black donkey-engine was yarding logs. The donkey stack could cast a spark. The spark might land where it could touch off a fire. If it did, I was to get in there with a bucket and douse it.

If a bucket wouldn't do the trick, there was a fire hose connected to the donkey, and extra sections to couple on.

The assistant fire chief, his instructions given, hopped on his railway speeder and racketed off down the grade.

Promptly, a couple of the loggers on the yarder crew which had inherited me contrived to set a few twigs smouldering behind a stump.

That May, the woods were damp from plentiful rains. Those chokermen had a hard time keeping the smudge alight long enough for me to spot it.

But I did see its smoke finally, and scampered down the sidehill with sloshing bucket to douse it.

It was an initiation of sorts, complete with laughter and high-humored kidding. It was also an introduction: it tumbled me into the crew and opened the door to the friendships a boy makes on his first job.

Back in town again at summer's end, I felt a reverse kind of homesickness. I thought often about the camp and the men on the yarder crew, and wondered if they'd finisihed logging the setting at the end of the railway spur.

Somewhere tucked away, I have a picture of that crew still, taken by an itinerant photographer. I always meant to frame it.

Perhaps a first job sticks in memory because it marks a transition. I never thought of myself as a boy after that summer.

Cypress Bowl Inquiry More Urgent: Barrett

MASSACRES PROTESTED

SAIGON (UPI) — Hundreds of students stormed the Cambodian embassy building in Saigon today, protesting the massacres of Vietnamese civilians in Cambodia.

National police reported some windows smashed in the embassy on Le Van Dyet Street in the heart of the city but hastily erected barricades and a barrage of tear gas kept student reinforcements away.

Other students at Saigon University burned an effigy of Cambodian Premier Gen. Lon Nol after an open forum on "the massacre of Vietnamese in Cambodia."

Cambodia Arms Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Debate over a possible widening of United States military involvement in Southeast Asia was expected to emerge with new force today following government approval of a transfer of arms from South Vietnam to Cambodia.

Disclosure of indirect U.S. arms aid to Cambodia aroused immediate concern among anti-war senators.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, J. William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) complained that the administration was not consulting Congress about the Cambodian request for direct U.S. aid.

He also announced plans to send two committee staff members to Phnom Penh early next week to report on Cambodia's request and the general situation in the country.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) declined immediate comment on the White House disclosure but reiterated that the U.S. should refrain from arming Cambodia.

A White House spokesman confirmed Thursday that the Nixon administration had approved the transfer to Phnom Penh of several thousand Communist-made AK-47 rifles captured in the Vietnam war.

But he made it clear that the government still is withholding action on a Cambodian request for direct U.S. military aid.

ARMS NEEDED

U.S. military leaders have warned President Nixon that arms and military advisers are urgently needed to prevent collapse of Gen. Lon Nol's government, according to a briefing without attribution Thursday.

Nixon is scheduled to meet with the National Security Council today and observers predicted that the Cambodian situation will be under urgent consideration.

Fighting stepped up throughout Cambodia today as the Viet Cong severed vital road links east and south of the capital and surrounded two Cambodian battalions to the northeast.

Informed military observers said the Viet Cong, although posing no immediate threat to Phnom Penh, might be attempting a wide circling movement around the city.

TAX CHANGE TIME DEPENDS ON HEARINGS

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's announcement that it would introduce tax changes in 1971 is not necessarily binding, Finance Minister Edgar Benson said today in the Commons.

He added in reply to Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield that introduction of such legislation will depend on the speed with which Commons and Senate committees deal with the white paper on tax changes.

Drafting of the legislation is not under way, he said.

Stanfield asked when new proposals will be advanced concerning small business.

Benson said submissions are being studied and his department is looking at the financing problems of small business.

Alcan Holds Price Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The Aluminum Co. of Canada has agreed not to increase prices in Canada, the prices and incomes commission announced today.

That applies to ingots and semi-fabricated products.

The commission said the Alcan decision was taken following meetings with the commission.

U.S. producers have announced price increases recently and Alcan has raised its prices outside the country.

"In the course of discussions with representatives of Alcan, consideration was given to the impact which price increases for domestic sales of ingot and semi-fabricated products would have on the Canadian program of reducing the number and size of price increases," the commission announcement said.

"The commission strongly expressed the opinion that higher domestic aluminum prices would be harmful to the national program of price restraint and would therefore not be opportune."

The commission announced Thursday it will study the impact of higher prices on copper sold in Canada. The copper industry had sought a price increase but was "prevailed upon" earlier not to take such a step.

Copper, like aluminum, has higher world market prices than those now existing in Canada.

200 Men Hired

OTTAWA (CP) — Treasury Board President C. M. Drury told the Commons today that the post office in Montreal has hired close to 200 men so far to replace 457 mail truck drivers employed until March 31 by former postal contractor G. Lapalme Inc.

SPIT AND POLISH and a final crash of rifle fire will end 110 years of history and colorful tradition Saturday at 2 p.m. when the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles fires its final feu de joie. The ceremony will mark retirement of the battalion from the regular order of battle of the Canadian Forces. Monday the Queen's Own becomes the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The Queen's Own is Canada's oldest regiment; it fired its first feu de joie in 1860.

Bertrand Attacks PM In Try for Mandate

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Thursday he would "put Trudeau in his place" if Quebecers give his governing Union Nationale party a clear mandate in next Wednesday's general election.

Bertrand said in a speech at Beauceville, 46 miles south of Quebec City, that a strong Union Nationale government would tell Prime Minister Trudeau that it is the "voice of Quebec" demanding the province's rights.

He said the Union Nationale would demand decentralization of administrative and taxation powers and oppose "Trudeau-style" centralized federalism.

THEIR OWN MASTERS

"We are going to take the time to agree among ourselves and we are going to ask Ottawa and the other provinces to understand better the aspirations of a Quebec which wants to be more the master in its own house."

Meanwhile, Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa criticized the Union Nationale and the separatist Parti Quebecois for contradicting themselves in their campaign statements and PQ chief Rene Levesque said an independent Quebec would have no federalist political parties.

Also, Roland Morin, leader of the Quebec New Democratic Party, said his party may go to the Supreme Court of Canada to contest a decision by the CBC and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission which denies it free-time political broadcasts.

Levesque said in Montreal that "any federalist party would be laughed out of the Quebec political picture" after Quebec left Confederation.

BIG BUSINESS

The existing established parties would be rejected as alternatives to the Parti Quebecois because they were dominated by big business, which provided their election campaign funds.

Released in Montreal today was a survey by political pollster Peter Regenstrief who predicted the Liberals would gain the most votes but would not gain a majority of votes.

He predicted the Parti Quebecois would place second with the Union Nationale a poor third.

Basing his poll on 820 telephone calls in the past week, Regenstrief gave 32 per cent of the vote to the Liberals, 23 per cent to the separatists, 16 per cent to the UN, 9 per cent to the newly-organized provincial Creditistes, 1 per cent to the NDP and 19 per cent undecided.

Bid to Slay Formosa Official Foiled by Fast-Moving Police

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The son of Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan today when a fast-thinking patrolman grabbed a gunman's arm just as a shot was fired.

Deputy Premier Chiang Ching-kuo of Formosa missed death by inches when the bullet smashed into a revolving door at the posh Plaza Hotel just as he was entering.

Police grabbed two men on the spot and took them away after a brief struggle. The men were identified as "ethnic Chinese" but authorities could not say immediately whether they are from Formosa.

Chiang, 60, had just stepped from his car when the assassination attempt was staged.

Patrolman Henry Suarez, posted near the hotel, spotted two men heading toward the hotel entrance.

"Look out, he's got a gun," he yelled at Patrolman James Czieda who leaped forward and grabbed the gunman's arm just as the shot was being fired.

Suarez then subdued the second man, who had a knife.

ARMY REBELS SURRENDER

Times News Services

PORT OF SPAIN — Trinidad authorities today announced that 79 Black Power rebels in the army have surrendered and are in police detention.

The insurrectionists mutinied early this week, during Black Power protests which swept the island, taking hostages and capturing the country's only armory. (See details on Page 2.)

Cyanide Recovered In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The last of five 250-pound drums of cyanide powder which dropped into Montreal's harbor's Bickerdike Basin Thursday night was recovered today.

Harbor police said "every thing seems to be normal and there is no danger at all."

The last drum was recovered at about 11 a.m., 19 hours after it and four others slipped from a cargo sling being used to load a Danish freighter.

The four other drums were recovered from the silt-covered floor of the murky 32-foot-deep basin late Thursday. The fifth slipped from its recovery sling as it was being hauled out and divers had to suspend their search until early today.

Benguet Partner Tied to Gunderson

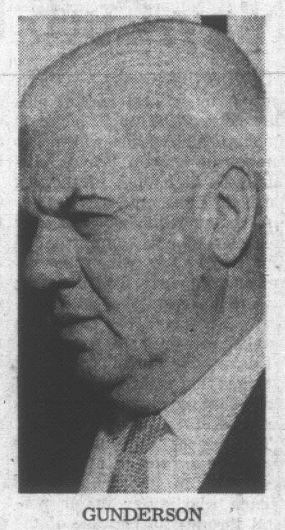
By BRUCE YEMEN

Opposition Leader Dave Barrett has called "with a renewed sense of urgency" for a judicial inquiry into the Cypress Bowl affair.

At a press conference Thursday, he declared that a sister company of Benguet Consolidated Inc. has bought into two B.C. investment companies in which Social Credit Party fund raiser Einar Gunderson is a director.

Firm Still Talking Bowl Deal

He also said he has a letter showing that Benguet's lawyers say the controversial Bahamian company is still negotiating with the provincial government for development of the 6,000-acre West Vancouver bowl in spite of Attorney-General Peterson's statements that Benguet is "unacceptable" in British Columbia.



GUNDERSON
. . . Socred fund raiser

Neither Gunderson nor any members of the provincial cabinet could be reached this morning for comment on Barrett's allegations.

Development of the recreational area on leased public land was stopped by the government last fall under pressure after a storm of protest over Benguet's reputation. The corporation was involved in a Bahamian political scandal involving payoffs to government officials during setting up of casino operations in the country.

Barrett said last fall that if the "heat" became too much for Benguet it would make an attempt to stay in Cypress Bowl through a "front" company.

Gunderson Named As Director

He told a press conference in his Victoria office Thursday afternoon that Gunderson, B.C. finance minister for a brief period in the early 1950s and now a director of B.C. Hydro, is a director of NWL Financial Corporation Ltd. of Vancouver and of Federated Investments Ltd., of Vancouver and Calgary.

During the past several days, he said, a company called Residential Resort Development Ltd. of Freeport, Bahamas, had bought 38 per cent of the two B.C. companies.

"Residential is a Louis Chesler company and Louis Chesler is the partner of Wallace Groves of the Grand Bahamas Development and Benguet," Barrett said.

"Both Grand Bahamas and Benguet featured prominently in a royal commission on organized crime and gambling in the Bahamas.

"Chesler and Groves through their dealings, as stated by the royal commission, through front companies paid large sums of money to Bahama cabinet ministers and paid $10,000 per month to the Bahamian government's political party campaign funds.

"The B.C. companies — NWL and Federated Investments — have one prominent political figure as a director. That figure is Einar M. Gunderson, who is the publicly-acknowledged Social Credit Party fund raiser, and he is in a company that has a direct connection with Benguet."

A-G Stated Company Not Welcome

"This in itself would not be a matter of great concern if it were not for the fact that the attorney-general of B.C. has stated that the Benguet company is not welcome in this province and has, according to the attorney-general, been told they're not welcome."

Peter G. Ropchan, president of NWL Financial Corp. said in Vancouver that shares purchased by Residential Resort Development Ltd. do not constitute control of NWL.

He said control remains with the directors and long-time shareholders of NWL and North West Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

He said the shares acquired by exchange were not acquired from the treasury.

Barrett said he has written to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigations, asking for "specific information about the Benguet corporation and Mr. Chesler, and Mr. Chesler's relationship with Myer Lansky which forced the emigration of three Mafia employees of Mr. Chesler to the United States (from the Bahamas) . . ."

He said he also has written to Commissioner W. L. Higgett of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police asking for information about the Bahamas company.

'Public Has Not Been Told Truth'

"I asked him if he is aware that the Residential Resort Ltd. of the Bahamas, a sister company of the Benguet corporation, has bought a major share of the NWL Financial Corporation of B.C., and what is his opinion of this kind of money coming into Canada.

"What it really boils down to . . . the public of B.C. has not been told the truth about this government's dealings at arm's length with the Benguet corporation.

"The attorney-general's statement that Benguet is not welcome in B.C. has not been heard by anyone representing the Benguet corporation and, indeed, it has not been heard by his cabinet colleague, the minister of land and forests (Ray Williston).

Cypress Bowl Probe More Urgent Now—NDP

"I feel that as a responsible citizen in public life in B.C. it is my duty to bring these facts to the people of B.C. and insist on a complete judicial inquiry.

"There is no way as long as I am in public life that I will stand idly by and watch any group that has been told by the attorney-general 'stay out of B.C.', come into B.C.

"I want to know why it's happening."

Barrett said he wrote a letter April 16 to Russell & Du Moulin, Vancouver solicitors for Benguet, asking a number of questions and received the following reply in part:

"We acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 16th instant respecting Benguet Consolidated Inc. and the development in the Cypress Bowl area.

"As you are aware, the minister of lands, forests and water resources has suggested that our client should by May 31 provide the provincial government with a proposal regarding the future of the Cypress Bowl area and our client's interests therein.

CLIENT HOPEFUL

"Our client is hopeful that an acceptable proposal can be made within the time suggested and that such proposal will be acceptable to both the provincial government and the municipality of West Vancouver . . . ."

Barrett said he doesn't like to see the "chief law enforcement officer (Peterson) being made a fool of."

Peterson said earlier this month, following an April 4 meeting in Vancouver between Williston and Benguet's solicitors, that a report by his department had found Benguet unacceptable in B.C.

There were reports last week that Benguet is demanding $1.2 million from the government to give up its claims in the bowl development which it acquired last November by taking over a B.C. company called Alpine Outdoor Recreation Resources Ltd.

CASH SHORTAGE

Alpine had run into a shortage of capital in the development which was originally planned as a ski facility but which was ultimately envisaged by Benguet as a huge residential development with skiing and other recreational facilities.

Cost to Benguet of taking over Alpine was reported in the $1 million range at the time.

Barrett read from a Bahamian royal commission report which described Louis Chesler as recruiting undesirable Americans to organize gambling casinos set up in the Bahamas by Benguet.

He said the Residential Resort company has Louis' son Allan Chesler of Toronto on its board of directors but is controlled by four other firms dominated by Louis Chesler.

Residential Resort Development Ltd. was listed on the Montreal Stock Exchange Feb. 2, 1970.

NWL Financial Corporation was incorporated in B.C. March 28, 1969, Barrett said. In addition to Gunderson it has 11 directors, of which P. G. Ropchan of Vancouver is president.

Other directors are Dr. E. A. Johnson, Alvin Libin and Nado Gallelli of Calgary; Saskatoon Mayor S. L. Buckwold; R. S. Bennett of Edmonton; R. J. Leonard of Lethbridge; H. J. C. Terry, Langley; G. A. Wilkinson, Vancouver; G. B. Nelson, Saskatoon and R. Haver of Vancouver.

'FRONT' COMPANY?

Directors of 10-year-old Federated Investments in addition to Gunderson are Ropchan, also the president, Libin, Wilkinson, Leonard, Johnson and W. G. Fergie of Vancouver.

NWL Financial Corporation holds 798,530 shares of Federated, Barrett said.

Asked if he was saying NWL might be the "front" company for Benguet, Barrett said:

"Last November I said . . . an attempt would be made to create a front company if the heat got too great on Benguet. You can interpret this move by Chesler, the partner of Wallace Groves, any way you like."

Cypress Bowl, located between Black and Strachan mountains almost entirely within the municipality of West Vancouver, has been a centre of controversy for the past five years.

SENSIBLE

Barrett first raised the question in the legislature charging that the government had dealt public parkland off to "friends of the government" for private development.

The government defended the arrangement as a sensible way to develop the land into badly-needed skiing facilities and denied that any favoritism had been shown to Alpine which sought the development rights with the help of Vancouver public relations man Bill Clancey, a public relations adviser of Premier Bennett during election campaigns.

The government also denied the land was parkland. It had been acquired for park purposes by the coalition government in the 1940s but had never been put to that use by the government.

In the next few years Barrett repeatedly charged that Alpine was logging the bowl to make money rather than to prepare ski hills. The government consistently denied this.

Some recreation groups in Vancouver became involved and expressed concern for the bowl area.

But the real fireworks started last fall after the Vancouver Sun disclosed that Alpine had been bought out by Benguet, a Bahamian company with a doubtful reputation.

The controversy raged for about a month with Williston and Premier Bennett announcing Nov. 26 that the project still in the logging stage, was being suspended because Benguet's gambling activities were unacceptable to the government.

The suspension followed disclosure that Benguet was planning a big residential subdivision in the bowl.

Williston commented that if Benguet thought it had bought the rights to such a subdivision when it took over Alpine, then it had bought "the Brooklyn Bridge."

LEASES INVALID

After Barrett pointed out that the lands department had forgot to publish notice of three leases signed with Alpine covering more than 600 acres, Williston adopted the view that the leases were invalid.

Benguet apparently still rejects the view that the clerical oversight invalidates the leases. In any case, however, Williston maintained that no development of the bowl could proceed without stage-by-stage government approval and residential subdivisions weren't envisaged, he said.

Through the past legislative session the opposition parties kept asking the government what was taking so long in making absolutely clear that Benguet was finished in Cypress Bowl.

Williston said then that in reply that he was still of the view that Benguet was unacceptable but noted that the attorney-general's department hadn't yet finished the investigation of Benguet it had started after the suspension.

NO ANSWER

The opposition then asked that if Benguet was really out and didn't own any leases or any other assets in the bowl, why was the government giving the developers until May 31 to come up with a proposal or to find new financing?

That question was never answered, but Williston suggested that work done in the bowl to date by Alpine amounted to "assets" owned by the current developers. The opposition replied that there couldn't be any assets if Benguet didn't own or lease any land.

No Delay In Apollo Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top man in the United States space program said today the cause of the Apollo 13 failure appears relatively easy to correct, and if this proves true the program will stay on schedule.

Appearing before the Senate space committee, Dr. Thomas O. Paine, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, thus indicated that the Apollo 14 moon-landing mission will go as scheduled in October.

Astronauts James A. Lovell Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. entered the packed hearing room with Paine to sustained applause. The third Apollo 13 astronaut, Fred W. Haise Jr., remained in Houston, Tex., on doctor's orders to help cure a minor infection from which he has been suffering since the flight.

The Apollo 13 flight to the moon was aborted after the rupture of an oxygen tank in the service module crippled the spaceship and left the astronauts short of oxygen to breathe, water to drink and power to operate in space.

They spent more than three days in space, uncertain of their fate, before returning safely to earth last Friday.

EASY TO CORRECT

Paine said the oxygen thermos flask which ruptured "is a relatively simple component and corrective action should not prove to be a major task."

"If this turns out to be the case, we should be able to move out promptly with the necessary alterations and proceed with Apollo 14 and subsequent flights on approximately the same schedule we have presented to you before," Paine said.

Despite failure of the Apollo 13 mission to reach its goal, the moon's Fra Mauro formation, Paine said:

"This hilly region remains a high priority objective in our lunar program. . . . We cannot yet say which of the remaining Apollo missions will be sent there."

And even in Apollo 13's failure, Paine saw a measure of success.

"We regard the recovery actions that followed the accident as a gratifying success which will contribute greatly to the nation's space flight competence," Paine said.

PASS SPENDING BILLS

The Senate panel approved Thursday a $3,300,000,000 spending ceiling for the space program shortly after the House of Representatives passed a $3,600,000,000 space authorization measure.

But the House rejected an attempt to eliminate $190,000,000 set aside for a space shuttle and station.

The Apollo 13 mishap accounts for much of the concern over space spending in Congress.

The House-approved authorization bill is about $268,000,000 over Nixon's budget request. The spending ceiling voted by the Senate committee is $17,000,000 below Nixon's recommendation, which was the lowest figure in a decade.

Roman Wants Stockpiling Extended

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Steven B. Roman, chairman of Denison Mines Ltd. of Toronto, said Thursday night the federal government should extend its uranium-stockpiling program to ensure the future of the uranium industry and the communities dependent upon it.

About 800 residents of this mining community listened as Roman criticized Ottawa's decision in March to forbid the sale of controlling interest in Denison to a United States-controlled corporation.

Roman noted the Denison mine is operating at only one-third capacity and that it cannot afford to continue its stockpiling program.

The company has been "working hard to find the economic answers to permit us to continue our full-force operation" and had thought the answer lay in a merger with Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas Co. Ltd., which is controlled by Continental Oil Ltd. of Delaware.

Domestic interests were dealers in oats and barley.

Lakehead prices for Class Two and IGA wheat all were unchanged.

Currency Futures Traded

NEW YORK (WP) — The world's first futures market in foreign currencies opened here Thursday, attended by a small crowd and high hopes.

The International Commercial Exchange, an offshoot of the N.Y. Produce Exchange, recorded its first trade shortly after the opening bell at 11 a.m., when $10,000 worth of British pounds changed hands at $2.3825 per pound, for delivery in September, 1971.

By the end of the day, trades also had been recorded in Japanese yen, West German marks, Italian Lira and Swiss francs. French francs, which are also listed for trading, saw no action.

At the opening ceremonies, Prof. Robert Triffin, of Yale University, the speaker at the opening, said he thought the new market might create more interest in currency trading, but added, "I hope it doesn't prompt people to bet on foreign exchange as they did on gold."

He said that, because of the growth in the market for Eurodollars — American dollars held by foreigners — and the sharp rise in Eurodollar interest rates, government monetary managers have lost control of the markets.

A drop in net income after a rise in sales last year is reported by I.T.L. Industries Ltd., of Windsor, which changed its accounting procedures to reflect production costs more accurately.

Sales were $16.45 million, up from $14.34 million, and income before extraordinary items was $765,499 compared with $806,965, or 36 cents a share against 47 cents.

After extraordinary items, net income was $907,527 (45 cents) compared with $1.02 million (62 cents) adjusted.

Getty Oil

Getty Oil Co. reports 1970 first quarter consolidated net income from world-wide operations was $23 million or $1.15 per share compared with $29.88 million or $1.47 per share a year ago.

George F. Gerty II, executive vice-president and chief operating officer, said factors contributing to lower 1970 first quarter earnings were higher costs and taxes, and lower prices.

Getty said the impact of 1969 tax legislation, which increased consolidated income taxes, lowered consoidated earnings for the first quarter by $2.5 million, or 13 cents per share.

Consolidated sales and other revenues for the 1970 first quarter were $320.99 million compared with 1969 first quarter consolidated sales of $301 million.

Lornex Problems To Be Resolved

LONDON (CP) — Sir Val Duncan, chairman of giant Rio Tinto-Zinc Corp., spoke optimistically of its outlook in Canada at a news conference in connection with release of its 1969 financial report early Friday.

Duncan, whose company controls or is associated with several huge Canadian firms, said:

- He thinks that in the next few days the "problem" of Lornex Mining Corp. with the B.C. government over development of copper ores in B.C.'s Highland Valley will be "resolved."
- The Churchill Falls hydroelectric project in Labrador is on target and should begin turning out power on the due date in 1972.
- Atlas Steel at Welland, Ont., a subsidiary of RTZ-controlled Rio Algom, should have an improved year as modernization continues.
- Though RTZ's potash operations in Saskatchewan have had a "traumatic" year as supplies rose and world mrkets shrank, the provincal government's action in propping up sales prices should have a beneficial effect.

B.C. MATTER URGENT

Duncan indicated that from the Canadian standpoint of world-ranging Rio Tinto-Zinc, the British Columbia operation is the one of most immediacy.

The $123,600,00 operation of Lornex, partly owned by Rio Algom and due to get into production in 1972, has committed the whole of its copper concentrate output for 12 years to a Japanese consortium helping in the financing.

Lornex does not plan a smelter and the "problem" mentioned by Sir Val is that the B.C. legislature has passed legislation requiring copper producers in the province to provide ore for a B.C. smelter if one is ever established there.

Duncan, who visited B.C. recently, described the provincial policy as "reasonable." He said Lornex itself made a feasibility study of the prospects of a smelter but found it uneconomic, partly because of expense of waste disposal to conform with the B.C. anti-pollution legislation.

Discussing the potash situation in Saskatchewan—where RTZ has a big stake at the Allan Mine near Saskatoon—Duncan said he thinks it will be some some time before the whole field of potash is profitable to producers.

SAYS RESERVES LARGE

He said RTZ is not worrying—the Allan Mine has reserves enough for 150 years—and "one really has to wait until the market gets better."

He offered a cheering note for the Saskatchewan operation by saying that the company is in no hurry to bring a proposed operation in Yorkshire, England, into production.

"We wouldn't bring it in with the world potash supply in its present state," he said. He guessed at 1976 or later for the beginning of output.

Of Churchill Falls, Duncan said that there are obvious construction problems but none of them are intractable.

"The first units should come into stream on the due date in 1972," he added.

Rio Tinto-Zinc's annual statement showed group profit before tax of £69,654,000 ($181,100,00) of which Rio Algom and its subsidiaries contributed £2,979,000 ($7,747,000). The overall figure showed an increase of £15,936,000 ($41,443,000) over 1968.

Retained profit after taxes and dividends was £9,091,000, compared with £8,817,000 in 1968.

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Several major awards in the Victoria Music Festival were settled Thursday night in a program which drew a capacity audience to First United Fellowship Hall.

Climax of the evening were the competitions for the two traditional trophies — the Rose Bowl and City of Victoria Medallion.

OUTSTANDING

The Rose Bowl competition is open to outstanding performers selected by the adjudicator from adult vocal solo classes. Rankin Bushby had chosen three — soprano Susan Word and mezzos Andrea Mellis and Evelyn Westinghouse.

A fine performance of the brilliant aria, Una voce poca fa from Rossini's opera, The Barber of Seville, won the trophy for Miss Westinghouse.

There were only two competitors for the Medallion, which is for winners of all open piano classes, as Susan de Burgh and Frances Crampton between them had shared all the open "firsts."

Both pianists were in excellent form Thursday, but by "the unanimous decision" of the adjudicators the Medallion was awarded to Susan for her exquisite Bach performance.

These two winners will appear on the Festival Highlights program at McPherson Playhouse, Saturday.

Special junior and senior Beethoven bicentenary classes preceded the trophy events.

Competing in the junior section were pianists Mary Chard, Heather Attwell and Diane Crowther, vocalists Hilary Scott, Linda Scanlan, Jennifer Angus and Robin Powell and harpist Annabelle Burrows.

"Everyone likes this type of competition by the adjudicators," said Sidney Harrison in making the award. "But it is an almost impossible task to compare performers who are in many ways not to be compared."

SHORT TIME TO TRAIN

He pointed out that junior singers can only have had an extremely short training period whereas violinists and pianists of the same age can have had several years.

Mary Chard was named winner of this section.

Pianist Linn Hendry, violinist Jacqueline Tarry and vocalists Lynden Felton, Madeleine Groos and Andrea Mellis were the competitors in the senior section.

The winner was Jacqueline Tarry who had also, last week, won the major strings award, the Congress of Strings scholarship.

Both these girls will be appearing Saturday night and in May will go to Vancouver to compete in the B.C. Beethoven finals.

Tonight's special event is the speech arts honor performance in which several outstanding performances will be repeated and there will be a winners' competition for a bursary award.

Those who have been attending the speech section at St. Ann's Academy should note that the honor performance will take place at Blanshard Street School, starting at 8.

CHORAL PROGRAM

This evening at Fellowship Hall, an all choral program will include a campfire singing competition, church choir under 16, ladies' choir and mixed choir other than church in which the Amity Singers will vie with the Wyvern Singers and The Skylarks.

St. John's Church Choir will be singing and The Arion Male Choir will conclude the program.

The session at St. John's Hall will begin with a classical guitar solo open class. There are five entries and the adjudicator is Chris Jordan, widely known Vancouver guitarist.

The balance of the evening will be given over to the last of the piano classes.

Hickel to Approve Alaskan Oil Pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel says the proposed oil pipeline across Alaska can be built without damaging the tundra and that a permit for its construction probably will be issued in the near future.

"Now, after more than a year of research, the engineering and scientific experts on our technical advisory board have established that the pipeline can be built with complete safety," he told an "Earth Day" audience Wednesday at the University of Alaska.

"The permit will be issued for the right-of-way just as soon as the terms and conditions have been agreed upon between the parties involved, and all requirements of law have been met," he said.

Conservationists have opposed construction of the pipeline across Alaska for fear of environmental damage to the Arctic tundra. The proposed 800-mile pipeline would extend from Prudhoe Bay to the Port of Valdez.

"I can guarantee that we will not approve any design based on the old faulty concept of 'Build Now, Repair Later'," he said. "Further, our detailed examination of the pipeline specifications will continue to include review by our wildlife experts to insure that migratory patterns, such as those of the caribou, are not seriously altered."

Plans also call for "thorough consideration to all other ecological factors to make certain that the pipeline can never become an environmental disaster," he said.

Jaycees Stationed on Top Floor Of Historic Emily Carr Mansion

By PAT DUFOUR

A duplicating machine and other office equipment have replaced the furnishings that once filled the bedrooms where Emily Carr and her sisters were born and raised.

A few days ago the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce moved out of its rented quarters on Douglas and took over the six rooms on the top floor of 207 Government, the birthplace of B.C.'s most famous painter.

The house is due to be opened to the public June 5 and is being restored as a joint financial project between the Jaycees and the federal government.

•

George Nairn, chairman of the Jaycees' Emily Carr Foundation, estimated that by that date $65,000 will have been spent on the project.

Of this amount, $25,000 has been contributed by the federal government, whose historic sites and monuments board has classified the old home as being of national historic significance.

The home was saved from demolition in 1966 when Victoria MP David Groos bought it for $15,000 as a delaying tactic.

Jerry Gosley, as co-ordinator of the Greater Victoria Centennial Society in 1967, persuaded the Jaycees to take on the home as a project.

They paid $17,500, the increased price covering overdue taxes.

Since that time the Jaycees have worked toward the official opening day.

Gradually the home is being brought back to life under the guidance of architect Peter Cotton. One discovery was a boarded-up fireplace in a main floor room where, according to Emily Carr's writings, her father cooked Sunday dinners over a spit.

•

Because of high costs, only four of the seven rooms on the main floor will be ready for the public by the opening date.

Nairn reports that the progress has been slowed by the need for careful research in order to bring the house back, as closely as possible, to the days when Emily Carr used to scandalize her sisters by sneaking off to the barn to have a smoke.

There are some innovations unheard of when Emily Carr was born in the California redwood house Dec. 13, 1871,

•

Electric heat units have been installed in every room, many in the ceilings and some in the fireplaces downstairs. A modern kitchen and bathroom have been built on the top floor.

Many of the aging walls have been preserved by installing linen over the crumbling plaster. The Jaycees are hoping to get donations that will help them cover the walls of one main floor room with a copy of the original wallpaper.

Their pleas for tax exemption fell on deaf ears at city hall but crews from the city's parks department are landscaping the garden and will plant it with shrubs and flowers similar to those the artist and her family enjoyed.

Victorian light fixtures have been garnered for every room but the house will have to wait for furniture to help bring it back to life. The Jaycees are hoping that donations of Victorian pieces will soon help make the rooms look less barren.

•

Seventeen copies of the artist's paintings have been ordered, 11 of them 30 by 40 inches, the remainder, 20 by 24 inches.

But, for the opening says president Stan Wallace, the Jaycees hope to borrow some of the Carr paintings now hanging in the Victoria and Vancouver galleries.

Along with the paintings, arranged to show a span of 10 years' work in each room, will be display biographies of the artist's life.

Nairn explains that only school children and specialized groups will be able to view the house after the official opening until July 17. Then it will be opened to the general public for a nominal fee, designed to cover operating costs.

March on Dock Set Saturday

A Victoria-based protest group plans to march on the Black Ball ferry terminal Saturday afternoon to demonstrate against the planned shipment of nerve gas from Okinawa through Juan de Fuca Strait to Bangor, Wash.

Bob Munro, chairman of Operation Nerve Gas, said the march will follow a program of speeches to be given at the Trans-Canada Highway's Mile 0 marker in Beacon Hill Park.

Black Ball terminal was singled out as the target for the demonstration because U.S. ferries dock there and it represents the Canada-U.S. border, Munro said.

More than 2,000 persons demonstrated at the same terminal last October to protest the detonation of an American nuclear device on Amchitka Island in the North Pacific.

Munro said he does not feel American visitors to Victoria will take offence to the demonstration because of the many protests to the shipment made by American residents of Oregon and Washington.

P.A.N.G. SPEAKER

Scheduled to speak as the pre-march meeting are Ralph Freedman, executive secretary of P.A.N.G. (People Against Nerve Gas) from Portland, Ore., and Dr. Miriam Benston, a biochemist from Simon Fraser University who will speak about the nature of nerve gas and the possible effects of a spill.

The meeting is scheduled to get under way at noon with the march to the terminal coinciding with the arrival of the Black Ball ferry from Port Angeles at 1:00 p.m.

PETITION

A petition will be circulated at the meeting asking that President Nixon either cancel or re-route the shipment of gas.

In Olympia, Washington Governor Dan Evans said that he has received no indication from Defence Secretary Melvin Laird that the shipment plans have been changed in any way.

Evans also said he still thinks the chances of a suit he and Oregon Governor Tom McCall filed in federal court seeking to block the shipment is "pretty much of a long shot."

Next Battle Of Smith's Hill Set for May 14

The battle of Smith's Hill was adjourned Thursday without city council making a decision on a rezoning application to build 122 apartment suites near Spencer Castle.

Council listened to both sides for more than an hour, and then adjourned the public hearing to May 14 in the hopes of a compromise between the developer, Danzo and Franco Holdings, and its opponents — the residents of single-family houses in the area.

Seventy-five persons attended the hearing, nearly all of them concerned about this issue.

The residents, represented by lawyer Bob Hutchison, held an informal meeting in an adjoining committee room but no compromise appeared.

'PUT OUT'

Hutchison said later he feels the residents are being "put out" because it costs money to take time off work to attend day-time meetings. A public hearing earlier this month was delayed until Thursday because full council wasn't present.

"They are prepared to look at the proposed plans but feel the area should be developed for single family residences," he said.

"We have discussed room to compromise but this does not look bright. The residents feel council and the planning department have not given full consideration to development on a single-family basis."

$70,000 ANNUALLY

The hearing was told by public relations man Gordon Root, appearing for the developer, that tax revenue of $70,000 a year on the $2.5 million apartment would be more than double the tax revenue of single-family houses.

There would also be higher municipal maintenance costs for services to houses and while the apartment would pay full school taxes, rentals in the $200-plus a month range were not within reach of the average family.

Root said that the majority of residents in the area do not oppose the planned apartment, where the suites would be sold and not rented.

QUIET FOLKS

He produced a petition of 74 persons from 60 properties against the residents' petition of 64 signatures from 39 properties.

Hutchison told the hearing the residents are "normally quiet, unassuming citizens who live a normal life in a neighborhood that they enjoy and which is almost semi-rural. They very naturally don't want an apartment development built above their backyards.

"They are appealing to you to put a stop to what they regard as bad planning, bad economics and bad morals. I say bad morals because most of the residents of Montrose Avenue who complain about this development purchased their lots from the city of Victoria in the early 1960s.

SINGLE FAMILY

"At that time they were given every indication by the city of Victoria that the remaining lots to the north of them would be kept for single-family dwellings and would be put on the market as soon as the city could afford to put in the improvements."

He said increases in such services as garbage collection and fire protection would offset the increased assessments. The prospect of an extra 244 cars running up and down The Rise "horrifies my clients."

He Won't Give Up

Amalgamation died without a comment at city council Thursday.

But Ald. Clyde Savage, who initiated the move to seek inter-municipal talks on the advantages and disadvantages of amalgamation or merged services, said later he isn't giving up.

"I think that eventually Dan Campbell (minister of municipal affairs) through the regional board or some other way will see these municipalities act together.

He said it is "unfortunate" that Oak Bay and Esquimalt didn't want to discuss the situation. Only Saanich of the Greater Victoria municipalities (other than Victoria) was prepared to.

Council Should Decide Expenditures – Voter

At least one city voter says he will oppose the $6.3 million capital budget referendum April 30.

Jack McKenzie, 1421 Taunton, said in a letter to Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock that although it is a requirement of the Municipal Act, he thinks council itself should make such decisions on expenditures.

McKenzie said he favors continued development and is prepared to support necessary projects with taxes, but "I do not believe I should be burdened by decisions council should make."

RESPONSIBILITY

The referendum placed on the voters the responsibility for examining each project in detail and "I do not wish to examine each money bylaw in detail nor do I wish to be responsible for passage or failure of a measure that I have not fully examined."

McKenzie said he will vote against the capital budget and any money bylaw because council members should be responsible for acts of council.

He wanted to see municipalities say they want the Municipal Act changed so there are no referendums. He enclosed a cheque for $1 to "show I am prepared to accept responsible government" by council.

COMMUNIST PARTY

Ernest Knott, of the local branch of the Communist Party, said in a press release Thursday that ratepayers should vote against the referendum.

"The fact that 70 per cent of the money is earmarked for street work to serve the downtown business area and that there is nothing in the budget for residential streets and services shows that the bylaw is designed to serve downtown business interests," he stated.

He also said only about 5 per cent of the money is to be used for pollution control and environmental improvements and there were no plans for improvement of parks and recreational services in residential districts.

Bureau Head To Join Review

Ed Gould, well-known area author and freelance writer who has been the Times Duncan bureau chief for the last two years, will move to Review Publications Ltd. May 1, as a special feature writer, Review publisher John Manning announced today.

Manning said other developments at the Review include name changes in the Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich weeklies he purchased in early March this year.

On April 30 the Oak Bay Leader will become the Oak Bay Review, the Esquimalt Sentinel will become the Esquimalt Review, and the Saanich Star will be called the Saanich Review.

The papers will be identical excpt for their headings, Manning said.

"This way we can combine news from all three areas so that someone in Oak Bay will get community news from Esquimalt and Saanich."

Manning also publishes the Review in Sidney.

Times Man Chairs City Budget Panel

Victoria — where it is and where it's going — will be the subject of a special report Sunday at 2 p.m. on CHEK-TV, Channel 6.

Times city hall reporter Jim Hume will moderate a panel made up of City Manager Dennis Young, City Engineer James Garnett and Ald. Harold Olafson.

Title of the program is Capital Reports: Your City In The Seventies.

Arthur Mayse . . .

WHATEVER ELSE HE forgets, a man remembers his first payroll job. A logging company came through with the one I grabbed when all seemed lost, and even though the opening wasn't intended for me, I remain grateful.

In the fat years, a boy can pick and choose. But let a depression — or a recession — settle in, and the situation changes.

A job is a job, and the fact that it may be hateful doesn't signify.

That spring in the early 1930s, I tried for some pretty hateful jobs. But I couldn't find one, even as a chicken-plucker.

Job-hunting is an ordeal. After enough turndowns, you find that you're fighting yourself as well as luckless circumstance. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, A sense of inferiority sets in.

In an employers' market, the operator with a job to give can afford to be choosy.

In a piddling little outfit on Vancouver's False Creek, the owner vetted me like a slave on an auction block. Finally he ordered me to extend my hands so that he could check my fingers for nicotine stains.

He had his troubles too, and I suspect now that he was propping his courage by proving to himself that he could dominate in one area at least. But I told him where to go, and marched out of his gloomy cavern jobless still and thoroughly miserable.

At this point, the gods smiled. It was a quirky smile, but it served. A friend who had already found work got a reply from Bloedel, Stewart and Welsh to an earlier application. This created an embarrassment of riches, which we swiftly solved. He would give me his letter from the logging company, and I would borrow his name for the summer.

Having told you before about the problems and complications that lurk for the person who assumes an alias, I won't repeat that tale.

Enough that I lugged pack, boots and suitcase up a steamer gangplank the same night, with my fare paid in advance to Bloedel's beach camp at Menzies Bay.

As first jobs go, there's much to be said for the one that takes a boy or girl away from home, parents and friends. It speeds the process of growing up, and at the cost of a little homesickness, it develops a wonderful sense of independence and freedom.

I was homesick that night on the steamer that trudged from one outport to another up the Gulf of Georgia. But that faded even before we nosed into the beach camp dock and a new world.

It was the world of the great railway shows that logged Vancouver Island's coastal flats. To enter it as a green and lowly spark-chaser was disconcertingly like starting school again.

I suppose any first job is like that to a boy who has never served set hours for steady pay before. The older hands are familiar with their work. They know their way around, and their busyness is daunting to the still-unassigned.

And in the complex, departmented kingdom in which I'd arrived, nothing was as I'd imagined it would be.

Fire patrol, for instance, wasn't a day-long hike through green woods.

It consisted mostly of watching a triangle of ravaged forest floor along which a big black donkey-engine was yarding logs. The donkey stack could cast a spark. The spark might land where it could touch off a fire. If it did, I was to get in there with a bucket and douse it.

If a bucket wouldn't do the trick, there was a fire hose connected to the donkey, and extra sections to couple on.

The assistant fire chief, his instructions given, hopped on his railway speeder and racketed off down the grade.

Promptly, a couple of the loggers on the yarder crew which had inherited me contrived to set a few twigs smouldering behind a stump.

That May, the woods were damp from plentiful rains. Those chokermen had a hard time keeping the smudge alight long enough for me to spot it.

But I did see its smoke finally, and scampered down the sidehill with sloshing bucket to douse it.

It was an initiation of sorts, complete with laughter and high-humored kidding. It was also an introduction: it tumbled me into the crew and opened the door to the friendships a boy makes on his first job.

Back in town again at summer's end, I felt a reverse kind of homesickness. I thought often about the camp and the men on the yarder crew, and wondered if they'd finisihed logging the setting at the end of the railway spur.

Somewhere tucked away, I have a picture of that crew still, taken by an itinerant photographer. I always meant to frame it.

Perhaps a first job sticks in memory because it marks a transition. I never thought of myself as a boy after that summer.

'Bowl Probe Urgent'

MASSACRES PROTESTED

SAIGON (UPI) — Hundreds of students stormed the Cambodian embassy building in Saigon today, protesting the massacres of Vietnamese civilians in Cambodia.

National police reported some windows smashed in the embassy on Le Van Dyet Street in the heart of the city but hastily erected barricades and a barrage of tear gas kept student reinforcements away.

Other students at Saigon University burned an effigy of Cambodian Premier Gen. Lon Nol after an open forum on "the massacre of Vietnamese in Cambodia."

Cambodia Arms Aid Opposed

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Debate over a possible widening of United States military involvement in Southeast Asia was expected to emerge with new force today following government approval of a transfer of arms from South Vietnam to Cambodia.

Disclosure of indirect U.S. arms aid to Cambodia aroused immediate concern among anti-war senators.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, J. William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) complained that the administration was not consulting Congress about the Cambodian request for direct U.S. aid.

He also announced plans to send two committee staff members to Phnom Penh early next week to report on Cambodia's request and the general situation in the country.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (Dem. Mont.) declined immediate comment on the White House disclosure but reiterated that the U.S. should refrain from arming Cambodia.

A White House spokesman confirmed Thursday that the Nixon administration had approved the transfer to Phnom Penh of several thousand Communist-made AK-47 rifles captured in the Vietnam war.

But he made it clear that the government still is withholding action on a Cambodian request for direct U.S. military aid.

ARMS NEEDED

U.S. military leaders have warned President Nixon that arms and military advisers are urgently needed to prevent collapse of Gen. Lon Nol's government, according to a briefing without attribution Thursday.

Nixon is scheduled to meet with the National Security Council today and observers predicted that the Cambodian situation will be under urgent consideration.

Fighting stepped up throughout Cambodia today as the Viet Cong severed vital road links east and south of the capital and surrounded two Cambodian battalions to the northeast.

Informed military observers said the Viet Cong, although posing no immediate threat to Phnom Penh, might be attempting a wide circling movement around the city.

Alcan Holds Price Hike

OTTAWA (CP) — The Aluminum Co. of Canada has agreed not to increase prices in Canada, the prices and incomes commission announced today.

That applies to ingots and semi-fabricated products.

The commission said the Alcan decision was taken following meetings with the commission.

U.S. producers have announced price increases recently and Alcan has raised its prices outside the country.

"In the course of discussions with representatives of Alcan, consideration was given to the impact which price increases for domestic sales of ingot and semi-fabricated products would have on the Canadian program of reducing the number and size of price increases," the commission announcement said.

"The commission strongly expressed the opinion that higher domestic aluminum prices would be harmful to the national program of price restraint and would therefore not be opportune."

The commission announced Thursday it will study the impact of higher prices on copper sold in Canada. The copper industry had sought a price increase but was "prevailed upon" earlier not to take such a step.

200 Men Hired

OTTAWA (CP) — Treasury Board President C. M. Drury told the Commons today that the post office in Montreal has hired close to 200 men so far to replace 457 mail truck drivers employed until March 31 by former postal contractor G. Lapalme Inc.

SPIT AND POLISH and a final crash of rifle fire will end 110 years of history and colorful tradition Saturday at 2 p.m. when the 1st Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles fires its final feu de joie. The ceremony will mark retirement of the battalion from the regular order of battle of the Canadian Forces. Monday the Queen's Own becomes the 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The Queen's Own is Canada's oldest regiment; it fired its first feu de joie in 1860.

Bertrand Attacks PM In Try for Mandate

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Thursday he would "put Trudeau in his place" if Quebecers give his governing Union Nationale party a clear mandate in next Wednesday's general election.

Bertrand said in a speech at Beauceville, 46 miles south of Quebec City, that a strong Union Nationale government would tell Prime Minister Trudeau that it is the "voice of Quebec" demanding the province's rights.

He said the Union Nationale would demand decentralization of administrative and taxation powers and oppose "Trudeau-style" centralized federalism.

THEIR OWN MASTERS

"We are going to take the time to agree among ourselves and we are going to ask Ottawa and the other provinces to understand better the aspirations of a Quebec which wants to be more the master in its own house."

Meanwhile, Liberal Leader Robert Bourassa criticized the Union Nationale and the separatist Parti Quebecois for contradicting themselves in their campaign statements and PQ chief Rene Levesque said an independent Quebec would have no federalist political parties.

Also, Roland Morin, leader of the Quebec New Democratic Party, said his party may go to the Supreme Court of Canada to contest a decision by the CBC and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission which denies it free-time political broadcasts.

Levesque said in Montreal that "any federalist party would be laughed out of the Quebec political picture" after Quebec left Confederation.

BIG BUSINESS

The existing established parties would be rejected as alternatives to the Parti Quebecois because they were dominated by big business, which provided their election campaign funds.

Released in Montreal today was a survey by political pollster Peter Regenstrief who predicted the Liberals would gain the most votes but would not gain a majority of votes.

He predicted the Parti Quebecois would place second with the Union Nationale a poor third.

Basing his poll on 820 telephone calls in the past week, Regenstrief gave 32 per cent of the vote to the Liberals, 23 per cent to the separatists, 16 per cent to the UN, 9 per cent to the newly-organized provincial Créditistes, 1 per cent to the NDP and 19 per cent undecided.

Bid to Slay Formosa Official Foiled by Fast-Moving Police

NEW YORK (Reuters) — The son of Nationalist Chinese leader Chiang Kai-shek narrowly escaped assassination in midtown Manhattan today when a fast-thinking patrolman grabbed a gunman's arm just as a shot was fired.

Deputy Premier Chiang Ching-kuo of Formosa missed death by inches when the bullet smashed into a revolving door at the posh Plaza Hotel just as he was entering.

Police grabbed two men on the spot and took them away after a brief struggle. The men were identified as "ethnic Chinese" but authorities could not say immediately whether they are from Formosa.

Chiang, 60, had just stepped from his car when the assassination attempt was staged.

Patrolman Henry Suarez, posted near the hotel, spotted two men heading toward the hotel entrance.

"Look out, he's got a gun," he yelled at Patrolman James Czieda who leaped forward and grabbed the gunman's arm just as the shot was being fired.

Suarez then subdued the second man, who had a knife.

ARMY REBELS SURRENDER

Times News Services

PORT OF SPAIN — Trinidad authorities today announced that 79 Black Power rebels in the army have surrendered and are in police detention.

The insurrectionists mutinied early this week, during Black Power protests which swept the island, taking hostages and capturing the country's only armory. (See details on Page 2.)

Cyanide Recovered In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — The last of five 250-pound drums of cyanide powder which dropped into Montreal's harbor's Bickerdike Basin Thursday night was recovered today.

Harbor police said "everything seems to be normal and there is no danger at all."

The last drum was recovered at about 11 a.m., 19 hours after it and four others slipped from a cargo sling being used to load a Danish freighter.

The four other drums were recovered from the silt-covered floor of the murky 32-foot-deep basin late Thursday. The fifth slipped from its recovery sling as it was being hauled out and divers had to suspend their search until early today.

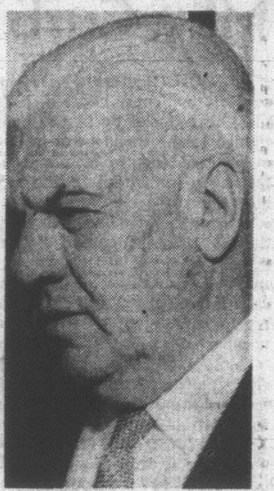
Benguet Partner Tied to Gunderson

By BRUCE YEMEN

Opposition Leader Dave Barrett has called "with a renewed sense of urgency" for a judicial inquiry into the Cypress Bowl affair.

At a press conference Thursday, he declared that a sister company of Benguet Consolidated Inc. has bought into two B.C. investment companies in which Social Credit Party fund raiser Einar Gunderson is a director.

Firm Still Talking Bowl Deal



GUNDERSON
. . . Socred fund raiser

He also said he has a letter showing that Benguet's lawyers say the controversial Bahamian company is still negotiating with the provincial government for development of the 6,000-acre West Vancouver bowl in spite of Attorney-General Peterson's statements that Benguet is "unacceptable" in British Columbia.

Neither Gunderson nor any members of the provincial cabinet could be reached this morning for comment on Barrett's allegations.

Development of the recreational area on leased public land was stopped by the government last fall under pressure after a storm of protest over Benguet's reputation. The corporation was involved in a Bahamian political scandal involving payoffs to government officials during setting up of casino operations in the country.

Barrett said last fall that if the "heat" became too much for Benguet it would make an attempt to stay in Cypress Bowl through a "front" company.

Gunderson Named As Director

He told a press conference in his Victoria office Thursday afternoon that Gunderson, B.C. finance minister for a brief period in the early 1950s and now a director of B.C. Hydro, is a director of NWL Financial Corporation Ltd. of Vancouver and of Federated Investments Ltd., of Vancouver and Calgary.

During the past several days, he said, a company called Residential Resort Development Ltd. of Freeport, Bahamas, had bought 38 per cent of the two B.C. companies.

"Residential is a Louis Chesler company and Louis Chesler is the partner of Wallace Groves of the Grand Bahamas Development and Benguet," Barrett said.

"Both Grand Bahamas and Benguet featured prominently in a royal commission on organized crime and gambling in the Bahamas.

"Chesler and Groves through their dealings, as stated by the royal commission, through front companies paid large sums of money to Bahama cabinet ministers and paid $10,000 per month to the Bahamian government's political party campaign funds.

"The B.C. companies — NWL and Federated Investments — have one prominent political figure as a director. That figure is Einar M. Gunderson, who is the publicly-acknowledged Social Credit Party fund raiser, and he is in a company that has a direct connection with Benguet."

A-G Stated Company Not Welcome

"This in itself would not be a matter of great concern if it were not for the fact that the attorney-general of B.C. has stated that the Benguet company is not welcome in this province and has, according to the attorney-general, been told they're not welcome."

Peter G. Ropchan, president of NWL Financial Corp. said in Vancouver that shares purchased by Residential Resort Development Ltd. do not constitute control of NWL.

He said control remains with the directors and long-time shareholders of NWL and North West Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

He said the shares acquired by exchange were not acquired from the treasury.

Barrett said he has written to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigations, asking for "specific information about the Benguet corporation and Mr. Chesler, and Mr. Chesler's relationship with Myer Lansky which forced the emigration of three Mafia employees of Mr. Chesler to the United States (from the Bahamas) . . ."

He said he also has written to Commissioner W. L. Higgett of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police asking for information about the Bahamas company.

'Public Has Not Been Told Truth'

"I asked him if he is aware that the Residential Resort Ltd. of the Bahamas, a sister company of the Benguet corporation, has bought a major share of the NWL Financial Corporation of B.C., and what is his opinion of this kind of money coming into Canada.

"What it really boils down to . . . the public of B.C. has not been told the truth about this government's dealings at arm's length with the Benguet corporation.

"The attorney-general's statement that Benguet is not welcome in B.C. has not been heard by anyone representing the Benguet corporation and, indeed, it has not been heard by his cabinet colleague, the minister of land and forests (Ray Williston).
